POINTS WAY TO DEMOCRATS

LEAGUE AS WORLD'S HOPE

Covenant, He Says, Cannot in Honor Be "Whittled Down," as Republicans Urge.

ANSWER TO OREGON INQUIRY

President's Statement Elicited by Request for Advice as to Primary Candidates.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—President Wilson considers it imperative that the Democratic Party in the 1920 campaign should constitute itself the unflinching and uncompromising champion of the Treaty of Versailles, in opposition to the Lodge or any other plan of reservations by way of modification or softening the terms of that document.

The President takes the position that the honor of the nation is at stake in the treaty issue, and insists that the party of which he is the actual and titular leader for the time being should enter the lists against the Republicans as the champion of that honor.

There was no real doubt in inner Democratic circles here that the President was standing absolutely pat on the treaty issue in opposition to the program which Senator Lodge had advocated, as he had stood against that of the irreconcilables headed by Senators Knox, Borah and Johnson. But the firmness of the attitude which the President has taken was emphasized and reiterated by the President himself to a political committee in Oregon which sought advice as to whether the President considered it imperative to nominate candidates pledged to ratify the treaty without the Lodge reservations.

Asserts Stand Is Imperative.

This telegram came from G. L. Hamaker, Chairman of the Multnomah County Democratic Central Committee, at Portland, Ore., on Thursday. The President's reply, sent and made public tonight, was that the President considered it "imperative" not only that the Democratic Party should indorse and support the treaty and condemn the Lodge reservations, but that the party in power in the executive branch should take the position that the Lodge reservations were "inconsistent with the nation's honor and destructive of the world leadership which it had established, and which all the free peoples of the world, including the great powers themselves, had shown themselves ready to welcome."

President Wilson's reiteration of his uncompromising attitude toward the Republican opposition to ratification of the treaty without amendment or modification is made at a time when Republican leaders in Washington are holding various informal conferences with a view to determining the attitude of the party toward the treaty, and when there is every indication that the Republican convention will take a stand that will make the treaty the outstanding issue of the campaign. President Wilson is anxious, as his telegram shows, that the treaty be made the paramount issue of the campaign, and he considers the championship of the treaty by the Democratic Party so imperative that he is willing to have the fortunes of the party stand or fall by the verdict of the people at the polls in November.

Equally Opposed to Knox Resolution.

The President not only insists that the treaty shall be ratified as it stands without the Lodge reservations, but is just as unalterably opposed to the so-called Knox peace resolution, which seeks to have the President open negotiations with Germany and Austria for a separate peace and would terminate, by a resolution, the state of war with the former Central Powers. That the President was prepared to veto the Knox resolution, should it be sent to him, was indicated last Sunday night when Homer S. Cummings, Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, issued a statement on the attitude of the party in power toward the latest manoeuvres of hose Senate Republicans behind the Knox resolution.

Mr. Cummings's declaration in his announcement of last Sunday that the nation's honor was involved in the Knox resolution was known to be representative of the position of the President, who leaves no doubt in his telegram of tonight that he thinks the honor of the Text of Wilson's Message to Oregon Democrats Calling for Endorsement of Treaty as It Stands

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—Following is the statement issued from the White House tonight, in which the President made known his determination to have the Democratic Party in the coming campaign stand squarely on the issue of the ratification of the Treaty of Versailles:

"The President received the following telegram:

Portland, Ore., May 6.

Primary election May 21. Please wire whether you consider it important to nominate candidates pledged to ratify Versailles Treaty without Lodge reservations.
G. E. HAMAKER,
Multnomah County Democratic Central Committee.

The President's Reply.

White House, Washington, May 9, 1920.

Hon. G. E. Hamaker, Chairman, Multnomah County Democratic Central Committee, Portland, Ore.:

I think it imperative that the party should at once proclaim itself the uncompromising champion of the nation's honor and the advocate of everything that the United States can do in the service of humanity; that it should therefore indorse and support the Versailles Treaty and condemn the Lodge reservations as utterly inconsistent with the nation's honor and destructive of the world leadership which it had established, and which all the free peoples of the world, including the great Powers themselves, had shown themselves ready to welcome.

It is time that the party should proudly avow that it means to try, without flinching or turning at any time away from the path for reasons of expediency, to apply moral and Christian principles to the problems of the world. It is trying to accomplish social, political and international reforms and is not daunted by any of the difficulties it has to contend with. Let us prove to our late associates in the war that at any rate the great majority party of the nation, the party which expresses the true hopes and purposes of the people of the country, intends to keep faith with them in peace as well as in war. They gave their treasure, their best blood and everything that they valued in order not merely to beat Germany, but to effect a settlement and bring about arrangements of peace which they have now tried to formulate in the Treaty of Versailles. They are entitled to our support in this settlement and in the arrangements for which they have striven.

The League of Nations is the hope of the world. As a basis for the armistice I was authorized by all the great fighting nations to say to the enemy that it was our object in proposing peace to establish a general association of nations under specific covenants for the purpose of affording mutual guarantees of political independence and territorial integrity to great and small States alike, and the covenant of the League of Nations is the deliberate embodiment of that purpose in the Treaty of Peace.

The chief motives which led us to enter the war will be defeated unless that covenant is ratified and acted upon with vigor. We cannot in honor whittle it down or weaken it as the Republican leaders of the Senate have proposed to do. If we are to exercise the kind of leadership to which the founders of the Republic looked forward and which they depended upon their successors to establish, we must do this thing with courage and unalterable determination. They expected the United States to be always the leaders in the defense of liberty and ordered peace throughout the world, and we are unworthy to call ourselves their successors unless we fulfill the great purpose they entertained and proclaimed.

The true Americanism, the only true Americanism, is that which puts America at the front of free nations and redeems the great promises which we made the world when we entered the war, which was fought, not for the advantage of any single nation or group of nations, but for the salvation of all. It is in this way we shall redeem the sacred blood that was shed and make America the force she should be in the counsels of mankind. She cannot afford to sink into the place that nations have usually occupied and become merely one of those who scramble and look about for selfish advantage. The Democratic Party has now a great opportunity, to which it must measure up. The honor of the nation is in its hands.

ADRIATIC CHOICE PUT BEFORE ITALY

Premiers at San Remo Were Willing to Carry Out Treaty of London, Nitti Says.

NEGOTIATIONS TO CONTINUE

Jugoslavia Decides to Give Delegation Full Power and Keep Up Parley with Italy.

ROME, May 8.—Premier Nitti, speaking in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday, declared that the application of the Treaty of London or of the memorandum agreed upon Dec. 9 last would bring about a solution of all questions relative to the Adriatic. The United States and France adhered to the Dec. 9 plan of settlement, but the Premier said its application would be full of difficulty.

During the San Remo conference Premiers Lloyd George and Millerand informed him, he said, that they were always ready to apply the Treaty of London, and left it with Italy to decide whether she would ask for it.

Signor Nitti declared he believed it desirable to assist in the formation of a democratic Government in Germany and to transform that country into a great centre of production. He asserted that relations "might possibly" be resumed with Soviet Russia, and that the Government had taken steps in this direction. The internal situation of Italy, he said, was identical with that of France and Great Britain.

The Chamber decided to begin debate on the budget next Wednesday or Thursday.

LONDON, May 9.—Authorization for the continuation of direct negotiations with Italy on the Adriatic question has been given by the Jugoslav Government, according to a Rome dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company, quoting a message from Belgrade.

The message says that as a result of a Crown Council it was decided to give full power to a delegation to conduct such direct negotiations.

PENROSE WILL BE ACTIVE AT CHICAGO

Senator Keeping in Close Touch with Developments Relative to Coming Convention.

PROGRESSIVES UPSET PLANS

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—Refusal of the progressive Republicans to accept former Senator Beveridge of Indiana as chairman of the national convention may change the entire plans of the Old Guard, who are reported tonight as undecided whether to fight for undisputed control of the organization and to bowl out, if possible, any attempt by the progressive forces to elect a permanent chairman. The Old Guard leaders say tonight that harmony is desired and that they are willing to do everything within reason to compose the difficulties now existing.

The Old Guard leaders declare that, with more than half of the delegates uninstructed, they will be able to organize the convention without any trouble, although they express themselves as desirous of avoiding a fight at the start. The progressive leaders say that, with more than 300 delegates instructed for Wood and Johnson, they are entitled to have a chairman of their own selection to preside over the convention, and unless they can induce the Old Guard leaders to concede the permanent chairmanship to them they are prepared to wage a bitter fight at Chicago. They want Senator Borah named for the honor.

Sinn Fein Raiders Burn Two Barracks And Force the Garrisons to Surrender

Copyright 1920, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

DUBLIN, May 9.—After an attack lasting upward of two hours, a party of 200 armed Sinn Feiners set fire to the police barracks at Cloyne, County Cork, last night, and compelled the garrison of six men to surrender. The barracks was burned to the ground, and three houses close by were also burned.

The assailants were armed with rifles, shotguns and bombs, and the police replied with carbines and hand grenades.

About 1 o'clock in the morning an explosion occurred which blew in a portion of the gable end of the barracks, and the raiders then inserted explosives which made the opening wider. They tried to enter the building through the breach, but were prevented by the police, who used hand grenades and rifles freely. Finally, the attacking party, finding it impossible to overcome the resistance of the garrison, set the barracks afire, whereupon the police evacuated. In preparation for the attack the roads had been blocked for miles around with trees and telephone wires.

Another attack was made by a gang of armed men on Thursday night and early this morning on the police barracks at Newtown-Hamilton, County Armagh. The garrison, consisting of a sergeant and four constables, put up stiff defence, and the attackers, after picketing loyalist houses in the locality, attacked the barracks with rifle fire and bombs. They captured the house next door and bound the occupants. This enabled them to blow in the barracks gable, spray the barracks with petrol and set the building afire. The police held on until the roof fell in, and then, retreating to the yard, held out until the raiders gave up the attack. Pools of blood in the street indicated that some of the raiders had been struck by the bullets fired by the police.

The sergeant's wife stayed with the garrison during the fight and prepared bandages for the defenders in case any of them should be wounded.

6,000 SOCIALISTS CHEER FOR DEBS

3,000,000 VOTES PREDICTED

Mass Meeting Hears Hillquit Declare the Ocean Will Not Bar World Revolution.

Six thousand persons at the Socialist mass meeting in Madison Square Garden yesterday greeted with enthusiasm the suggestion of Eugene V. Debs as the party nominee for President, heard with approval Morris Hillquit predict the coming victory of international socialism and declare sarcastically that the Socialist Party was the only conservative force in American politics, and cheered an attack upon the American Legion as the "creation of Wall Street." The nomination of Mr. Debs, now in the Federal Penitentiary for violation of the espionage act, will be made formally on Thursday at the Socialist National Convention of which the mass meeting was an unofficial part.

Mr. Hillquit received an enthusiastic ovation on his reappearance on a Socialist platform after an absence of two years because of ill health. He declared that the 1920 Presidential campaign really began with this meeting and increased his estimate of the expected Socialist vote from 2,000,000 to 3,000,000.

Mr. Hillquit with great sarcasm drew a picture of present day government destroying such institutions of American democracy as free speech, free press and free assembly.

"In this campaign, the Socialist Party has the advantage of being the only conservative force in American politics," said Mr. Hillquit. "We are practically alone in upholding the somewhat antiquated American ideal of government of the people, by the people, for the people.

"The Democratic and Republican Parties are revolutionary organizations trying to overthrow constituted American Government by force and violence. Attorney General Palmer should go for them without delay.

Attacks Administration.

"The Democratic administration has forcibly overthrown the cornerstone of the republic, the freedom of press, speech and assemblage and has substituted for it the rule of the club and the jail. It has turned over democracy into a virtual autocracy and has revolutionized all departments of the Federal Government in fact if not in name. It has abolished the Department of State and created a Department of Propaganda in favor of every reactionary movement abroad with a Bureau of Internment instead of the former Bureau of aPssports. It has converted the Post Office Department into an Index Expurgatorius. It has remodeled the Department of Labor by substituting a Bureau of Jailing and injunction for the Bureau of Mediation and Arbitration, and a Bureau of Deportation for the Bureau of Immigration. It has abolished the Department of Justice in charge of an Attorney General and has created a Department of Panic and Hysteria in charge of an Alarmist General.

"Nor is the Republican Party less revolutionary than its Democratic rival. It is the party of Leonard Wood, who runs on the enlightened and humane platform of Ship or Shoot, the party of Thaddeus C. Sweet, who undertook to abolish the ballot, the party of Clayton R. Lusk, who conceived the novel idea of penalizing education."

Mr. Hillquit declared that the Socialist Party entered the contest more active and aggressive than ever. "While the old parties have the advantage of us in money, power and, for the time being, in numbers," he said, "we have advantages far outweighing theirs.

"We are first in the field. While the old parties have an embarrassing choice of Presidential aspirants from among the scores of self-appointed saviors of the country and are spending millions to stimulate the spontaneous popular preference for their favorite candidates, the Socialist Party saves all that money and excitement. We have but one candidate, the man of the biggest heart, the finest soul and the most humane spirit in America, the saint in

SHOT IN HIS HOME BY MASKED INVADER

FIANCEE OFFERS HER BLOOD

But Her Brother Is Chosen When Transfusion Is Made to Save Wounded Man.

Frederick Rueckert, Vice President of the White Metal Company and the Collapsible Tube Company, and a large owner of stock in those companies, which make containers for tooth paste and other substances, is in a critical condition in St. Mary's Hospital, Hoboken, from two bullet wounds. He was shot by a masked man in his apartment at 1,127 Washington Street, Hoboken. Whether the assailant was a personal enemy, a hired assassin or a burglar the police have not been able to determine.

Mr. Rueckert was shot twice in the lower part of the chest and was at the point of death yesterday afternoon from loss of blood. His life was prolonged by transfusion of blood from Henry Horvath, a brother of the wounded man's fiancée, Elsie Horvath. The young woman and nine other friends of Mr. Rueckert had offered their blood, but the physicians selected Mr. Horvath for the first operation.

A second transfusion will take place today, the blood this time to be transferred from the veins of A. F. Mischo of 606 Washington Street, a friend of the wounded man. It was stated last night, however, that the chances of recovery were slight.

Threatening Letters Sought.

The patient's condition was such that few questions could be asked, making it impossible for the police to determine whether the shooting was the result of personal animosity or merely the act of a trapped burglar. It was stated at Police Headquarters that a search would be made today of Mr. Rueckert's papers to see if he had received any threatening letters.

Mr. Rueckert, who is 36 years old, had returned to his bachelor apartment early yesterday after driving his fiancée home from the theatre. He entered his apartment, which is on the top floor of one of the finest apartment houses in the exclusive section of Hoboken, and went directly to the bathroom, where he turned on the water and started to undress.

The manufacturer has a valet named August Hothan, who is on duty every night except Saturday night. The coincidence of the valet's absence and the visit of the masked man led the police to work on the theory that the intruder, whether a burglar or an assassin, had been able to make a close study of his victim's habits.

Light Reveals Masked Man.

Before he had completely undressed, Rueckert walked from the bathroom into the dining room. He turned on the light. It revealed a masked man facing him with a revolver in each hand. The manufacturer leaped at the intruder. The masked man fired two shots, then opened the front door of the apartment and ran.

Rueckert, desperately wounded, followed him down the four flights of stairs. Then, as he stepped out the front door, he collapsed.

John Shields of 1,113 Washington Street, arrived home shortly after 1 o'clock and stood in front of his house smoking a cigarette. He heard faint groans. Guided by the sound he walked to the entrance of the apartment house at 1,127, where he found the wounded man. Rueckert was barely conscious. Mr. Shields recognized him and tried to find out what had happened. The wounded man uttered only two words: "Burglar—shot."

Arousing residents in the neighborhood, Mr. Shields had the manufacturer taken in an ambulance to St. Mary's Hospital and sent others in a taxicab to report the crime to the police.

Breathing painfully, Mr. Rueckert uttered a few words to indicate how the shooting had happened, then the physicians forbade further questioning.

Mask Made From Stocking.

Detectives found a black mask made out of a stocking lying on the floor in the apartment, but no other traces of the burglar. The fact that no drawers had been opened and nothing disturbed made it impossible to tell whether the man had been lying in wait to shoot

CARRANZA IN FLIGHT, PURSUED BY REBELS, AFTER REPORTED SLAUGHTER OF ENEMIES; OBREGON AND GONZALES HOLD MEXICO CITY

Four Destroyers Sail From Key West for Tampico; Two Others, Which Recently Left Here, to Follow

The remaining two destroyers of the six sent south from New York last week will also proceed to Tampico as soon as minor repairs are completed.

The department made no explanation of its decision to rush the ships to Mexican waters. Those en route are the Isherwood, Putnam, Dale and Case. The Reid and Flusser are at Key West.

It was indicated that the tender Black Hawk, with Captain Long, senior officer of the flotilla, aboard, also would proceed to Tampico.

AUTO KILLS HUSBAND OF MARILYNN MILLER

GIRL BURNS UNDER MACHINE

Two Men and Another Woman Flee as Car Overturns.

Special to The New York Times.

CUMBERLAND, Md., May 9.—Speeding from Wheeling, W. Va., to Philadelphia to join his wife, Marilynn Miller, star of the Ziegfeld Follies, Frank Carter of New York who took the juvenile lead in Savage's musical comedy, "See Saw," which closed at the Cort Theatre, Wheeling, last night, was instantly killed on the National Pike near Grantville, Md., twenty-seven miles west of here early today, when his new automobile jammed into a bank. Charles Esdale, New York, a member of the same company, sustained a broken collar bone and three fractured ribs. He was brought to the Western Maryland Hospital, this city.

Carter's skull was fractured. Marilynn Miller arrived here late this afternoon from Philadelphia with a woman companion. She will take the body to New York. With Carter and Esdale were Guy Robertson and Charles J. Risdale, members of the same company who escaped injury.

Carter was out of Wheeling about 100 miles and was moving at high speed. Carter had just received the car which he had made specially for his wife. It is monogrammed "M. M. and F. C." The machine was little damaged. Carter had descended a long straight hill, reaching a level with a slight elevation which obscured a sharp turn to the left. He was moving so rapidly that he saw he could not make the curve and putting on the brakes caused the car to jam into the bank on the side of the road and overturn. Carter was pinned under the front seat. Carter lived at the Hotel Astor, New York.

Frank Carter, in the past few theatrical seasons, had become well-known here as a leading man in musical comedy. His last appearance in New York was at the George M. Cohan Theatre last season in "See-Saw," in which he scored a particular success. A large part of this was due to his acrobatic skill, for he had been trained in the circus from the age of five, and was for many years an acrobat. A serious fall some years ago caused him to abandon this line of work in favor of the regular stage, but he turned his acrobatic training to good account in his dancing.

Carter first came into prominence here at the Winter Garden, where he appeared in several extravaganzas over a period of three or four years. Two years ago he appeared with Miss Miller in the 1918 "Ziegfeld Follies."

WOMAN DIES UNDER AUTO.

Miss Helen Brogiley Pinned Under Car—Her Escort Arrested.

Mrs. Helen Brogiley, a Newark waitress, was burned to death early yesterday morning when she was pinned under an automobile in Elmhurst, L. I., after a tour of roadhouses with three friends. Last night John "Hook" Daly, a Long Island City granite cutter, was arrested, technically charged with violating the Callan law prohibiting the operator of a machine from quitting the scene of an accident.

Daly was on his way Saturday night from his home at 24 Van Pelt Street to confession when Walter Flanagan, a mechanic, of 219 Greenpoint Avenue, Laurel Hill, came along in a borrowed car. Flanagan said he had an appointment to meet two girls at Borough Hall, Brooklyn, and invited Daly to go along. At Borough Hall, Mrs. Brogiley and Mrs. Freda Bartell, also employed in a Newark restaurant, joined the party. Both women were separated from their husbands.

After considerable riding over the Queens roads, the party went to a roadhouse and had a few soft drinks. Then they journey to a second inn. About 3 o'clock in the morning they started back to Borough Hall. Daly was driving and Mrs. Brogiley was on the front seat with him. At Grand Avenue, Elmhurst, Daly

VERA CRUZ FORCE JOINS THE REBELS

NUEVO LAREDO CAPTURED

Seventeen Casualties When Rebels Take Border Town—General Flees to Texas.

GALVESTON, Texas, May 9.—The Federal garrison at Vera Cruz, consisting of approximately 500 well-armed and equipped soldiers, went over to the revolutionists early today, according to apparently reliable but unofficial advices received here tonight.

Revolutionary troops believed to be part of the forces of General Pablo Gonzales entered Vera Cruz twice before the Federals withdrew their allegiance from the Carranza Government, the advices said. First they penetrated almost to the waterfront and then withdrew to the outskirts because of the presence in the harbor of two Mexican gunboats.

Later the rebels again entered the city and began occupying strategic points. Firing was said to have been general for some time. The gunboats, however, did not fire on the city, it was asserted.

The reports did not make clear whether the warships had deserted the Carranza cause.

President Carranza was said to be hiding in Vera Cruz and a dragnet was reported to have been thrown out by the Revolutionists to prevent his escape, if possible.

VERA CRUZ, May 9. — Insurgent chiefs in the State of Vera Cruz have placed themselves under the command of General Sanchez.

Neuvo Laredo Taken After Fight.

LAREDO, Texas, May 9.—General Reynaldo Garza, commander of Federal forces in the Nuevo Laredo Military District, tonight is a refugee on American soil.

Following the defeat of his troops and capture of Nuevo Laredo by revolutionists early today, he arrived in Laredo tonight and took refuge in the Mexican Consulate.

General Garza, who ordered his troops to make a determined stand against the rebel attack on Nuevo Laredo at dawn, saw his defense crumpled after a short fight and with his son escaped in an automobile. Pursued by rebels, the General eventually made a ford of the Rio Grande, five miles west of Nuevo Laredo, and arrived on American soil with his automobile perforated with bullets.

The fight lasted two hours. The casualties on both sides were seven killed and seventeen wounded.

The revolutionists approached Nuevo Laredo shortly before dawn from the west and drew the Federal force on that side. About 100 mounted rebels then made a detour and entered the town from the south and east. When they reached the centre of the city the Federal garrison began to fire into the air and surrendered without serious resistance. The casualties occurred in the western outskirts during the first stages of the attack.

The greatest resistance took place in the section immediately surrounding General Barza's residence. This probably was for the purpose of covering the Federal commander's escape, it was said. The number of men involved in the battle could not be ascertained.

When the rebels had taken full control of the town the populace turned out in celebration. Bands paraded the streets playing popular marches, while the crowds cheered.

Pedro Gonzales, leader of the rebels, is a lawyer of Laredo, Texas. It is assumed he joined the Mexican Customs Guards who revolted in Nuevo Laredo several days ago and took refuge at Colombia, twenty-five miles northwest of Nuevo Laredo, where it was reported yesterday a number of Mexicans from the Texas side had joined them.

Arturo de Seracho, Consul for the Revolutionary Government in Laredo, crossed over to Nuevo Laredo as soon as the town was captured.

A few refugees crossed into Laredo last night but there was little excite-

TAMPICO ALSO CAPTURED

A Report Says Carranza Was Arrested, Another That He Fled.

NO DISORDERS IN CAPITAL

Indications Are That Obregon and Gonzales Have Composed Their Differences.

WILL NAME NEW PRESIDENT

Calderon, Villareal and De la Huerta Mentioned as Likely Provisional Candidates.

Report Slaughter of Captives By Carranza Chief in Capital

EL PASO, May 9.—General Francisco Murguia, Carranza military commander at Mexico City, before leaving the capital, which now is in complete possession of revolutionary forces, carried out a wholesale slaughter of political prisoners at Santiago, the military prison, according to a bulletin issued at revolutionary headquarters here tonight.

Fifteen Mexican Generals were among those reported slaughtered.

"The city was shocked over this bloody epilogue for the Carranza régime," the bulletin said.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—Revolutionists entered Mexico City at noon today, after President Carranza had fled, accompanied by friends, and are now in complete control of the situation in the Mexican capital, according to official information reaching the State Department today.

The flight of Carranza from the capital was confirmed in a radio message received at Vera Cruz today and transmitted to the State Department through official channels for its information, but the State Department is without information as to the exact whereabouts of Carranza.

He is believed to have started for Vera Cruz, but it is thought he has not yet been able to reach that port. The best information here is that he will be compelled to flee from the country and that the Revolutionists, instead of placing obstacles in his way, will accord him safe conduct on the theory that his departure would be a "good riddance."

A contingent of the forces of Gen. Pablo Gonzales constituted the vanguard of the Mexican forces entering the capital. This contingent was commanded by Gen. Jacinto Trevino. They entered Mexico City on Friday. Since then, according to official information reaching Washington, Gen. Alvaro Obregon has entered the city from the west.

Generals Obregon and Gonzales, who were rival candidates for the Presidency, are both understood to be in the Mexican capital. The fact that there were no disorders in Mexico City during its occupation by the revolutionists is interpreted here as meaning that Obregon and Gonzales and other revolutionary leaders have a working understanding, and that there will be no bloodshed in connection with the change of government.

To Name Provisional President.

Agents of the revolutionary movement in Washington do not anticipate that there will be any armed clash between Gonzales and Obregon, but that they will agree upon the induction into temporary power of a provisional President to hold office until after the elections. So far as Obregon and Gonzales are concerned, it is asserted by men here who have been in close touch with both, that their participation in the revolutionary movement has been based on the idea that there should be free and fair elections held in Mexico, without interference from Carranza, or from those in control of the Government, and it is asserted that every indication is that Obregon and Gonzales will agree upon a new provisional President to hold office until such elections can be held. Under such a program both Obregon and Gonzales, who headed different political movements in Mexico, would each have opportunity of continuing their candidacies.

There is some speculation here as to the personality of the provisional President who will be asked to take over temporarily the reins of power. Those in closest touch with the situation say that the Provisional President will probably be selected from the following three men:

Adolfo de la Huerta, Governor of Sonora and head of the revolutionary movement in that State.

The probabilities are considered as rather favoring the selection of Calderon, and it is thought here that Obregon and Gonzales will agree upon him. Calderon, who is a historian, is residing in Mexico City, and is one of the most distinguished of the present residents of the Mexican capital. He is a polished gentleman of the old school, with honorable antecedents, is not a violent partisan, never sought political office, and has been an advocate of the introduction of democratic reforms in Mexico.

General Villareal is well and favorably known in Washington, where he has stood in high favor with officials of the United States Government. He was identified with the revolution against Huerta, presided over the Constitutional Convention of 1914, but found that he was unable to continue to support the Carranza régime, and has since divided his time between New York City and El Paso. He is now in El Paso, and has been in intimate touch with the present bloodless revolution in Mexico since its very inception.

Rebels Control Nearly Whole Country.

The attitude of Carranza is not now regarded as an important element in the Mexican situation. While it has been intimated that he may set up his seat of Government temporarily in some other part of Mexico, it is not now the best opinion in Washington that his Government, wherever established, can last long, in face of the fact that virtually every important point in Mexico, strategic or governmental, has fallen into the hands of the revolutionists.

The revolutionists, in addition to being in control of the Mexican capital, now are in possession of the entire west coast, control the whole frontier facing the United States, and Torreon, Tampico and Aguascalientes are also in their possession.

The most gratifying feature of the movement against Carranza, so far, in the opinion of well-informed students of the situation here, is the fact that the revolution has been without any serious fighting anywhere.

The outstanding features of the present revolution have been its brevity and its lack of bloodshed. The occupation of the Mexican capital was won in less than thirty days. Revolutionary agents here assert that this never could have been accomplished if Carranza had been a popular leader with the Mexican people.

The Official Statement.

"Revolutionary forces took quiet possession of Mexico City at noon Friday, May 7, official messages received by the State Department today from Mexico City announced.

"Communication has been reopened with the American Embassy, and the information received up to 7 o'clock tonight indicated that there had been no disorder in connection with the taking over of possession of the city, nor was there anything of a disquieting nature regarding the safety of Americans or other foreigners.

"There was no reference to President Carranza. The early information on the re-establishment of communication with Mexico City was under date of May 6 and 7.

"The Embassy reported that troops constituting the advanced contingent of General Pablo Gonzales took control of the Mexican capital May 7. This advanced guard was under the direct command of General Jacinto Trevino, who, upon effecting possession of the city, issued a formal assurance of complete guarantees. In this announcement he advised commerce, industry, banks and other institutions to continue normal operations, and threatened drastic punishment of speculators in articles of necessity.

"A new chief of police and a military commander for Mexico City were appointed."

General Obregon, on his way to Mexico City from the west, while General Gonzales was entering from the south, sent assurances to the American Embassy that there would be no disorders at Mexico City.

Other information received from Mexico City earlier than this announcement of the occupancy of the city told of persistent rumors that the seat of Government was about to be removed from Mexico City.

An official telegram received from Vera Cruz, dated early today, said that a wireless message received there from Mexico City stated that President Carranza had left Mexico City and that General Obregon was in possession of the city. This wireless message was repeated to the State Department for its information. It said, among other things, that President Carranza was accompanied out of the city by some of his adherents, but the sender of the wireless message was not made known.

The American Consul at Vera Cruz reported that order was being maintained in Vera Cruz State.

General Obregon's wife, who is at Nogales, Ariz., received a wireless message from a member of General Obregon's command, in a suburb of Mexico City, stating that the General was receiving congratulations, that a large Mexican flag was floating over the Obregon home in Mexico City, that the streets were thronged and that a ball in honor of the event was being arranged in the public plaza.

Information also was received today that Tampico was in the hands of revolutionists. The Federal General Orozco has taken refuge on the Mexican Federal gunboat Jalisco, and the revolutionary authorities at Tampico have given assurance of guarantees there.

Monclova, in the State of Coahuila, was evacuated yesterday by the Federal forces. Nuevo Laredo, across the border from Laredo, Texas, was captured by revolutionists May 8, after a short skirmish, following the recent revolt of a number of civilian guards there.

Torreon, a railway centre in the State of Coahuila, and Aguas Calientes, capital of the State of that name, and 250 miles north of Mexico City, are reported to be in control of the revolutionists, according to information reaching here.

Telegraphic communication has been restored between Chihuahua and Torreon and Aguas Calientes.

Report Carranza Arrested.

EL PASO, Texas, May 9.—General Obregon's forces are in complete possession of Mexico City, according to an official announcement made in Juarez late today by the revolutionists.

A bulletin issued at revolutionary headquarters here today said members of the Diplomatic Corps, representing various foreign nations, met at Mexico City and requested President Carranza not to combat revolutionary forces marching on the capital.

The bulletin gave Mexico City newspapers of May 4 as authority for the statement.

There were no details of the occupation.

The report that President Carranza had been arrested at Esperanza, State of Vera Cruz, while fleeing from the capital city to Vera Cruz, remained unconfirmed.

The report said his capture had been effected by General Guadalupe Sanchez.

Say Carranza Is Being Pursued.

VERA CRUZ, May 8.—President Carranza, who fled from Mexico City at the approach of General Obregon's army, is a fugitive in the eastern part of the State of Tlaxcala and is believed to be trying to reach this city.

The railroad train on which the President left the capital was stopped at the city of Tlaxcala by detachments of General Obregon's army, and the President was forced to leave his car and flee on horseback. General Sanchez, an adherent of Obregon, is attempting to intercept the President in the mountains.

Instructions that the life of President Carranza be spared have been issued by Obregon, who has given guarantees to the residents of cities under control of his forces.

REPORT VILLA GIVES UP TO CHIHUAHUA LEADER

JAUREZ, May 9.—Francisco Villa, the bandit and revolutionary leader, has laid down his arms and turned his force of men over to General Ignacio Enriquez, revolutionary commander of the Chihuahua City district, it was announced here tonight by General J. G. Escobar.

Villa, it was said, would not be given a military command under the new revolutionary regime. It was believed here arrangements had been made for Villa to retire from Mexican politics and affairs.

General Escobar said Villa had notified the Mexican Railway that guards of soldiers for trains would not be necessary in the future.

Revolutionary agents here expressed happiness over the reported elimination of Villa. He was considered the greatest menace the movement would have in Northern Mexico if he refused to accept the new regime.

Unconfirmed reports here said General Carlos Osuna had deserted to the rebels, and with 2,000 men had occupied Monclova Saturday. Monclova is about 100 miles south of the border here.

CAUSES OF THE REVOLUTION.

Rivalry of Mexican Presidential Candidates Spurred Rising.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—The Mexican revolution, which has now achieved a large measure of success, began with the revolt of the State of Sonora about a month ago.

The Sonora movement first spread down the Mexican West Coast and then moved eastward across the mountains into Chihuahua. The States of Sinaloa, Nayarit, Zacatecas, Michoacan, Chihuahua, Coahuila and other important centres throughout the country joined. In nearly every strategic centre Federal Generals and troops went over to the revolutionists.

General Alvaro Obregon, candidate for the Presidency, was recognized by the Sonora revolutionists, and after his escape from the capital placed himself in touch with the revolutionary forces in the State of Michoacan.

Meanwhile General Gonzales, another leading candidate for the Presidency, the third being Ignacio Bonillas, a son-in-law of Carranza, had remained in Mexico City. Gonzales insisted that the electons should be held, but the Carranza Government wanted to call them off on account of the revolution.

Gonzales was in conference in Mexico City until a week ago with Carranza, Bonillas and other Mexican leaders. In these conferences Gonzales insisted that the elections should be held as scheduled. His last conference was held with Bonillas about a week ago, following which he fled from the Mexican capital with a force of men and aligned himself with the opposition.

Bonillas, who was Carranza's candidate for the Presidency, was until very recently Mexican Ambassador to the United States. Before the departure of Bonillas from Washington for Mexico City, General Pablo Gonzales had been led to believe that he would be given the support of the Carranza Government in the coming election.

Bonillas had been warned by certain influential Mexicans before he left Washington that if he permitted himself to become the Carranza Government candidate for President he would be making a mistake, that he would be a mere tool for certain Carranzistas and that the movement would prove a failure.

When it became apparent that the power of the Carranza administration would be given over to the support of Bonillas, General Gonzales felt that he had not been properly treated by leaders in the government, and while he and his followers did not openly attack Carranza it was known to Mexicans in Washington a month ago that Gonzales was secretly working in opposition to the Carranza program.

The charge is made that in order to swing the movement of the Civilista Party into line behind Bonillas, his son-in-law, Carranza held a secret conclave of Governors, most of them being creatures of his appointment to office, with the result that they agreed to fall into line with Carranza's scheme.

Meanwhile Obregon had been conducting a whirlwind campaign, which spread from Sonora over into Chihuahua and Coahuila. Obregon had been holding meetings which had been largely attended, as attested by official reports reaching Washington. His stumping tour was cut short on April 5, when Carranza summoned him to Mexico City. The stated reason was that Obregon was needed as a witness in the trial of General Cejuto, a Felicista officer, who had surrendered in the State of Vera Cruz.

He had been given assurances by General Candido Aguilar that if he would surrender he would be granted amnesty and corresponding rank of General in the Mexican Army. Aguilar, besides being a son-in-law of Carranza, had been Minister of Foreign Relations, a General in the Carranza Army and Governor of the State of Vera Cruz.

Cejuto, believing that Aguilar was in position to speak for the Government when amnesty was promised, went to Mexico City and surrendered. Instead of being given amnesty he was arrested and ordered up for court-martial on a charge of rebellion.

Obregon was summoned to Mexico City to testify in the Cejuto case. Friends of General Obregon announced at the time that this was regarded by them and by Obregon as a mere pretext on the part of the Carranza Givernment to interrupt the progress of Obregon's campaign and try to implicate him in a matter concerning which, they said, he knew nothing. Obregon's friends not only denied that Obregon had had anything to do with the Cejuto movement, but insisted that Obregon did not even know Cejuto personally.

It was also alleged that the Carranza Government group was so incensed over the success of Obregon's political campaign in northern Mexico that they had previously tried to bring about a clash between Obregon and Villa, at Torreon, which failed, several weeks prior to the time that Obregon was called to the capital.

Today, according to information reaching Washington through official channels, Obregon, who a month ago had been threatened with arrest and trial for treason in Mexico City, is now in control of the very capital from which he barely escaped with his life less than a month ago.

Federal sentries were stationed at strategic points, and a huge rearchlight was utilized to watch for the rebels.

Expect Rebels at Piedras Negras.

EAGLE PASS, Texas, May 9.—The situation in Piedras Negras, the Mexican garrison town opposite Eagle Pass, was quiet tonight but the populace appeared to be in a state of expectancy. Rumors were persistent that the revolutionary forces would arrive there tomorrow.

General Pedro Villasenor, commander of the Piedras Negras military district, sent his family to the American side last night. W. P. Blocker, the American Consul, also brought his family to Eagle Pass.

The revolutionists last night burned a Mexican railway bridge at Sanchez, ten miles south of Nuevo Laredo, and a passenger train which had been marooned at Lampazos two days because of a destroyed bridge was again detained. The Lampazos bridge was repaired last night. Twenty American and British subjects are on the train.

American Consul Randolph Robertson, who went to Lampazos yesterday to look after their interests, accompanied the train to Sanchez and came on to Nuevo Laredo by automobile. He departed for Sanchez again late today and will probably bring the British and Americans to Laredo by automobile tonight, it was said.

Piedras Negras, opposite Eagle Pass, Texas, and Matamoras, opposite Brownsville, Texas, were expected to surrender today and Tampico would fall today or tomorrow, according to information given out by the rebels.

AMERICANS ABROAD FRIENDLY TO HOOVER

Those Who Saw Food Administrator at Work Take Great Interest in His Candidacy.

DAVIS ALSO HAS BACKERS

By CHARLES H. GRASTY.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, May 8.—There is keen interest in the Presidential race among Americans here, and general surprise is expressed that Hoover has not made a better showing in the primaries. The California result was especially disappointing to Hoover supporters, who include a majority of visiting Americans, and nearly all those who have been serving here and were thus brought into contact with Hoover and his work as Food Administrator.

The Democrats generally express regret at his apparent spurning the Democratic nomination, for which they think his chances would have been better. There is a story in Paris that Hoover may not be altogether serious about not accepting this nomination, and circumstancial details are given of an alleged movement, fathered by Colonel House, to have Hoover named at San Francisco.

Next to Hoover, Ambassador Davis seems to be favored by Americans in Europe for the Democratic nomination. It is said that Davis is receiving many telegrams from America urging him to resign and come home to enter the race. His friends say the Ambassador has not the slightest idea of doing such a thing. He has persistently refused to take himself seriously as a candidate, and being much interested in the work he has undertaken wishes to go on with it until it is finished. It is said that at the end of his service in London he will join a law firm in New York. Admirers of Mr. Davis say that he would make a fine race for President if nominated. His personal, political and professional characteristics are held to be such as to commend him to general good opinion. But Davis is a man who is not easily carried away, and close friends say that he would rather practice law than run for President.

Hoover often expressed similar tastes, telling his friends that he would prefer private pursuits and work for Stanford University, of which he is a Trustee, to the hard work and doubtful success of a political career.

The reported opinion in some quarters in America that Hoover is pro-British is declared here to be directly contrary to fact. In the early days of his service as head of the Belgian Commission he antagonized London officialdom deeply by his direct ways. Afterward the British were anxious to have him remain in England, not for love of him personally, but because they are keen on efficiency. They offered him high honors to induce him to become a British subject, but he and Mrs. Hoover dismissed the idea without a moment's serious consideration.

That he is respected and admired for his efficiency in Great Britain and that the English would have been glad to put such a man in their public service is unquestionable. But he is equally admired in other European countries.

His bluntness and monosyllabic method violated the European rules of circumlocution, but after they all got used to him and found that he would present his whole case in a few crisp sentences, and then, if there was "nothing doing," would put on his hat and coat and take his leave, they came to like his way of doing business.

Speaking of Hoover's services, the British have an entirely different viewpoint from the American about recruiting men for public life. Any promising newcomer is made welcome in politics, and they look upon it as work in the public interest and not as a reward for past activities.

A striking instance of British inclination to utilize good material is furnished by the career of Philip Kerr. Two or three years ago Kerr was the editor of the Round Table. Although heir presumptive to the Marquess of Lothian, he is an ardent democrat and foremost in the advocacy of liberalism in England. Lloyd George drafted him as Parliamentary Secretary, and for two years the Prime Minister has never gone anywhere without Kerr at his elbow.

The thinking and writing ability and high moral standards of this young man have been a tower of strength to Lloyd George in his manifold difficult situations.

The other day in London, when the results of the San Remo conference were under discussion, a well-known member of Parliament said:

"When Lloyd George has Philip Kerr with him, you can take it that something more than mere diplomacy is aimed at."

Kerr is very pro-American. Among the two or three pictures which hang in his Downing Street office that of Abraham Lincoln has the place of honor.

Leak in Surrendered Warship Traced to Act of German Crew

CHERBOURG, France, May 9.—A serious leak was discovered recently in the German battleship Thuringen, which recently was allocated to France and is in port here.

The leak, it is stated, was due to the act of the German crew of the warship. The influx of water was stopped by a French naval squad and the damage was repaired.

ACCUSE DEMOCRATS OF POST-WAR WASTE

INEFFICIENCY IS CHARGED

Report Says This Year's Deficit Will Be $600,000,000 and Calls for Economy.

Failure of the national Administration to wind up special activities taken over or developed during the war emergency and its inertia in terminating unnecessary war work furnish the main cause of extravagance in Federal expenditures for the year 1920, according to the report of the sub-committee on National Economy and Retrenchment of the Republican National Committee on Policies and Platform, made public yesterday. The report stated that the expenditures of the Federal Government for this year would exceed its revenue from all sources by $600,000,000.

The total expenditures for the fiscal year 1919 for the so-called independent war agencies brought into existence for emergency purposes were stated to amount to $2,723,526,540. The extent to which these emergency activities have been projected into the current fiscal year 1920, it is stated, is shown by the fact that these agencies, excluding the Alien Property Custodian and minor boards and committees assigned to the War and Navy Departments, will spend $1,843,276,100 as follows:

Railroad Administration	950,710,855
War Finance Corporation	150,000,000
Housing Corporation	4,250,000
Board of Vocational Education	30,258,244
Interdepartmental Social Hygiene Board	2,214,772
Council of National Defense	150,000

One Way to Save $1,500,000,000.

Commenting upon the foregoing figures, the report states:

"If the Administration had transferred the railroads back to private control during the eight months following the armistice and had terminated the activities of the Emergency Fleet Corporation during the same period, more than $1,500,000,000 of post-war expenditures would have been saved to the people."

Nearly $2,000,000,000 in "war-time inflation" is found by the sub-committee in the Administration's demands for appropriations from Congress for 1921. The original estimates of the Administration for 1921 were stated to have been $4,865,410,032, which were said to have been increased by supplemental estimates and items omitted from the original estimates to approximately $5,250,000,000.

The report of the committee summarizes its criticism of the Administration and its suggestions for remedies as follows:

"Although the Overman act invested the President of the United States with ample powers of organization and leadership, the Administration failed to develop a constructive, far-sighted or adequate program to meet the demand for after-war readjustment and retrenchment. Agencies created during the war had been allowed to survive their usefulness; the expenditure policy—sixteen months after the armistice—reflects war-time inflation rather than rigid peace-time economy; the multiplicity of departments, boards and independent agencies have lacked real leadership and effective co-ordination; 'many thousands of unnecessary employes' now encumber the Federal service. The result has baeen waste and inefficiency in every direction.

Taxes "Unparalleled in History."

"The direct and indirect tax levies of today are unparalleled in our history. But the total revenue from this and from sources approximating $6,500,000,000 will fall short of the estimated expenditure of the current year by approximately $600,000,000—a sum almost equal to the entire cost of the Federal activities (not including the postal service) during the year 1916.

"New and necessary obligations have indeed been incurred during the war; and the unit cost of personal service and of materials has increased from 25 to 50 per cent. At the same time, the present high cost of government is in large part unnecessary. By a carefully planned readjustment to a peace-time basis and by a policy of rigid economy, the annual expenses of Federal operation can be reduced hundreds of millions of dollars without impairing the efficiency of the public service. The immediate steps to accomplish this include the preparation of a plan of reorganization; the rapid termination of war work and war agencies; improvement in the co-ordination of departmental activities; elimination of unnecessary Federal officials and employes, raising the standard of individual efficiency; the introduction of a budget system for the control of revenues and expenditures."

HOOVER MEN TO CONFER.

Julius H. Barnes Will Address Club Meeting in Newark.

Delegates from all the Hoover clubs in New Jersey have been invited to attend a conference at the Hotel Robert Treat in Newark, Wednesday evening, May 19, J. W. Jeffers, of Plainsboro, State Chairman of the Hoover organization, announced yesterday. Julius Barnes, President of the United States Grain Corporation, will make the principal speech.

Richard Whitney, of Bedminster, is secretary and William W. Wherry, of Plainfield, treasurer of the New Jersey Hoover organization. Others on the State Committee are Alexander J. Hemphill, of Spring Lake; F. Wayland Ayer, of Camden; William S. Tyler, Mayor Leighton Calkins, Frederick E. Mygatt and Cornelius B. Tyler, of Plainfield; Henry W. Leeds and Walter J. Buzby, Atlantic City; Franklin W. Fort, Mrs. W. T. Brown, Mrs. Otto E. Lohrke, Miss Blanche Durkin and Miss Morgretta Fort of the Oranges; Professor Philip M. Brown, Mrs. Alan Marquand, Professor and Mrs. H. Alexander Smith, David Flynn, Howard D. Eldridge, William R. Matthews and Dr. J. Duncan Smith, of Princeton; Mayor Clarence E. Hettrick and Dr. James F. Ackerman, Asbury Park; Charles J. McCormick and Thomas H. Mettler, New Brunswick; R. F. Engle, Beach Haven; Charles Evans, Riverton; Frank W. Thatcher, Edgewater Park; William E. Massey, Ocean City; Harold J. Howland, Montclair; Louis V. Aronson, Henry P. Wherry, Peter Stone, Selick J. Mindes, Philip Schotland, James Barton, W. L. Clark, Newark; Tracy D. Waring, Perth Amboy; Horace J. Jaquith, Wyoming; Carlton Moore, Moorestown; C. H. Brown, Swedesboro; L. Willard Minch, Bridgetown; F. R. Low, Passaic; Earl Talbot, Weehawken; A. R. Boehringer, Harrison; Percival Forshee, Jersey City; J. V. B. Wicoff and R. C. Maxwell, Trenton.

WOOD'S NEXT CAMPAIGN.

Will Go to West Virginia to Contest Primary with Sutherland.

General Leonard Wood's next active campaign work will occur in West Virginia, where he will contest the Republican primaries with United States Senator Howard Sutherland. The primary election there will be held on May 25. General Wood has accepted an invitation to speak att he Vermont Republican State Convention at Burlington May 26.

General Wood's leave will expire on May 20. It was learned that he probably will apply for an extension to cover the Republican National Convention period.

Frank H. Hitchcock, the Wood political manager, left last night for Chicago, where the Arrangements Committee of the Republican National Committee will hold a meeting today.

Angus McSween, Eastern campaign manager for Senator Hiram W. Johnson, returned yesterday after attending the Missouri State convention at Kansas City. Mr. McSween said he had been assured by a majority of the Missouri Republican leaders that the vote of the entire Missouri delegation would go to Senator Johnson if it became evident that Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois could not be nominated, and that there would be some votes for Senator Johnson on early ballots in any event.

Mr. McSween said he had accepted, subject to Senator Johnson's approval, invitations from a number of business men's organizations for speeches from the Senator and that he expected Mr. Johnson to make a speaking campaign, beginning next Friday at Boston, which would include New York, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City and possibly Denver.

Senator Johnson's supporters in Oregon have asked him to speak in that State before the primary election on May 21, in which Herbert Hoover and Governor Lowden also are entered. The Hoover supporters have announced that they expect to win.

"There is no more chance of Senator Johnson losing Oregon than there was of his losing California," said Mr. McSween.

prison garb—Eugene V. Debs. Our candidate is in jail, but millions of citizens know that for the good of the country he should be free. The potential candidates of the old parties are all at large, but millions of citizens feel that for the good of the country some of them should be locked up.

Says Platform Is Ready.

"Then again the poor old parties are still busy with the difficult task of building their platforms, trying to nail one precarious plank to the other to cover up the yawning chasms of a disordered world. Our platform is ready. It is the same solid platform upon which the pioneers of the international Socialist movement first issued their challenge to the whole world of capitalism. It will remain immutable and unshaken until the last institution of human inequality and oppression, until the last vestige of exploitation of man by man shall forever have been effaced from the surface of the globe.

"But our most vital advantage over our opponents is our certainty of victory. We cannot lose. The old parties cannot win. From the larger point of view of historic importance and true social values, how pitifully insignificant is the pending choice of a President of the United States. Whether Mr. Wood, Mr. Hoover or Mr. Palmer, or somebody else will grace the White House in the next four years is a matter of utter indifference in the daily lives and struggles of the millions of American workers and their children. But the question whether and when they are to be freed from the system that oppresses and grinds them is one of vital concern to all of them, and every step in the onward march of socialism means an hour nearer to the day of their salvation.

"The Republican and Democratic parties represent an antiquated and decaying order. With all their appearance of strength they are waging a losing battle against the forces of the coming new world. Their spokesmen are beginning to feel the approach of their doom, their brutal terrorism, their abject fear.

"We Socialists represent the new social order. Hence we are invincible. For almost a century we have pleaded and fought and suffered for the world to come, the world of reason and justice, of peace and happiness. And now that day is coming. Don't you see it? Look around you and behold the old order crumbling. Turn your eyes to the east and behold the birth of the new order. It is coming in pain and suffering and struggle, but its advent is universal. In one form or another socialism has conquered or is conquering the great countries of Europe, sweeping rapidly from East to West. It is not a local movement. It is a world force—all mankind is bound to turn to it for deliverance. The irresistible wave of Socialist regeneration is sure to carry it to America eventually just as the sun in its inflexible course is sure to shed its beneficent rays upon our hemisphere.

"The ocean will not bar the world revolution. The petty politicians in Albany and Washington will not stay the coming of the great day. My friends and comrades, let us roll up a vote of 3,000,000 for the Socialist ticket. Let us answer the attacks of our enemies by redoubled enthusiasm and devotion for our great cause and the world is ours. Long live international socialism!"

Attacks American Legion.

R. O. Parsons of Minnesota, introduced by Algernon Lee, the Chairman, as an ex-service man and a leader of the World War Veterans, made a bitter attack upon the American Legion, mention of the name of which was greeted with hisses and groans. "They told us that the war was to make the world safe for democracy," said Mr. Parsons. "Wait till the boys get back and nothing will be too good for them. Nothing was what they got.

"Right after the armistice, the capitalists got on the job and formed an organization of service men to serve the special interests of capital. That organization is the American Legion, fostered by Wall Street and its banks, which loaned the Legion $250,000.

"Our organization, the World War Veterans, of which I am State Chairman in Minnesota, insists that democracy be maintained in the United States of America. We have 18,000 ex-service men in Minnesota and have taken away 3,000 American Legion members in Minneapolis alone.

"We have organized the World War Veterans in sixteen States with 300,000 members. That's what the West has done, and we ask you in the East who are interested in democracy to do the same."

Seymour Stedman of Chicago stated that events had shown that the Socialist claim that the world war was a war for private gain was true. He said that the Socialists advanced the doctrine of self-determination long before President Wilson.

Says U. S. Is Aiding Poland.

Mr. Stedman said that peace had been delayed a year and a half and nothing had been done to relieve the suffering people of Central Europe. "At the present time we are sending arms to Poland so that she may make war on Russia," he said.

A storm of groans and hisses checked the speaker. "I do not wish to say anything against the Poles," he continued, "but if a great country wishes to make war it should declare war according to the practice of civilized nations and not make war like a guerilla."

Mr. Stedman attacked the recent protest of the National Civic Federation against recognition of the Soviet Government of Russia and said that Alton B. Parker had been resurrected to give his opinion. "Russia can not long be ignored," he said. "Economic interest will force recognition."

Mr. Stedman then attacked the League of Nations and said that the Socialists had to face domestic problems even more important than the international problems. He deprecated the use of violence and advocated the use of both political and industrial action. "In this," he said, "we follow the policy of the capitalists who have used both methods of attaining their ends for years. We must work in the unions. We must demand immediate release of all political prisoners.

"Many unions in the United States still walk shoulder to shoulder with capitalism on election day. We must make every effort to have them walk with us. Our party is not only political but humane. It is the only party that offers hope to the workers."

Berger Wants "Peaceful" Revolt.

Victor L. Berger of Milwaukee, who was denied a seat in the House of Representatives, said he was opposed to a violent revolution because it would not accomplish anything. "I prefer a different sort of change to that which took place in Russia," he said. "If the Russians want that sort of change they can have it with my blessing. Our duty is to strive for a peaceful revolution."

Delegates from twenty-five States are present at the convention. The list of accredited delegates follows:

The convention will reconvene today in Finnish Socialist Hall, 127th Street and Fifth Avenue, and another clash is expected between the heads of the present Socialist organization and the ultra-radicals, with the former apparently having a majority of the delegates.

DEBS A MODEL PRISONER.

Has Said He Would Accept Nomination for Presidency.

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTA, Ga., May 9.—Eugene Debs, who will be nominated for President by the Socialists, spent a quiet Sunday at the Federal prison, receiving no visitors. Several weeks ago a committee visited Debs at the prison, where he is engaged in work in the hospital, and interviewed him regarding the Presidency, and it is understood that he agreed then to accept the nomination if awarded him by his party.

Friends have been working for some time to obtain a pardon for him, but Debs has told newspaper men and others that this step is being taken without his consent and over his protest. He has informed his lawyer, Sam Castleton of Atlanta, that he wants no favors and no concessions.

There have been frequent rumors of his ill health but it is understood that outside of a slight heart trouble he is in fair physical condition.

Debs has made a model prisoner, according to Warden Zerbst, and as a result he has received the best treatment possible at the prison. It has been repeatedly rumored that he has made many converts to Socialism in the prison.

CANDIDATES FAIL TO AROUSE OREGON

JOHNSON MEN MOST ACTIVE

Special to The New York Times.

PORTLAND, Ore., May 9.—The campaign for the primary election on May 21, when Oregon's ten delegates to the Republican National Convention will be selected, has not stirred up the voters of the State to any great extent, despite the fact that the Johnson forces, flushed by their victory in California, have arranged for a final rally here, and hope to add Oregon's delegates to the Senator's list.

One good reason for this is the fact that neither the political leaders nor the people as a whole, when they discuss the forthcoming primary at all, express the belief that it will have any material effect on what happens in Chicago. Hoover workers had laid plans to make a hard contest for their candidate here if he won the California primaries, but much of the heart has been taken out of the local Hoover fight because of Johnson's California success.

Both Hoover and General Leonard Wood have considerable strength in Oregon and each has a chance for victory. It is probable that up to the time of the California primary, Hoover had the edge on the situation in Oregon, but the recent happenings have given the Johnson stock a boom. Some observers expect the Senator to win, but it promises to be a close fight. Governor Lowden of Illinois, who also is in the race, does not seem in a strong position today.

Harder Fight for Johnson.

Johnson has a harder fight on his hands here than he did in California, because Oregon is one of the Western States which has shown strong sympathy for the League of Nations in principle, and has not the same personal interest in sending Johnson delegates to the national convention which helped pile up the Senator's majority in his home State.

A poll of the newspaper publishers of Oregon taken by The Oregonian gives General Wood a slight lead among the Republican aspirants as first choice. Wood is the first choice of eighteen Republican editors, while Hoover and Lowden are each favored by thirteen. Senator Johnson got the vote of five.

The poll also covered other candidates and, as expressive of sentiment here, it is interesting that Senator Harding of Ohio received only two votes and Senator Poindexter of Washington none.

As striking as any feature of the Republican primary fight here is the apathy in regard to the Democratic Party and its plans for the national election. This apathy, which seems to be present in California and all along the western coast, may be in part due to the fact that the Democratic convention is not to be held until June 28, and that fights over delegates in the Republican Party ranks have featured the early campaigning.

Republicans Count on Victory.

On the other hand, there are evidences that the trouble goes deeper than that. The fact is that the Republicans are going about their preparations with the firm conviction that they are going to win the Coast States and the great Northwest in the next Presidential election, unless something occurs in Chicago which results in an open split, or some candidate is put forward who is so unacceptable to the progressive tendencies of the Western States that pretty much the same result would be accomplished, although not carried to the extreme of a third party movement.

There are not many Democrats in the Far West who, when they discuss the matter frankly, are ready to assert with much enthusiasm that the Democratic Party is at the peak of its strength here at this time.

One reason for the unsettled situation among the Democrats unquestionably is found in President Wilson's illness and the uncertainty which is felt concerning just what is going to happen at the San Francisco Convention in regard to the League of Nations and other issues.

There is a strong sentiment for the principle of a league in California as well as in Oregon, but it is doubtful if the majority of the people have the heart or desire for another fight along the lines of the adoption of the League covenant without the crossing of a "t" or the dotting of an "i."

Would Have Bad Effect.

If expressions of opinion which are heard point to the true situation, a bitter fight at the San Francisco convention which ended in forcing through an unequivocal League of Nations plank would have an unfortunate effect on the chances of Democratic victory at the polls. That at least would seem to be the situation today. It does not mean, however, that in either California or Oregon the sentiment for the principle of a League of Nations is dead.

The Far Western country in its talk and gossip about happenings at Washington, expresses the conviction that President Wilson is a sick man. One of the questions frequently asked of the Eastern newspaper correspondents is the view of the East as to just how far Mr. Wilson will be able to go in dominating the Democratic National Convention. A bitter fight among the Wilson leaders and the Bryan adherents which might end in bad feeling and a split party is something for which many of the leaders, as well as the rank and file of voters, appear to have little stomach after the nervous and troublesome times through which the country has passed.

Some of the more prominent Democratic leaders in this section are living in the hope that it will not come to such a point, and that a way may be found to solve the League of Nations issue at the convention without making it the cause of an open break.

There is still to be heard on the western coast much talk about the appeal that President Wilson made to the country in the Fall of 1918 to help him with a Democratic Congress. When THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent accompanied President Wilson on his tour of the country last September, he found many who said that that appeal had done more to injure the President in this part of the nation than almost any other act of his career. The same expressions are to be heard today. When Hoover, as Food Administrator, backed up the President's appeal he also provided a break in his armor which may have serious consequences on the fight he is making for the Republican nomination.

Talk About Lansing Episode.

There is a deal of talk heard in the Western country also about the manner in which President Wilson unseated Secretary of State Lansing. This occurrence made no such definite impression on the masses of the people as did the appeal of 1918, but it had a noticeable reaction.

These matters may not play so prominent a part when the San Francisco convention is close at hand and interest in the nomination and the party platform has been aroused. But at present they crop up almost every time a discussion of the Democratic situation is broached.

William G. McAdoo is most prominently mentioned in the Coast States as the probable nominee of the Democratic Party. The impression seems to be in this part of the country that while W. J. Bryan may play an important part in the convention he will not be among the leading figures for the nomination. Governor Cox of Ohio is not very well known. As yet his name apparently means little to the majority of the people here. There would appear to be little sentiment for Attorney General Palmer.

Some factions of the Democratic Party in the West feel that the fact that McAdoo is the son-in-law of the President will lessen his chances, but the present feeling in the West is that McAdoo will get the nomination. There are few who express the belief that Hoover, if beaten for the Republican nomination, will figure as a candidate for the Democratic leadership.

WOMAN DIES IN FIRE, PINNED UNDER AUTO

lost his way and began to drive around in an effort to locate Woodhaven Avenue.

"We got on the Queens Boulevard," the police quoted him as saying, "when Helen began urging me to 'step on it,' meaning for me to give the car more gasoline and more speed. I did speed the machine a little faster. Just as we were about 200 feet west of the Old Mill Road, she reached over suddenly and grabbed the wheel. That upset the machine.

"I was under the machine, but somehow I got out. I looked around for Helen, but I didn't see her. Mrs. Bartell and Flanagan had got out somehow. I ran back to the machine and tried to tilt it up, but couldn't. I thought Helen had got out. We were all dazed by the suddenness of the accident—and ran off. So we went over the fields to Greenpoint, took the ferry to Manhattan, had breakfast and took Mrs. Bartell back to her home in Newark."

The home of Anthony Kupillas is directly opposite the spot where the car overturned. Minutes after the accident Kupillas was awakened by screams. From the windows he saw a car in flames out in the road. While his wife telephoned to the police, Kupillas ran out. Mrs. Brogiley, in terrible agony, was being consumed by flames feeding on the gas tank. The screams ceased before firemen arrived and extinguished the fire.

The body of Mrs. Brogiley, burned beyond identification, was taken to an Elmhurst morgue. Her identity, however, was quickly established by a diary found under the car. A prayer book found there also bore the name of Catherine Daly, 24 Van Pelt Street, Long Island City. Miss Daly, sister to the man arrested, declared that Daly had not been home all night. Detectives, waiting for his return, arrested him. Meanwhile, working on partly charred letters picked up near the accident, detectives went to Newark and obtained a statement from Mrs. Bartell. Flanagan, the fourth member of the party, was not found.

Lodge Welcomes the Challenge.

In the opinion of leaders of both parties, the President has forced the Republicans to make as their chief issue opposition to the treaty. Democratic leaders who could be reached tonight accepted the President's telegram as defining the attitude of the party on the treaty, while Republicans, notably Senator Lodge, expressed pleasure that the President had taken the stand he did.

Senator Hitchcock, ranking minority member of the Committee of Foreign Affairs and former Democratic leader of the Senate, discussing the President's telegram said:

"The President's recommendation will meet with the approval of Democrats generally, and I think that the National Convention at San Francisco will adopt that line of procedure. It will force the Republicans to accept the issue and oppose the President's position."

Senator Lodge, Republican leader of the Senate, who will make the keynote speech at the Republican National Convention, said:

"The President's statement has just been read to me over the telephone. I cannot undertake to discuss it in detail, but, politically speaking, I am very glad that he has taken the position he has. It fully justifies all the opposition of the Republican Party and of those who joined with Republicans in the Senate."

Viewed as Attack on Chamberlain.

Friends of Senator Chamberlain, of Oregon, said tonight that the President's telegram to Chairman Humaker was aimed to defeat the Oregon Senator in the State wide primaries on May 21.

Senator Chamberlain is being opposed for renomination by F. G. Starkweather of Oregon City, former Democratic State Chairman, and Mr. Hamaker is the leader of the anti-Chamberlain forces. The opposition to Chamberlain, it was said by the Senator's friends, grew out of the recent removal of Frank S. Myers, as Postmaster of Portland. Myers has been one of the active Democrats in Oregon for several years, and blamed Senator Chamberlain for his removal, which came as the result of an investigation of his office made by postal inspectors sent from Washington.

The Senator's friends asserted further that Mr. Hamaker had taken advantage of the hostility of the White House toward Mr. Chamberlain by reason of a breach which occurred early in 1918. It will be recalled that about that time Senator Chamberlain made a speech in New York in which he said that the Government had broken down, and that the Executive department had ceased to function. He was referring to the Administration of war activities. The President characterized Senator Chamberlain's statement as a "wilful distortion." This caused the Senator to retort with a speech in the Senate with which he endeavored to support his charges.

The President and Secretary Baker, as well as the General Staff of the Army, were further irritated, Senator Chamberlain's friends said, by the Oregon Senator's persistent complaints that the court-martial system had been administered too harshly and his championship of General Samuel T. Ansell, former Acting Judge Advocate General of the Army.

It is asserted by the Senator's friends that his record on the treaty is identical with that of twenty other Democratic Senators who voted for ratification with the Lodge reservation last February. Senator Chamberlain, his friends say, at first supported the treaty without reservations. When the attempt to have it so ratified failed he supported the Hitchcock interpretative reservations, and when these reservations failed he voted finally to ratify the treaty with the Lodge reservations.

Seven other Democratic Senators who voted with Chamberlain for ratification with the Lodge reservations also come up for renomination this year. They are Beckham of Kentucky, Fletcher of Florida, Gore of Oklahoma, Henderson of Nevada, Phelan of California, Hoke Smith of Georgia, and John Walter Smith of Maryland.

The other Democratic Senators who voted, as Mr. Chamberlain did, for the ratification of the treaty with the Lodge reservations, but who do not come up for re-election this year, are Ashurst of Arizona, Kendrick of Wyoming, King of Utah, Myers og Montana, Pittman of Nevada, Pomerene of Ohio, Trammell of Florida, Walcott of Delaware, Owen of Oklahoma, Ransdell of Louisiana, Walsh of Montana, and Walsh of Massachusetts. Senator Owen is a candidate for the Democratic Presidential nomination.

Ex-Secretary McAdoo is the only Democratic candidate whose name is on the Presidential primary ballot in Oregon. The Republican candidates are Wood, Hoover, Johnson, Lowden and Poindexter, the last-mentioned of whom, however, has had his name withdrawn.

Chamberlain's Foes Jubilant.

Special to The New York Times.

PORTLAND, Ore., May 9.—The President's telegram on the treaty was received with jubilation by the enemies of Senator Chamberlain, who are attempting to defeat him for renomination. Just how it will please the rank and file of the Democrats so far as the national phases of the statement are concerned remains to be seen.

National Committeeman E. V. Morrow, when told by THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent of the President's announcement, said that in his opinion the Democrats of Oregon would stand behind Mr. Wilson.

"As a national issue," said Mr. Morrow, "the Democrats of Oregon will support President Wilson. I believe they stand behind him both at the convention and in the election if the President sees fit to make the League of Nations a clear-cut issue."

"The Democrats of Oregon are in favor of a League of Nations and opposed to some of the reservations proposed by Senator Lodge," continued Mr. Morrow. "I do not believe that they think the Lodge reservations are acceptable to the country."

Mr. Morrow said that in his opinion the only compromise which could be reached at the San Francisco convention, in view of the President's statement today, was a plank in favor of the League of Nations with interpretative reservations which would not nullify the league in the eyes of the White House.

G. E. Hamaker, Chairman of the committee to whom the President's telegram was addressed, is one of the leaders of the faction in the Democratic Party here which is attempting to overthrow Senator Chamberlain. This faction is making much of the point that Senator Chamberlain voted for the Lodge reservations on the final ballot at Washington, and is charging that he deserted the President.

Harvey G. Starkweather, who is being put forward in the primaries on May 21 as the opponent of Senator Chamberlain, has come out on a platform in favor of the stand taken by the President. As a result of the President's telegram to Hamaker, therefore, the primary vote on Chamberlain and Starkweather will provide an index as to the attitude of the Democrats of Oregon on the League of Nations issue.

It had been generally expected that Chamberlain would win in the primary, at least before President Wilson sent his telegram today. Chamberlain is very popular and had expected an easy victory over his opponent.

WILSON IS ASKED TO RESUBMIT TREATY

CALL SENATE RESPONSIBLE

Cardinal Gibbons Among Twenty-eight Signers Who Want Country in League of Nations.

The League of Free Nations Association sent to President Wilson yesterday an appeal signed by twenty-eight of his supporters, urging him to consent to such reservations to the League covenant as would induce the Senate to ratify the Peace Treaty and thus enable this country to enter the League of Nations. The signers, one of whom is Cardinal Gibbons, call the reservations either harmful or unnecessary, but would have the Senate bear responsibility for them.

"The undersigned, who believe in those principles of international relations which you have enunciated and in support of which you are justly regarded as the leader of the world's thought, submit to you their earnest hope that you will accept such reservations to the Treaty of Versailles as may be necessary to obtain the consent of the Senate to its ratification and thus permit the immediate association of the United States in the League of Nations.

"We believe that the Senate reservations are harmful except to the extent that they are unnecessary, but the present situation requires our present cooperation with the other nations of the world in furtherance of justice, liberty and peace. You have performed your duty of honor in endeavoring to obtain the ratification of the treaty as you signed it at Paris. The responsibility for the reservations and their defects rests with their authors and not with the author of the covenant.

"But even with the reservations the covenant with the moral force of the United States under your leadership behind it is of such value to humanity at this moment that we look to you to carry it now into effect and to lead the world's opinion in its operation."

SEES LIMIT IN ALLOWING SELF-DETERMINATION

Carnegie Peace Endowment Fears That Even Small Cities Might Claim the Privilege.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—The question of plebiscites, with which the world has become more familiar through the application of the doctrine of self-determination to certain territories under the Treaty of Versailles, is treated exhaustively in a volume entitled "A Monograph on Plebiscites," just published by the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.

A history of the doctrine, which began with the French Revolution, and arguments which have been advanced for and against it, are contained in a lengthy preface. This is followed by a large number of official documents, from those of Avignon and the Comtat Venaissin, Savoy, Nice and the Belgian Communes of 1791-1793, through the Italian plebiscites of 1848 and 1860-1870, to that provided for in the case of the separation of Norway from Sweden in 1905; and the Tacna-Arica plebiscite called for in the Treaty of Ancon between Chile and Peru in 1883 but never held.

"The war has rescued the principle of self-determination from its academic retirement," says Sarah Wambaugh, author of the volume. "It comes to the fore again without the prestige of its past, for that has been forgotten with the passing of the generation of statesmen who supported it.

"The question of whether or not the doctrine of self-determination has a standing in international law has yielded to the question of its fitness for the purposes of our generation."

The chief theoretical opposition to the doctrine, it is pointed out, "comes now from the apprehension that, once admitted, small units, even so small as cities, may demand self-determination." It is declared that this difference "has now become one of importance."

"No rule is, of course, possible," it is said. "The question is one primarily of proportion, of geographical position and economic relation. In a word it must be settled according to the specific case."

As to the question of who should be allowed to vote in territories where plebescites are to be held, it says:

"It might be well to let only those vote who are native born, or who were domiciled in the region before the conquest, and even to let those children of emigrants or optants vote who will give pledge to live in the territory if the vote goes in their favor."

Lawrence Textile Workers Move to Call General Strike

LAWRENCE, Mass., May 9.—The Central Labor Union indorsed today the strike of stationary engineers in the textile mills in this city, and also indorsed the proposed strike of boiler firemen.

The Amalgamated Textile Workers' Council also met today and addressed a communication to the Central Labor Union requesting that a central labor conference, comprising five delegates from the various classes of workers at the mills, be formed at once to take action to bring about a general strike.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 9.—Rhode Island Council, United Textile Workers of America, at a meeting at Pawtucket this afternoon, voted to send communications tomorrow to the individual cotton, woolen, worsted and silk mill owners of the State embodying the demand for a 17½ per cent. wage increase, effective May 31, drawn up by the National Executive Council of the Textile Workers a week ago.

PENROSE WILL BE ACTIVE AT CHICAGO

kept advised by telephone and emissaries of the progress being made on the chairmanship question. Mr. Penrose is opposed to Senator Borah, but is willing to agree with the decision of his Old Guard colleagues in this connection.

While apparently sounding the tocsin for Senator Knox as a compromise candidate for President, Senator Penrose will go to Chicago, it is announced, eager to select as a nominee the man who will most easily unite all groups in the convention. While he has partly recovered his health, he will not be able to take as vigorous a part in convention affairs as he did in 1912, and some of the plans of the Old Guard to defeat Wood and Johnson and nominate a dark horse may go astray.

Mr. Penrose has been getting reports in the last week from different sections of the country as to the real sentiment relative to a compromise candidate. These reports indicate, it is said, that Republicans and independents want an up-standing American opposed to an alliance with foreign countries. Other reports show that delegates elected for some of the leading Presidential aspirants, are "handpicked," and while apparently instructed for Wood, Johnson and others, can be depended upon in some cases to follow the suggestions of the State leaders.

While the National Committee will meet in Chicago two weeks in advance of the convention, Senator Penrose will not attend these sessions, which are devoted to contests and organization plans. The Senator plans to leave Philadelphia on June 2 and will have headquarters in an apartment house, far distant from the hotels.

Britain Lets Socialists Visit Russia.

LONDON, May 9.—The Foreign Office has withdrawn its objection to granting passports for Delegates Quelch and McLaine, named by the British Socialist Party to visit Russia. Therefore the delegates will start at the earliest possible date for an investigation of Russian conditions.

REPUBLICAN CHIEFS GATHER IN CHICAGO

WOMEN TO ACT IN COUNCIL

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, May 9.—An important pre-convention meeting of the Republican National Committee will be held in the Congress Hotel in this city tomorrow to select a temporary Chairman for the National Convention which will open here on Tuesday, June 8. Considerable other business is to be transacted by the committee, and in view of the size and importance of the convention it may be necessary for the committee to remain in session for two days. Chairman Will H. Hays will arrive tomorrow morning to preside at the meeting. Most of the details will be taken care of by the Committee on Arrangements, which is headed by A. T. Hert of Louisville.

Thirty committeemen arrived in Chicago today. The name of Senator Henry Cabot Lodge is the only one openly discussed here for temporary Chairman. The committee has nothing to do with the selection of permanent Chairman or the preparation of rules.

One of the features of the committee meeting will be the presence of women. Washington, Georgia, Rhode Island, North Carolina and probably one or two other States will have women representatives on the committee.

Mrs. John Glover South holds the proxy of Committeeman S. A. Perkins of Washington. Miss Mary Garrett Hay of New York holds the proxy of Henry S. Jackson of Georgia. Miss Maude Wetmore of Rhode Island will vote for Oliver D. Street of Alabama. Mrs. John T. Pratt of New York holds the proxy of John S. Moorehead of North Carolina. In the convention proper many women will have seats as delegates and alternates.

What is interesting the women politicians chiefly now is the attainment of complete national suffrage. One more State is needed. They expect to have three more.

"Are you satisfied with what the Republican Party has done for you?" Miss Hay was asked.

"No We want it to finish the job. We intend to see what it does," was the reply. "I believe the thirty-six States will ratify before the end of the month. There are only three Republican States remaining—Delaware, Connecticut and Vermont—and I hope that the Republican Party will have a clean record, and that those three States will ratify, thus showing that every Republican State in the Union has ratified the suffrage amendment."

Messages were sent today to Republican and Democratic leaders in Springfield urging action to speed up the suffrage cause. The Republicans are asked to help in the winning of their three remaining States and the Democrats are asked to assist in persuading Louisiana to ratify.

One of the problems of convention arrangements will be the seating of press representatives. J. D. Preston, who has charge of the Senate press gallery, came to Chicago today to supervise press arrangements. He said he had 536 seats and 982 applications from newspapers.

It is expected that the convention will end on Saturday following its opening. Twenty-four hours later special trains will begin to roll out toward California for the Democratic convention.

WOMEN CAUGHT AFTER FIRST AUBURN BREAK

Two New Yorkers Who Escape with Aid of Blanket Rope Soon Captured.

AUBURN, N. Y., May 9.—The first escape from Auburn prison for women was made early today by Mary Smith, 22, and Irene Wiley, 24, of New York, who broke from their cells and let themselves to the ground by a rope made from blankets. Mary Smith was serving a sentence of five to ten years for shooting a man in New York, and Irene Wiley was serving from five to nine and one-half years for grand larceny.

The women were in their cells at 11 o'clock last night, prison officials said. Their absence was discovered this morning. The Wiley girl got out of her cell through the transom. The lock of the cell occupied by the other woman was broken, the officials believe, by the efforts of both girls.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., May 9.—Mary Smith and Irene Wiley who escaped from the Women's Prison in Auburn early today were captured here tonight. Officers are on their way from Auburn to take the women back to prison.

WOMEN COUNT ON LOUISIANA

Assert Poll of Legislators Indicates They Will Ratify Amendment.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—The Louisiana Legislature, which meets in regular session tomorrow, will have a seven-day start in the race with Delaware for the thirty-sixth ratification of the suffrage amendment. During the recess of the Delaware Legislature until May 17 suffragists will redouble their efforts in that State, but the suffragists will concentrate on Louisiana, thus affording opportunity for a race between Republicans and Democrats, as well as between North and South, for the credit of giving the final ratification.

Louisiana's Legislature is solidly Democratic, not a single member being Republican.

Lined up on the side of ratification in Louisiana are a majority of the Louisiana Congressional delegation, Governor John M. Parker, Major Behrman of New Orleans, leaders of the two opposing factions of the State, and two other prominent State officials. The arguments advanced by these have dwelt on the "inevitability" of ratification and the "advantage" to the Democratic Party of favorable action by a Democratic State. Preliminary results of a poll of Louisiana's Legislature are declared by the woman's party to show a slight majority on the side of ratification "among the men so far heard from."

SENDS PROTEST TO LODGE.

Albanian Representative Calls Greek Award Resolution Unjust.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 9. — Protest against the reporting by the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations last Monday of a resolution declaring it to be the sense of the Senate that Northern Epirus, the Twelve Islands of the Aegean Sea, and the western coast of Asia Minor should be awarded to Greece, has been made to Senator Lodge, Chairman of that committee, by C. A. Chekrezi, representative here of the Provisional Government of Albania.

In his letter of protest, Mr. Chekrezi complains that the awarding of the two Southern Albanian provinces of Koritza and Arghyrocastro to Greece was favored without holding hearings as he requested. He calls the committee's action unjust on the ground that it was taken "without granting the natives of Koritza and Arghyrocastro the elementary right of a hearing before the committee." The action, he adds, is without "any parallel in the history of America, for Albania has not been either an enemy or an ally of the United States."

Mack Engineering Did It

"I have operated my Mack truck constantly for three years and up to date have not spent a cent on it for repairs of any kind."—From one letter out of hundreds we should like you to read.

IN its design and operation, the case-hardened and ground surfaces are typically sound Mack engineering details. A case-hardened surface will withstand over thirty times greater frictional wear than a non-case-hardened surface formed from the same piece of metal.

Distinctive Mack Engineering features and 18 basic Mack patents have developed the motor truck the world is talking about.

CALL CONVENTION TO HEAD OFF HUGO

Republican Leaders Will Present Slate at Saratoga Gathering in August.

PHILLIPS FOR GOVERNOR

Organization Believes Speaker Sweet, Controller Travis and Senator Sage Have No Chance.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, May 9.—State Republican leaders, worried by the announced determination of Francis M. Hugo, Secretary of State, of Watertown, to "go through to the last ditch" in his fight for the Republican nomination for Governor, have called an unofficial State Convention to be held in Saratoga in August.

In opposition to the Hugo candidacy, the Republican leaders are prepared to name the following slate at the Saratoga Convention:

For Governor, Jesse S. Phillips of Steuben County, State Superintendent of Insurance; Congressman, Bertrand S. Snell of Potsdam, or Nathan L. Miller of Syracuse, former Judge of the Court of Appeals.

For Lieutenant Governor, Senator Charles W. Walton of Ulster County.

For Attorney General, Charles D. Newton.

For Comptroller, Lafayette B. Gleason, Secretary of the Republican State Committee; Senator Charles Lockwood of Brooklyn, or James A. Wendell of Albany, Deputy State Comptroller.

No candidate has yet been selected for Secretary of State.

For State Engineer, Frank M. Williams.

The party leaders assert that Speaker Thaddeus C. Sweet, Eugene M. Travis, the present State Comptroller, and Senator Henry M. Sage of Albany, all of whom are avowedly looking for the nomination for Governor, are out of the running.

The State organization would like to have former Judge Miller as the Governorship candidate, but he is averse to running.

Mr. Gleason can have the nomination for State Controller if he wants it. If he declines the nomination is expected to go to Senator Lockwood, though Deputy Controller Wendell has been in the office for nearly twenty-five years and wants the place.

State Treasurer Wells is slated to go and his place is to be given to Senator Marshall, who is in the banking business in Jefferson County, if present plans are adopted.

The nomination for Secretary of State is being held open, and if Mr. Hugo will give up his Governorship aspirations he undoubtedly can have a renomination.

The leaders are determined that Attorney General Newton and State Engineer Williams shall be renominated.

Banks and Business Houses Lead "Overall" Movement There.

Copyright, 1920, by The Chicago Tribune Co.

LISBON, May 9.—Portugal has been swept by a great wave of luxury during and since the war, but it is now subsiding and there is an insistent call for economy and work. The banks are preaching it, and the voice of the banks is likely to be heard. They have now launched a national initiative for economy in dress.

From the heads of the banks down to the minor clerks and messengers, an unwritten agreement has been reached to wear the most inexpensive clothing, patched clothing—anything, so long as it is clean and decent and will pass for covering—and to avoid buying anything new until the present exorbitant prices come down. With the banks setting the style, the campaign will get tremendous impetus.

It has been decided to confine the clothing material to khaki and cotton fabrics, and to wear cloth shoes with cork soles—all garments, even to the shoes, that can be made at home. The principal commercial houses have caught the spirit and are advocating the "Fato de Ganga"—the duck suit.

Women employes of the banks and commercial establishments are limiting their dress to the simplest fabrics, and cutting down the number of gowns to their actual needs.

Associated with the campaign for economy is the equally important movement to speed up production, to do more and better work, and restore the country to something approaching a sane basis.

ROME PAPERS DOUBLE PRICE

Dealers Strike, Printers Threaten Walkout When Rise Is Decreed.

ROME, May 9.—By a royal decree the price of newspapers, beginning Monday, is raised from two cents to four cents. The advance is due to the increased cost of print paper.

The newsdealers have gone on strike, claiming that they are entitled to a higher percentage of receipts on the new prices. The printers also are threatening to strike for higher wages, while the journalists are demanding either a percentage on the profits of newspapers or one-twentieth of the returns on sales.

Rueckert or had happened to enter the apartment at about the same moment that Rueckert came home.

When they sought to go up on the roof, detectives found the door at the top of the stairs locked on the outside and barricaded. They forced it and on the roof directly over the bedroom of the Rueckert apartment, they found a knotted rope dangling from iron-work on the cornice.

By the light of their flash lanterns, the detectives found that several clothes lines had been torn down. These had been worked by an expert hand, according to the detectives, into a stout rope ladder, technically known as a "hand and foot rope." It had huge knots about sixteen inches apart, which served as grips and footholds for the burglar as he descended from the cornice to the bedroom window, which was open.

The making of this imitation Jacob's ladder was a work of some time, and explained the locking and barricading of the door to the roof, where the burglar or assassin wanted to insure himself against interference.

The manner in which he reached the roof was uncertain. The five-story apartment house is surrounded by four-story buildings, and at certain points an agile climber might have scrambled from a lower roof to the higher ones. He might also have obtained admittance by means of the front entrance earlier in the evening, but attendants at the building insisted that this had not happened.

The police questioned several occupants of the building, but none could throw light on the mystery. Two men said they had heard the shots, but had not investigated them.

A revolver, from which two cartridges were fired, was found after sun-up near Ninth Street and Castle Point.

Mr. Rueckert, who had intended to start on a business trip to Cincinnati yesterday, had $500 in his clothes when he was shot. He is reputed to be very wealthy. Some of his interests were taken over by the Alien Property Custodian during the war.

Montefiore Patient a Suicide.

Max Bahry, 30 years old, of 855 Sackman Street, Brooklyn, shot and killed himself with a revolver in his room at the Montefiore Home, Bainbridge Avenue and Gunhill Road, the Bronx, yesterday. It was said at the Home that Bahry had been there for about a year suffering from tuberculosis. Where he obtained the revolver is a mystery, as he had no visitors recently and had not been out of the Home.

HOLD TWO AS 'GUN TOTERS.'

Police Say Third Escaped After Receiving Weapon from Prisoners.

A man who said he was Herbert Gerhardt, 43 years old, a chauffeur, of Washington Street, Hoboken, and a woman, who described herself as Anna Hurley, 23 years old, of 554 Newark Street, Hoboken, were arrested last night in front of 443 West Thirty-eighth Street by detectives of the West Thirty-seventh Street Station, charged with violating the Sullivan law.

The detectives said the couple were in an automobile and a revolver was passed to an unidentified man, who escaped. It was also said that a revolver was found on Gerhardt.

Gerhardt, the police allege, had a notice of appearance issued by a Federal Commissioner at Trenton, N. J., to appear on March 22 for sentence. According to the police, Gerhardt said the notice was issued in connection with the robbery of a freight car and that the case had been appealed.

LAME PACK TRINITY AS 'HEALER' SPEAKS

TOUR OF WORLD IS PLANNED

James Moore Hickson Soon to Go on Mission to Europe, Africa and Asia.

Trinity Church was crowded yesterday afternoon with persons who wanted to hear James Moore Hickson, a layman healer of the Church of England. Benches and chairs were brought in and yet about four hundred persons stood. Not since the Archbishop of York was here three years ago had there been so many persons in the church.

Mr. Hickson attempted no healing. It was simply a religious service. But a majority of those present suffered some affliction. Broadway and the side streets were lined with automobiles that had brought the lame and the blind and the mute. Crutches were noticeable in many pews. One young man fainted.

Policemen were on duty inside and outside the church. They were in charge of Sergeant John W. Burberg of the First Precinct.

Mr. Hickson will begin a two days' mission at St. Luke's Church, Clinton Avenue, between Fulton Street and Atlantic Avenue, Brooklyn, tomorrow morning. Thursday and Friday he will be at St. Ann's Church, Clinton and Livingston Streets, Brooklyn. He will return to England shortly to begin a tour of the world conducting healing missions. The first will be in Belgium. Then he will go to the battle fields of France, thence to India, China, Japan, Russia, Egypt and the Holy Land. He asked all present to pray for his work.

The Rev. Dr. William T. Manning, rector of Trinity, introduced Mr. Hickson. He unqualifiedly indorsed the mission and said the work must be continued.

Mr. Hickson gave credit for the welcome he has received in Episcopal Churches throughout the United States to Dr. Manning's indorsement of his work more than a year ago. "I believe that to America has been given this sacred trust of reviving the ministry of healing," he said. "Christ gave to His Church this wonderful power. The early church obeyed the commandment. Then healing ceased because faith died."

Mr. Hickson thanked the bishops, clergy, laity and doctors for their support.

"Everywhere I have been received with the greatest kindness and sympathy," he said. "The doctors have met me in a very generous way. I have had great support from the medical profession in America. I thank God there are so many Christian physicians."

To the newspapers, Mr. Hickson gave the credit for bringing together "people of all communions and all conditions."

"Above all," he concluded, "I owe thanks to Dr. Manning. His indorsement, his encouragement and his support have made this work what it is."

TO ASK INVESTIGATION OF WEST POINT STUDIES

Representative Britten Says He Will Demand an Inquiry Into Dr. Eliot's Charges.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—Representative Fred Britten of Illinois announced today that he would offer a resolution in the House tomorrow for an investigation into the curriculum at West Point, which was recently criticised by Dr. Charles W. Eliot, President Emeritus of Harvard University. He said his resolution would direct Secretary Baker to forward to the House Committee on Military Affairs the letter of complaint written by Dr. Eliot to Brig. Gen. John W. Ruckman, commander of the North Atlantic Coast Artillery.

Discussing his resolution, Mr. Britten said:

"When a man of Dr. Eliot's known standing in the educational world says that 'West Point is a good example of what educational institutions should not be,' and that this fact was shown 'by the inefficiency and failure of its graduates during the war,' and that in his opinion no American school or college intended for youths between 18 and 22 years of age 'should accept such ill-prepared material as West Point accepts' and severely criticises the teachers as well as their methods, I think it is time for Congress to investigate the matter and see if our curriculum is running in circles and the $20,000 expended on the education of each youth wasted.

Dr. Eliot should tell the Committee on Military Affairs just where West Point graduates failed and were inefficient during the war and how, in his opinion, this may be obviated in the future. He should be given a full and thorough hearing before the committee."

TAFT ATTACKS BONUS, PLEADS FOR MAIMED

OTHERS CHARGE NEGLECT

Attempts to Measure in Money Reward of Soldiers' Patriotism Called Futile.

Attacks upon the $2,000,000,000 bonus plan were made yesterday by ex-President William Howard Taft, in a message, and by ex-Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson, Senator William H. King of Utah, Congressman Herbert C. Pell, Jr., of this city, and Mrs. Wendell Phillips, in speeches, at a meeting in the Engineering Societies Building, 29 West Thirty-ninth Street, at which about 150 were present. The meeting was called by a committee of American Legion members who are opposing the bonus, of which Mr. Stimson is Chairman.

Ex-President Taft made a plea for immediate aid for the men who were disabled in service. "It is inconceivable," he said, "that any one in Congress or in the Executive Department should not regard this matter as an imperative and pressing exigency. It is more than eighteen months since hostilities have ceased, and the fact, if it be a fact, that there are thousands of men suffering from the wounds and shocks of that war not properly provided for by our Government, is an outrage.

"It will doubtless need a large outlay in the end to make full and proper permanent provision, but there is no obligation of the Government that should be preferred to this. You properly wish to bring the facts to the attention of the public and stir them to move for prompt relief.

"I am advised that the present deplorable condition is not so much due to lack of Congressional appropriations as it is the red tape and halting action of those charged with the executive duties of administering the law. I have heard of instances which unexplained would show base ingratitude on the part of the American Government toward those who offered their lives in the cause of their country. If they whose lives were spared must drag them out in painful sorrow under the burden of permanent disability, without effective and kindly remedial provision, it would have been better that they had been killed in action.

"There is now pending in Congress a bill to raise from a billion to two billions of dollars to pay a bonus to men who were not wounded, merely because they were in the service. This bill should not be passed. Its proposed beneficiaries do not need the money and it is futile to attempt by such a bonus to measure the reward to which the courage and patriotism of the soldiers in the war entitles them.

"The difference between their case and that of those wounded, ill and shell-shocked veterans on the merits is palpable. Yet, singularly enough, those who have been promoting the bonus bill have found sympathetic support for it in the general and just feeling of indignation against the Government for the sad plight in which the wounded and injured soldiers are allowed to remain. If Congress and the executive departments were properly to busy themselves in making provision for the wounded and injured and provide the amount needed for this purpose, it would probably postpone or defeat the bonus scheme."

Mrs. Phillips, who is President of the Carry-On Club, charged that the country had utterly failed in its obligations to the wounded and disabled.

"I do not think that the able-bodied should ask for anything until we provide for those who gave 100 per cent. plus," she said. "They promised that the wounded men would be helped in two weeks. Many of them have waited from two to twelve months and have not been helped yet.

"Many of these men are dependent upon any help they can get. I have had as many as fifty of them in my house at once, because they had no other place to go. I have found disabled men on the streets who had not eaten for forty-eight hours and others who had slept in doorways for ten days."

Senator King and Congressman Pell spoke at length on the economic aspects of the proposed bonus, asserting that the Government could not stand the burden of the extra tax at this time. Mr. Pell told the meeting that he knew his opposition to the bonus meant his political annihilation. "A $2,000,000,000 bonus would precipitate an inevitable financial crisis in which rich and poor alike would suffer," he said.

We thank You!

THE "Largest Candy Store in the World" was none too large to accommodate the candy lovers who attended our Birthday Party on Saturday. From the moment the doors opened the great place was thronged—and this despite the rain.

In fact we were fairly overwhelmed by the crush; and, in consequence, we fear many of our friends did not receive the service to which they were properly entitled.

But, apparently, generous allowance was made for the occasion. We heard nothing but kind words—especially about the candy. This was particularly gratifying, for in the end it's the candy that counts. The store might be ever so attractive, the service ever so good, but unless the candy was right,—right in quality—right in price, we would get nowhere.

We have tried sincerely to make good our promise that we would offer New York nothing but candy of the highest quality—better candy for the money than had ever been seen before in this city or elsewhere. But trying and succeeding are different things. Only the public could tell us whether we had succeeded. And the public told us in a manner most gratifying. Therefore, again we thank you, and most heartily.

We promise to make This Week as memorable as our Opening Day

Every day we will offer three numbers, taken from our regular list, as "Get Acquainted Specials," at prices that should bring us a visit from everyone who loves fine confections.

One of these specials will be made right in the store—in our Creole Candy Kitchen—where you can watch the making from kettle to package. Another will represent our Big Chocolate Factory, and the third, our fine Home Made Candies made in our Brooklyn plant.

Back to Fair Prices!

Government investigation shows there is no real sugar shortage. Speculators and profiteers are temporarily in control.

This control is dishonest and the government and other agencies are at work to break it down.

Pure candy has great food value and has become a real need of the people. Unfortunately, it has also come in for its share of profiteering.

The opening of the United Retail Candy Stores marks a decided step toward the elimination of this profiteering in candy. We pledge ourselves to lead the procession back to fair prices.

CALLS CHIROPRACTIC CLAIMS 'PURE BUNK'

Charities Aid Association Urges Governor to Veto Regulative Bill.

SEES MENACE TO PUBLIC

Will Create Impression of Right to Practice Medicine, Says Secretary.

The State Charities Aid Association, through its Secretary, Homer Folks, has sent a memorandum to Governor Smith protesting against a bill which, it is contended, would recognize and regulate the practice of chiropractic, and which, according to Mr. Folks, slipped through the Legislature in the closing hours of the session.

Mr. Folks asserts that the licensing of persons who say they are able "to locate and adjust by hand misplaced or displaced vertebrae of the human spine in order to relieve the nerve pressure caused thereby" would cause a real danger to the health of the people of the State. The memorandum places the chiropractic method of relieving pain in the same category with quack nostrums, and asserts that approval of the bill would be construed by large numbers of people as giving authority to chiropractic "healers" to practice medicine.

"No person trained in anatomy and the treatment of disease recognizes that there is any such thing as 'misplaced or displaced vertebrae,'" says the memorandum. "The whole structure of chiropractic is built on an assumption which, according to the best information we can get, has no basis in known fact and is contrary to all accepted scientific teaching.

"Among the subjects on which applicants for license are to be examined are 'chiropractic analysis' and 'the technic of spinal palpation and adjustment,'" says the memorandum. "These terms do not correspond to anything which actually exists. In current phrase, they are 'pure bunk.' There are no courses of instruction in these things, for there are no such things.

"If the 'practice of chiropractic' were based on scientific knowledge and on a thorough scientific education on the part of its practitioners, this bill would still be highly objectionable. It provides that the Board of Examiners consisting of five members shall be appointed by the Board of Regents from a list of ten members to be nominated by the State Chiropractic Society, a non-governmental organization, in no sense responsible to the public, in no sense representative of public interest."

The memorandum also points out that in addition to being a serious danger to public health such a bill would confuse people as to who are and who are not authorized to practice medicine; would give official aid to those who utilize the fears of persons who may think themselves ill, for purposes of private gain, and who are not qualified to render competent medical service."

Still 20 Per Cent. Off Everything

(With minor exceptions of trade-mark goods whose prices we cannot honorably change)

"When this 20 per cent. strikes in Wanamaker's will be the busiest spot in the world---" —a prophecy fulfilled.

READ THE STORY AS TOLD BELOW BY A BUSINESS WOMAN

Our thanks to the people for their very great patience and good nature in the immense crowds of Saturday when it was physically impossible to serve them quickly or at times even comfortably.

—And to our own good salespeople and all workers who are co-operating so splendidly with the public in this movement for lower prices.

This woman observer writes:

In the history of merchandising there has never been anything to equal this action. So compelling, so sweeping an act as this would have astonished the pre-war buying world, which had never considered as a possibility the serious economic after-war problems that we are confronted with. But coming now at this darkest hour, when an accomplishment of this sort was an undreamed of possibility, when the upward trend of prices was the pronouncement of the authoritative statisticians, the buying world is thrilled with appreciative surprise, and the selling world is lost in amazement.

The impossible has become possible, the unbelievable has become a proven fact, and the minute the customers enter the Wanamaker store the incontrovertible truth of proof is everywhere before them.

Wide-eyed Amazement

The usual customers are surprised, and their fervent response is showing what they think of this event. But the astounded people who, in many cases, have not been able to recover their equilibrium are those who, having made merchandising a business, know the conditions governing the merchandise world today, and appreciate through their knowledge just what 20 per cent. off on an entire stock means. These are the confused people who have not yet decided what to do. The invitation which has been extended them to join in a movement that is the greatest constructive effort that has been made to bring down the high-cost-of-living is being looked at in wide-eyed amazement.

Years spent as an investigator in the Retail Merchandise world, assembled statistics, and recourse to the accumulated data that touch most phases of merchandising do not serve to lessen the marvel of this epoch-marking event.

Growing Each Day

The Monday morning customers had not realized it. Some had not known it. The papers had only announced it to the world that very morning. Even those who had read the advertisement were rather dazed as they went from one department to another and the magnitude of the thing gradually dawned on them. Those who had not heard of it were taken off their feet when the 20 per cent. was virtually given back to them on purchases which they had been well content to make at the usual prices.

One gentleman who got his surprise of 20 per cent. off said to those nearest him, "When this 20 per cent. strikes in, Wanamaker's will be the busiest spot in the world."

Hard to Believe

The timorous ones advanced to a department saying, "Not 20 per cent. off on this," as they pointed out some desired article. The regular Wanamaker customer who knew despite anything that if Wanamaker said 20 per cent. off, it was 20 per cent. off, thought at least the Restaurant would not give it, as it was not really merchandise, and the biggest awakening was when the checks began to come into the customer after Luncheon. It was amusing to watch the expressions on the faces of those who did not know of the discount. All of them asked questions, and some rushed off through the store as if in fear that the goods might all be sold if they delayed.

20 per cent. off

The hardest thing for customers to grasp after they had accepted and had proven the 20 per cent. discount was that the policy was absolute, and applied to goods that had been specially priced, and goods that had been reduced. In furniture there had been in progress a reduction sale of special furniture at 15, 20 and 33 1-3 per cent. off, and this, of course, was also subject to the additional 20 per cent. off. But it is perfectly easy to see how the customer would be dazed by the truth of such a great fact as this.

A man and his wife examine a cowhide oxford-bag, which had been specially priced at $27 before the sale, and when you hear the man say "I know that the regular price of this kind of a bag is $40 everywhere, so it can't be 20 per cent. off $27," you can understand the reason that is back of their surprise when they are told there will be 20 per cent. off.

Even White Sale Goods

And there in the department of women's underwear, the great Rainbow-White sale is in progress. Barely had it been launched, just two days before. But the order came "20 per cent. off all prices." Beautiful and exquisite French lingerie, which had been originally much under the retail market price for this Rainbow Sale, was now reduced 20 per cent. more.

The buying world knowing that Wanamaker's is the store house of the world's choicest merchandise, and having long marveled at the unusualness of many of their stocks, which find no duplicates in this country, just can't bring themselves to believe that everything means everything.

One customer hesitates before a string of jade, and says to her companion, "It could not be 20 per cent. off on that; these things are all very rare," and when she is assured by a saleswoman that all these goods are subject to 20 per cent., she banishes her surprise only because of her great interest in the goods.

Antiques, which all time can never produce again, the loveliest of old English furniture, wonderful 18th Century veritable French pieces, which are so much sought after, meet their 20 per cent. off with just the same sureness as does an article of regular merchandise. Rarest jewels, the choicest of real laces, the most ancient and marvelous pieces of Oriental art meet on the democratic ground of 20 per cent. off with the lowest priced necessities.

Prophecy fulfilled

That man, who on the first morning of this sale had said, "When this 20 per cent. strikes in, Wanamaker's will be the busiest spot in the world," was no mean prophet, but was gifted with a vision that was to be fulfilled.

By the afternoon of the first day, the astonishment was being replaced with the keenest interest and the most general activity. The following day showed an interest that was as phenomenal as the event itself, and the multiplied rate of interest on this, the third day, was beyond anything that could be translated into terms that would express the enthusiasm and welcome with which this great plan is received.

Stirs the pride

No Christmas shopping crowd was ever like this. The busy areas are not restricted to departments whose stocks furnish gift suggestions. But the interest is as broad and as deep as this great store. Whether kitchen furnishings or books, pianos or notions, there are enthusiastic buyers who have ceased to voice their astonishment in their zeal to take advantage of this great event.

It all stirs the pride of every American for that wonderful American institution—

From West Virginia Some School Girls

Send us this advertisement

St. Hilda's Hall, Charlestown, W. Va., May 6, 1920

Some school girls at table tonight devised this advertisement for you:

A woman went to Wanamaker's to buy a suit. She bought one for fifty dollars, but the twenty per cent, reduction gave her back ten dollars.

This ten dollars she applied to the purchase of a hat priced at that figure. Again the reduction saved her some money; this time it was two dollars.

She now bought two pairs of lisle hose at one dollar a pair; her saving was forty cents. This she invested in a handkerchief.

The sister of this woman went to another store and spent fifty dollars for a suit, but she didn't get the hat, the stockings, the handkerchief, the hairpins, or the stamp.

BOMB IN CEILING HURTS MAN ASLEEP

Robert Arnheim, Jersey City Sports Promoter, Nearly Killed Taking a Nap.

PLANTED OVER HIS BED

Robert Arnheim, sports promoter, of Jersey City, narrowly escaped death yesterday when a cunningly planted bomb exploded in his home at 401 Palisade Avenue, Jersey City. Although the bed upon which Arnheim was asleep was sprinkled with iron filings from the infernal machine, he escaped with a slight wound in his right arm.

Following his custom, Arnheim lay down for a nap about 1 o'clock in the afternoon. His home is on the top floor of the apartment house, his bedroom in the front with a "hanging" ceiling—an attic-like space between ceiling and roof. He had been asleep about thirty minutes when he was thrown out of bed by an explosion.

Policeman Frank Collins of the Jersey City Headquarters Squad, passing the house, heard the muffled detonation and ran upstairs. He found Arnheim endeavoring to check the flow of blood from the wound. The policeman administered first aid and then hurried Arnheim to the City Hospital, where he was treated and later returned home.

The police found that a roughly constructed bomb had been fixed in between the ceiling and the housetop. It was planted directly over the bed occupied by Arnheim every Sunday afternoon. The explosion, tearing a big hole in the ceiling, shot the full blast of the bomb's contents of iron bolts and filings straight at the bed.

The police said that the bomb planter had crept into the attic and put the infernal machine in place about 6 o'clock yesterday morning. They fixed the time by the methods of ignition adopted by the bomber. A candle was arranged so that when it burned to its base, matches would be ignited, the flare would set off the three-foot fuse and the explosion result.

Arnheim told the police that he had no enemies. Detectives, however, declared last night that they were convinced the promoter had been the target of men mixed up in a recent shooting in a Hoboken athletic club, of which Arnheim is President.

In the course of the mêlé between soldiers at midnight, which a lorry patrol was trying to suppress, some shots were fired and a European, supposed to be an Italian, was killed.

The servant of a British officer recently killed has been arrested on suspicion of complicity in the crime.

ELECTION IN JAPAN TODAY.

Copyright, 1920, by The Chicago Tribune Co.

TOKIO, May 9.—Although there is public indifference regarding the general election tomorrow, politicians are beginning to show a feverish interest.

The opposition is loudly denouncing the alleged persecution of its candidates. Complaint is made of the arrest of active canvassers, destruction in the mails of opposition literature and intimidation of workers and voters by the police, who are favoring Government candidates.

This is the first election to be held in small constituencies, giving local candidates advantages, the result being that few national figures are offering themselves for election.

Ryan Released to Toronto.

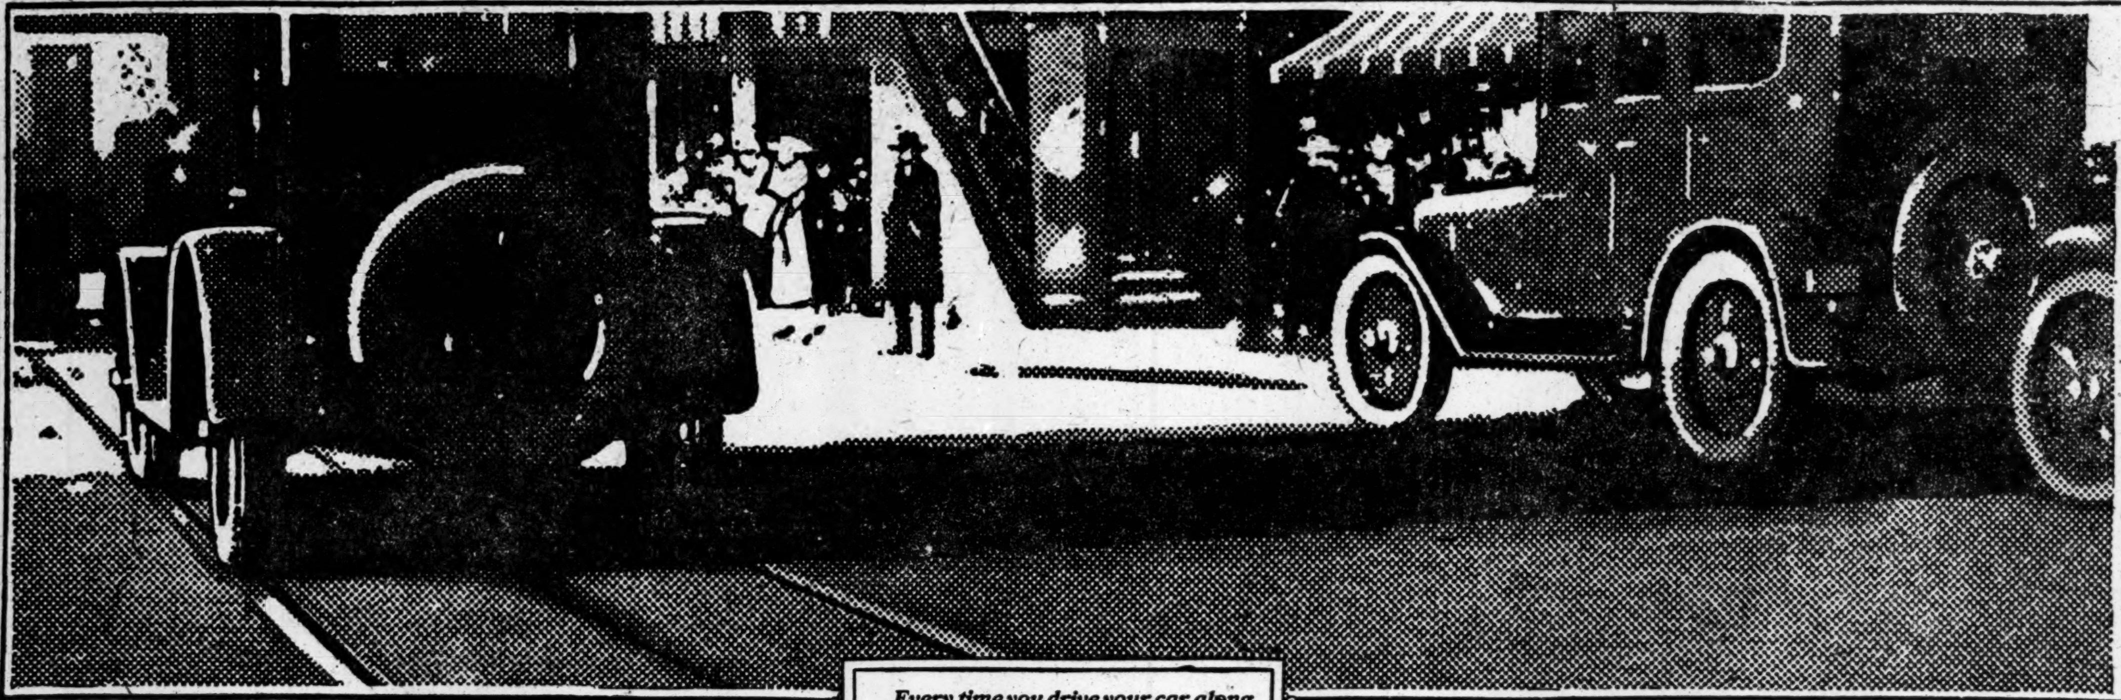
THOMPSON-STARRETT COMPANY
Building Construction

Go to a Legitimate Dealer and Get a Legitimate Tire



Every time you drive your car along a track or a rut in a country road you are taking some life out of your tires.

Worn frogs and switches often cause small cuts, which are rapidly enlarged by the action of gravel and moisture. Ruts and track slots pinch the tire, wearing away the tread where their edges strike it.

It is well to avoid such places as much as possible.

THIS year the American people are going to be more critical than ever about their automobile tires.

Tires are one of the largest items in the motorist's budget. The cost is making even careless buyers think and inquire.

And the more they inquire, the smaller will grow the influence of hearsay and the irresponsible tire dealer.

• • •

He tells everything he knows. He knows more about every car than the man who made it, where to buy the cheapest truck—how to get the biggest bargain in tires.

He always arouses a certain amount of wonder in the unknowing. They never think to ask him where he gets his secrets.

• • •

"Somebody says" and "everybody does" are responsible for more wrong impressions about tires than anything else you can think of.

It is on the people who come under the influences of these phrases that the irresponsible dealer thrives.

You generally find him with the name of a standard tire displayed in his windows to give an impression of quality.

But when you get inside the first thing he begins to talk about is price and substitution.

What the thoughtful motorist is looking for today is better tires.

The quality idea—the idea of a quality tire, of a dealer who believes in quality—is commanding a greater respect from a larger portion of the motoring public all the time.

It is the idea on which the United States Rubber Company was founded—on which it has staked a greater investment than any other rubber organization in the world.

Build a tire that will do more, a better tire than was built before, and you are sure of a large and loyal following.

We have never been able to build enough U. S. Tires to go around.

The Boiler is the Heart—Examine the Boiler First

Ask any good doctor to examine the Human Edifice and he will immediately begin on the heart. If he finds that all right, he gives you the Laugh and sends in a generous bill. He knows you are joyful enough to pay it. If he finds a few skips and leaks, he tells you to eat less red meat and not to walk up to the 19th floor oftener than once a week.

Ask any building expert to examine some edifice that you want to buy for investment, and he, too, will begin on the heart. And the heart in this instance is the heating boiler. If he finds cracks and leaks in it he tells you to pass on to the next exhibit because a flat with a leaky heart won't do under any circumstances.

And we may as well say to you men who build buildings to sell, that if you try to save money by putting in a cheap heating boiler, you are going to spoil a sale just as sure as the sun rises and sets. If you will put the

KEWANEE

Smokeless Boiler in every building you build, you can state the fact with pride. You've got something worth talking about. Your building has a healthy heart and not the kind that eats up profits. And if you advertise the building for sale, the biggest point in the ad will be that the building is equipped with a Kewanee All-Steel Smokeless Boiler, which burns the cheapest grades of soft coal without smoke.

Don't get it into your little head that people who buy buildings won't LOOK IN THE BASEMENT FIRST. On the contrary they will. They are doing it every day. They are going to do more of it as time goes on. They are fast learning that the heating boiler is the most important thing in any building. So, why don't you minimize the possibility of failing to sell and put that boiler in? It has more to do with the sale and a good price than any other item or group of items.

How the new flexible fabric universal joint absorbs the shocks that wear out your car

A RAPIDLY spinning flywheel suddenly locked with a motionless rear axle—that's what happens when you start your car. A ton or more of dead weight must be moved the instant you throw in the clutch. The tremendous power from the engine is hurled along the drive shaft.

Metal universal joints transmit with no cushioning whatever the full impact of this terrific force. No matter how carefully you engage the clutch, a violent blow racks the transmission and the whole rear axle assembly. As metal joints become worn the strain is intensified.

Cushioning the shocks in the drive shaft

There is now a way to absorb these blows. Constructed of flexible fabric discs, the Thermoid-Hardy Universal Joint effectively cushions the shocks that rack your car.

You feel no jerks, no rattles when you throw in the clutch. With the Thermoid-Hardy Universal Joint your car starts smoothly—runs quietly with the minimum of jar and vibration.

Fanwise construction for strength

Adopted by leading manufacturers

Over fifty manufacturers have adopted the Thermoid-Hardy Universal Joint as standard equipment. It has stood severe endurance tests—in many cars running 60,000 miles without replacement or adjustment.

When you ride in a car equipped with Thermoid-Hardy Universal Joints, notice the absence of backlash, jerks, and rattles that are so common with metal joints. Observe how smoothly the car starts—how much more quietly it runs—even over rough roads.

Send for our new book, "Universal Joints—Their Use and Misuse." It will give you in detail the construction of the Thermoid-Hardy Joint, records of performance, opinions of leading engineers and manufacturers who have adopted it.

In building up the flexible fabric discs the several layers of fabric are put together so that the strands in each piece run in a different direction. This patented fanwise construction provides the greatest tensile strength. In a laboratory test made recently at Purdue University the drive shaft itself was twisted at a total stress of 21,700 inch pounds without injury to the universal joint.

CHAMBERLAIN CALLS CRAIG INCOMPETENT

Berolzheimer, in Letter to Mayor, Accuses Controller of Neglect of Duty.

TELLS OF STOPPING CHECK

Declares His Office Is Needed as Check on That of Controller Under Present Rule.

An attack upon Controller Charles L. Craig as "incompetent and guilty of neglect of duty," was made by City Chamberlain Philip Berolzheimer, whose office the Controller attempted to abolish by legislation, in a letter to Mayor Hylan, made public last night. Mr. Berolzheimer stated that he had stopped payment on a warrant for $34,087, sent to Mayor Hylan and himself for signatures, upon his discovery that the warrant should have been made out for $3,487.

This was only one instance out of several of errors in the Controller's office, he said, and showed that a check upon the Controller, such as the City Chamberlain, was necessary. Mr. Berolzheimer's letter, which also indicates a widening of the breach between the Mayor and the Controller, follows:

May 8, 1920.

Hon. John F. Hylan, Mayor, City Hall, New York City.

Dear Mr. Mayor:

As I had expected, Warrant No. 63012, drawn by the Controller and presented to you and me for our signatures, calling for the payment to the Crimmins Contracting Company of $34,087.69, when the amount should have been $3,487.69, was duly delivered by the Controller's office to the Crimmins company. Of course, I had ordered the bank not to pay the check when it was presented, so that the city could not be any loser through the mistake of the Controller. At the same time the Deputy Chamberlain warned the contractors not to attempt to make any use of the check, but to return it immediately.

With all that it costs the taxpayers of New York for the salary of the Controller and his army of assistants, it is a disgraceful thing that the Controller should officially ask the Mayor and the Chamberlain to sign a check such as this.

You know, and I know, that this is only one instance of the many where improperly drawn warrants against the City Treasury are approved by the Controller's office, and I think it is time that the taxpayers of New York had their attention called to the fact that they are getting bad service, as well as cheap politics, instead of financial protection from the Controller's administration. The evidence of this and other improperly drawn warrants on the City Treasury that too frequently come from the Controller to you and to me for our signature is proof positive that the Controller's administration is inefficient and that the Controller is incompetent and guilty of neglect of duty.

Gross carelessness such as this would not be tolerated for an instant in any private institution. It is an open invitation to the unscrupulous to perpetrate fraud on the City Treasury; with an assurance that the machinery of the Controller's office is not competent to prevent it.

The Chamberlain's office instead of being abolished should be perpetuated and given greater power, as long at least as the present administration of the Controller's office continues.

Respectfully yours,

PHILIP BEROLZHEIMER,
Chamberlain.

SEES HOPE IN NEW CHINA.

Dr. Reinsch Finds It in the Spread of the Merchant-Student Movement.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—Dr. Paul S. Reinsch, former American Minister to China, spoke here today at the Chinese "Humiliation Day" mass meeting, marking the fifth anniversary of the acceptance by China of the Japanese "Twenty-one-Demand" ultimatum. He told of the spread of the merchant-student movement in China and said that the young men of new China asked that other nations should not make further encroachments on China during this critical period.

The new movement, he said, had united the student and merchant classes for the first time in China's history, and he added that the future promised well for the establishment of a central Government that could protect Chinese interests.

The meeting was held under the auspices of the Chinese Nationalist League.

NEW YORK

Are You Going Abroad?

It is difficult to obtain a berth on any of the outgoing transatlantic steamers, for, while the traffic is fully as large as in pre-war years, the tonnage is only one-third of 1914.

Passports are to be had without undue delay, but after the passport is issued it must be viséed by the consuls of the countries to be visited, sailing permit obtained, and, of course, and above all, receipt for income taxes in full shown, or guarantee provided for payment of unpaid installments.

After obtaining transportation, your next consideration is the means of financing yourself while abroad, and those who do not happen to carry accounts with foreign banks naturally turn to the time honored letter of credit and the traveller's check. These are the safest and best means of carrying funds.

The letter and check issued by the Harriman National Bank are available in all parts of the world, at hotels, and other similar places of public resort generally. The charge for the service afforded by the letter or the check is nominal and, if drawn in the currency of the country, they are sold at the current rate of exchange. At the same time, the dollar letter of credit may be had which possesses the advantage of requiring but one exchange conversion. If funds are needed in additional amount to that for which the original letter was drawn, they can by arrangement be added to the document.

The Harriman National Bank will also care for securities, taking full charge of details connected therewith, and its safe deposit vaults offer a useful service.

DU PONT
WAR SURPLUS PLANT SITES

Is your plant "logically located"?

Does your present location offer as many worth-while advantages as Hopewell, Va.? A wide variety of industries already located there.

Are trade centres shifting in your industry?

If you were to rebuild today, would you select your present site?

Is your production hampered by adverse labor and housing conditions?

Are excessive power costs, taxes and water rates cutting down your profits?

Is your business suffering for lack of adequate transportation facilities?

Are you without room to expand your plant to take care of the increased demand that's coming?

Would a branch factory located at a place of greater strategic value help to solve your production and marketing problems?

Would lower freight rates make it easier for you to compete.

Do you have to fight a hostile local government to prevent harassing restrictions on your business?

Do you need the help of technical and traffic experts to work out your particular problems?

Are you looking for a suitable place to begin a manufacturing business?

The vital elements of a logical location are found at Hopewell, Virginia. If lack of any of these elements is hampering your production or distribution then your plant is not logically located.

Hopewell is the logical location because it offers to manufacturers:

Proximity to sources of raw material and fuel.
Low power costs.
Abundance of pure water.
Low freight rates.
Factory buildings.
Adequate railroad facilities.
Plentiful contented labor.
Homes for workers.
Freedom from harmful municipal restrictions.
Even climate.
Sites with railroad sidings.
Tidewater shipping facilities.

These advantages have already attracted to Hopewell the following diversified industries: Trunks and bags, pottery, steel tools, electrical supplies, wool and cotton waste, bag recovery, paper pulp and textiles.

Hopewell's industrial activity is not limited to these lines. There are unusual possibilities for other basic and secondary industries that logically belong at Hopewell.

Are you "logically located"? Put your problems up to our Technical and Traffic Experts. At no other location will you find the remedy for so many of your industrial handicaps.

Write, phone or wire for additional information.

R & M Motors Stand Heat and Cold

Manufacturers of motor-driven devices are particular to know all about the reputation and construction of the motor they use and the ability of that motor to deliver the dependable power their products require.

Mr. W. E. Mettler, Purchasing Agent of the American Blower Co., Detroit, Mich., says: "The small Robbins & Myers Motors used by our company as equipment for certain types of our blowers over a period of years have proved worthy of the implicit confidence we have placed in them."

In one use mentioned, the blowers operate ventilating systems for auditoriums, halls, hospitals and churches. This often subjects the motors to severe cold. Another extreme, found in kitchens, engine rooms, and forges, puts the R&M Motors in intensely hot temperature.

Robbins & Myers Motors, from 1-40 to 50 h. p., have for years been recognized in industrial uses and on fans and office and household devices as the acme of motor construction, reliability and dependability. The R&M name plate is all you need know about a motor or a motor-driven device.

Sister Ships—NOPATIN and NARRAGANSETT

The NOPATIN (ex MANHATTAN) and NARRAGANSETT are sister ships, built in 1913. They are 3,539 ton steel ships, with passenger accommodations for about 532. Length 320 feet, breadth 48 feet 1 inch, draft 16 feet. Cargo space between decks approximately 45,000 cubic feet. These vessels have a recorded speed of 23 knots and are ideally suited for Sound, river or coastwise service. They are excellent seagoing vessels and during the war carried troops across the ocean.

APPRAISED VALUE:
NOPATIN $350,000
NARRAGANSETT $275,000

Steam Yachts

You may find among these yachts one just suited to your desires. They are excellent vessels, including the WINCHESTER, built in 1916, a trim fast yacht, with a recorded speed of 31 knots.

$15,000 Room Rent

Suppose you could hire a Gargantuan hall, fill it with a million and a half housewives from all parts of our country and arrange with these prospective buyers of your goods for a brief hearing—all of this at a cost of say $15,000 per convention.

Supposing that you had arranged such a convention and were in search of a speaker to address this gathering of 1,500,000—what would you pay for the world's most interesting and convincing speaker?

If you could afford one cent per woman to assemble an audience, what could you not afford for the presentation of your story to that audience?

When you advertise in The Delineator and The Designer, you have the ear of 1,500,000 housewives—for a brief period.

For profit's sake, employ the best advertising brains available to plead before such a supreme court of opportunity.

Aluminum Thick Hotel Ware

In keeping with the high standard maintained throughout their service, these progressive steamship lines installed "Wear-Ever" on their ships many years ago because of the cleanliness, convenience, durability and economy of "Wear-Ever."

They have found that "Wear-Ever" is not an expense but a profitable investment —that because "Wear-Ever" thick utensils are made of hard thick sheet aluminum with double thick bottoms and without joints or seams they are ideally suited to the severe usage utensils receive on steamships.

And they also have found that "Wear-Ever" saves the bother and expense of sending utensils ashore to be repaired because "Wear-Ever" never needs tinning.

The metal in "Wear-Ever" is so hard and dense, as a result of being subjected, time and again, to the tremendous pressure of gigantic rolling mills, that it is non-porous and does not absorb food juices and odors and transmit them from one food to another.

"Wear-Ever" thick hotel ware is made in the same factory and in the same way as are the "Wear-Ever" utensils that are giving such satisfactory service in tens of thousands of homes. The only difference is in styles and thickness of metal.

OBREGON'S TRIUMPH.

The appeal of President Carranza to the Mexican people to stand firm and resist the insurgent Generals who were marching on the capital was a portent of the downfall of his Administration. He has fled in the direction of Vera Cruz, following the example of Porfirio Diaz, against whom he once rebelled, and General Alvaro Obregon's troops are in the City of Mexico, which probably has welcomed them with open arms. The "revolution" had spread like quicksilver to all parts of the country.

According to one account of the President's flight, he left a train precipitately when insurgents captured it at Tlaxcala on the road to Vera Cruz, mounted a horse with his party and was being pursued by General Sanchez of the Obregon forces. It was Carranza's second experience as a fugitive, for in 1913, with a price upon his head, he rode by night through Durango to Sonora to escape the Huertistas. As his chances of slipping by the insurgent patrols are not good now, it is a relief to know that General Obregon has promised that the life of his old leader will be spared. The lesson of the refusal to recognize the Huerta Government has not been lost upon the present aspirant to the Presidency.

The movement to overthrow Madero began with a cuartelazo, a military mutiny, and was an infamous business from beginning to end. Compared with it, the plot of certain Generals to cast out Carranza was respectable. They quickly attracted followers in every part of the country, and it soon became evident that a rising tide of unpopularity was submerging the constitutional Administration. General Obregon temporarily becomes Dictator. The Presidential election was to occur on July 4. It will be in his power to make himself the choice of the people and ask for recognition by the United States. The next forty-eight hours will tell the story of the usurper's control of the army, including ambitious Generals like Pablo Gonzalez. There is one trouble spot, Tampico, which has been captured by the insurgents. American marines may be needed there. The destroyers racing down from Key West cannot arrive too soon.

MR. MORGENTHAU'S MISSION.

A persistent report that the disorders in Mexico had cooled Mr. Henry Morgenthau's desire to serve in that country as Ambassador of the United States, has led the gentleman who frustrated the designs of German emissaries at Constantinople on more than one occasion and showed dexterity as well as boldness in protecting nationals when Turkey entered the war, to announce that if the Senate confirms the appointment made by President Wilson on March 23 he will go to the City of Mexico to present his credentials when he is needed.

It may be supposed, remembering Mr. Morgenthau's dramatic experiences in Turkey, that difficulties attract him and evoke his powers of finesse, conciliation, compromise and decision. He has rendered sterling service in one political storm centre where passions seethed as in a caldron, and his knowledge of human nature should stand him in good stead when he is called upon to deal with tortuous stratagems in the close atmosphere of the City of Mexico.

The delay of the Senate in confirming the Morgenthau nomination was not commendable, indeed had a peculiar look as if not untinged with partisanship, in March and early April; but the outburst of Mexican insurgency, with the resultant instability of the Carranza Administration, has of late justified the policy of making haste slowly. Diplomacy has no part to play in promoting friendly relations with Mexico when governments may change overnight at the point of the bayonet and when the victors may be at one another's throats in the next twenty-four hours. It is true that an Ambassador on the spot may retain influence enough to command respect for the rights of his own and other nationals, but the United States has now a representative at the capital who could be of service in a crisis.

Mr. Morgenthau's work was to be constructive, healing, and in the sequel advantageous to both countries. He was to maintain American rights, guard American interests, promote relations of amity, and stand between the Mexicans and exploiters who waved the American flag to conceal their designs and provoke intervention. The time for that kind of diplomacy is not now. The issue between the Carranza Government and the insurgents must have been fought out and a Government of something more than a temporary character must be prepared to receive Ambassador Morgenthau before he can render the service for which he was selected by President Wilson.

POLITICAL ECONOMICS AND ECONOMIC POLITICS.

The economic restoration of Germany is desired and needed by all the world; there can be no disputing that. It is particularly badly needed by France, whose own recovery is felt to depend in great measure on the German indemnity; but the restoration of Germany will help France only if Germany pays the indemnity. If Germany recovered and paid next to nothing, France would get some profit out of her share of German trade, as on a very moderate scale she has already done; but French profit on such transactions would be more than offset by the disadvantage of a strong and prosperous Germany, untouched by war and paying no indemnity, while the industrial districts of France are laboriously being rebuilt.

These considerations are so obvious that one wonders why they are so often overlooked. England needs German trade, and now that there is no longer any danger of Germany taking the commercial leadership of the world away from the British the British interest calls for the speedy revival of Germany. So British policy has been of late powerfully influenced, sometimes indeed controlled, by economics. But in Germany economics depends on political considerations, just as it does to a great extent in France. For France the outstanding fact in international affairs today is that Germany does not disarm and Germany does not pay. Germany armed is dangerous; Germany armed and wealthy will be still more dangerous. Until the French get some assurance that German production will be devoted in part to the restoration of France, they must insist on the Treaty.

A Berlin dispatch to Saturday's Times presented the views of Hermann Waldemann Schroeder, an eminent German banker who has already participated in economic discussions with France and who has lately evaded an appointment as German representative at the forthcoming meetings at Spa. He is pessimistic. The demands of the Allies are unthinkable. Germany cannot even make any estimates of her ability to pay till she knows whether she can keep Upper Silesia with its coal fields from going to the Poles. Moreover, any more revolutionary conspiracies would upset any plans for payment that the Germans might propose. For himself, he does not think Germany could pay even $10,000,000,000, but he admits that some German experts think she could do this "if certain German demands are "granted and if Germany should "henceforth enjoy normal conditions." That is to say, if the German delegates at Spa obtain still more concessions.

The honesty of Herr Schroeder's contentions may be judged by his assertion, as an argument for revision of the Treaty, that "the Treaty provides "that Germany must not pay less "taxes and revenues than any of the "allied and associated countries." It is true, as he says, that Germany cannot pay as much in taxes as England or America, but the Treaty does not call for that, and Herr Schroeder must know that it does not. What the Treaty does say is that German taxes must be "fully as heavy proportionately" as those of any nation represented on the Reparations Commission. So long as the Germans deliberately falsify evidence open to all it is hard to believe anything that they say.

Meanwhile Hugo Stinnes, the coal and iron king, has been buying up newspapers in various parts of Germany, his latest acquisition being the Norddeutsche Allgemeine Zeitung, long the organ of the Government. Stinnes belongs to the Deutsche Volkspartei, successor to the old National Liberals and representative chiefly of great industrial interests, and Berlin dispatches report a great increase in the membership of this party, the deserters coming chiefly from Bernstorff's Democratic Party, but including a good many conservatives. Why should the party of big business grow so rapidly? Because its prospects are good. It can appeal to the motive of economic interest, devoid of all moral and political considerations, whose strength in various allied countries was demonstrated by the discussion of Mr. Keynes's book. Specifically, the Volkspartei must look toward England, for its interest and British mercantile interest are identical. The great combination of British banking interests for trade with Central Europe, whose organization coincided so remarkably with Mr. Lloyd George's opposition to the French advance to Frankfort and with the rise of the mark, must offer much hope to Herr Stinnes and his colleague. If economic politics is to gain in favor in England, the Germans can hope to escape with an easy indemnity or none.

But France has to consider safety before trade. France is going to Spa to insist on the enforcement of the Treaty, to make sure that the Germans do not refuse to work so long as there is danger of a heavy indemnity and start back to work with enthusiasm when they can work for their own profit alone. The proposal of the International Parliamentary Commercial Congress to issue bonds based on the German indemnity, and virtually to use these bonds to pay the Continent's obligations to England and America, is a wholly unsound measure from the financial point of view. But as a matter of political economics it is easily intelligible. It represents the interest of the nations who have suffered most, and who hope for indemnities, in getting England and America on their side. If England, and America more particularly, should take these bonds, we should have an interest in the recovery of the indemnity approaching that of France. The plan will hardly succeed, but we cannot wash our hands of Europe. Charity and forgiveness cost nothing in this country and little in England, but they are expensive on the Continent. Man is not yet a purely economic animal, though the Keynes school treats him as such.

A CANDIDATE IN TROUBLE.

Senator Johnson will be well advised if he chooses the first way that offers, if it be the shortest and speediest way, of backing out of his controversy with Mr. Hoover about the League of Nations. There are terrible truths in this paragraph of Mr. Hoover's reply to the statement made by the Senator on Saturday:

> The world is drifting further and further into increasing antagonism, increasing armament. We are faced with crushing taxation for increased military establishment. Our economic relations with the world are becoming more and more demoralized because of the delay in settlement of these questions. This demoralization is already manifesting itself in the prices of raw materials from our farms, and will soon manifest itself in the employment of our workers.
>
> Is the Senator prepared to give us a constructive solution of these problems? If so, what?

Senator Johnson is reminded that "the Presidency is an office of constructive leadership"; that "destructive criticism without alternative proposals" cannot be called a policy, it is not statesmanship. He declares that he would welcome "a real attempt to promote peace"; he has "never opposed a league to prevent war and reduce armament." Mr. Hoover calls upon him to answer these questions:

> Will the Senator change his expression from "I have never opposed a league" to "I will support a league for this purpose," and will he state what the construction of that league is to be, and where it will differ from the League with the reservations as agreed to by the majority of the Senate?

Senator Johnson cannot unequivocally declare that he will support any genuine league of nations. He does not. Such a league would have to include England. His advocacy of it would cost him his entire Sinn Fein support. Avowedly its purpose would be to prevent the beginning of another war by Germany or any country like Germany. Should Senator Johnson advocate such a league he would lose all his pro-German supporters, all the radicals who have been attracted to him, for radicals everywhere oppose restraint upon Germany. Besides, it would be impossible for him to devise or propose a league worth formulating that would not be in structure and essentials the counterpart of the League agreed to at Paris.

Mr. Hoover might have added that the responsibility for the evils that are upon the world and other evils and dangers into which it is drifting rests upon the shoulders of Senator Johnson and his accomplice, Senator Lodge.

NEW YORK DEMOCRATS.

New York State's delegation to the Democratic National Convention is faithful to the traditions and the practices that for many years have given the majority of Democratic representatives of the Empire State in such bodies so imperial an influence and won them so much consideration and respect. In 1892 Grover Cleveland was renominated on the first ballot against the protests of the Tammany patriots and despite the resonant orotundity of the same master of rhetoric who composed the curious endless chain of sophistries about disarmament to be submitted to the decision of the San Francisco assembly.

In 1912 the New York delegation fought Mr. Wilson with all its ineptitude. It sat silent while Mr. Bryan took its hide off. Its impotence, its ignorance, its incapability to comprehend public sentiment or any large and generous purpose in public affairs, its genius for blunder, stripped it of power. Its moral weight and authority were at least in inverse proportion to its numbers. The unit rule fetters its few more intelligent and independent members. It is wrong and futile every time it has an opportunity.

At the Albany conference the penetrating intellect of East Fourteenth Street contemplated the world. This was a sublime effort at mental enlargement, but the material was too scanty. Mr. Wilson and his memorable work were not visible to most of those Albany eyes, not used, indeed, to long distances and great objects, trained mostly for observation of "districts" and "jobs." This was an unconscious compliment, and, since these gentlemen will have to swallow at San Francisco strong resolutions approving the Administration, no humane heart should regret that the bitter dose is not to be inflicted twice on those tender stomachs.

Inevitably, the League of Nations couldn't recommend itself to these statesmen, but it does seem as if their artless ignorance rather than their credulity was exploited in the extraordinary resolution or homily on disarmament. Afraid to say anything direct against the League, unwilling to say anything in its favor, the majority evaded the issue and committed itself to an absurd and impossible proposal, which stands logic on its head and puts the cart before the horse. Instead of trying to get disarmament under the League, which exists and is the only possible means in connection with growing moral sentiment and economic pressure of arriving at lasting international peace and substantial disarmament, Albany cries for "immediate, universal, complete" laying down of arms!

That is "the absolute essential of "deliverance from the perils that "overhang civilization." That simple essential fulfilled, "there can be no "doubt whatever that disarmament "would provide a league of nations, "for the purpose, at least, of estab"lishing tribunals to hear disputes in "the hope of composing them by "peaceful discussion." This is delicious and John Phoenix and Mark Twain would have enjoyed it. What is impossible save under the covenant of the League of Nations, and long impossible, perhaps, even under that, is immediately, completely, universally to be accomplished without a league. Then and thereby "a league of nations," some simulacrum of The Hague, is to be set up.

If peace and war, the weal and woe of humankind, are proper subjects of fooling, this is excellent fooling. It is an insult even to the intelligence of a village idiot. Former Judge Seabury told the conference that the attempt to run away from a direct approval or disapproval of Mr. Wilson and the League of Nations "will subject us to "universal ridicule within forty-eight "hours." He overestimated the time required, but universal ridicule and contempt are treasured heirlooms in New York Democratic delegations to National Conventions.

SAVE THE POSTAL SERVICE.

In the New York Post Office there is a sign offering employment as letter carriers to new men at 60 cents an hour. The regular members of the force see this sign as often as they go in and out. On entering the service they had to pass a strict qualifying examination and for many years received pay ranging only from $600 to $1,000 a year. Even today, thoroughly qualified and practiced as they are, they receive only 41 to 57 cents an hour as against the 60 cents which is paid to raw recruits. This is typical of conditions throughout the department. Some of the higher officials are actually receiving less today than their predecessors received forty years ago. Many of them are receiving only 5 per cent. more than the same position paid as long ago as 1907. It is not strange that there have been 800 resignations since the beginning of the year, and that resignations are continuing at the rate of 200 a month. Good men are going.

The authorities at Washington are not unaware of the crisis. Fourteen months ago a Federal commission began investigating postal wages. But as yet it has made no report and Congress is likely to take a recess in June. Unless immediate action is taken business is threatened with one more setback. In happier times a merchant could send his mail to the box with the assurance that it would be delivered promptly and that an answer might be expected on schedule time. Without such assurance all business is disordered and keen competition becomes impossible. Today over one-third of the 10,000 clerks in the New York Post Office are new hands. If this progressive loss of trained men continues, the result must be seriously harmful to the service.

The situation throws a vivid light upon the general conduct of the department. According to Secretary Burleson's figures, there has been a considerable profit. Such a statement is made possible only by the absence of items which would figure prominently if the Post Office were conducted as private enterprises have to be conducted. Many overhead charges are absent and the Government has a signal advantage in making rates with the railways. And now it appears that the great mass of employés have been so miserably underpaid that the service is threatened with disintegration. Yet Mr. Burleson not only announced a financial triumph, but reduced the rate of postage from the three-cent to the two-cent basis. The wartime increase was a tax imposed without expense and collected from those who profited by the service. But it was discarded with a flourish. When the just and inevitable increases of salary are granted there will be no way equally logical and economical of meeting the deficit.

The time has come, nevertheless, to cease playing for statistical results with the department and get down to business. Whatever the cost, the postal service must be saved.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Independence Restored to the Blind.

Philanthropy at its very best and in its most intelligent form is receiving illustration now, as it has been for five years past and as it promises to be for years to come, at St. Dunstan's Hostel, Regent's Park, London, and in the five country "annexes" maintained in connection with it.

This is the great institution founded and carried on by Sir Arthur Pearson, himself a blind man, for the benefit of British soldiers who lost their eyesight in the World War. It has now been in operation for five years, and its "graduates," scattered all over the British Empire, number more than a thousand. The number of men still under treatment does not decrease. Some of them are suffering from injuries in addition to loss of their eyes and necessitating prolonged care, and the arrival of others whose blindness is of late development, though also a result of battle injuries, keeps the St. Dunstan family at about the size it attained soon after its establishment on the beautiful estate lent for the purpose by Mr. Otto Kahn.

Though the first, and always chief, object of the Hostel is to make the blinded soldiers self-supporting in one or another of the surprisingly numerous trades, professions and industries for which it has been found they can be trained successfully, the Hostel itself is not self-supporting, nor does it want to be, and there is no hesitation about recognizing the fact that these men, until economic independence has been attained, must have the financial help they have earned so well. The Hostel therefore is, in one sense, a "charity," but it pauperizes none of its beneficiaries, and the one vocation for which St. Dunstan's unfits them is beggary, formerly about the only industry of which the blind were thought to be capable. Always the effort is to restore the man, if possible, to the work he did when he had his sight, and it has been found practicable to do this in astonishingly many cases.

Much of the success achieved at St. Dunstan's Hostel is due to the elaborate system of after-care bestowed upon the blind men after they have been trained and started in business or work. Communication is kept up with them until they are thoroughly well established as self-supporting citizens. They are visited regularly by the members of a special traveling staff, helped out of difficulties into which, naturally enough, men so seriously handicapped occasionally fall, and advised competently as to the quality of their work and how to improve it. Of course, these blinded soldiers everywhere have sympathetic and helpful neighbors, and this fact does not a little to mitigate their deprivation.

In the fifth annual report of the Hostel there are printed many letters from former inmates. The cheerfulness and hopefulness, as well as the warm gratitude for aid and training received, are in strange contrast with what Americans have had to hear of late about the workings of their own very expensive vocational schools for men injured in the war. Perhaps if we, too, could have had a blind man at the head of these schools their record would have been better. St. Dunstan's makes much use of its own graduates in executive positions and as instructors.

He Should Proceed with Care.

Very possibly Canon Chase would not see merit in the Walker Boxing bill, however carefully and honestly it had been drawn, but that he as well as many other people should view it with suspicion is entirely natural, for the men behind it—those really more interested in its enactment than its most easily visible and audible advocates—do not inspire confidence.

So, though the Canon's hostility to the bill may be somewhat exaggerated by disinclination to discriminate between boxing and prize fighting, Governor Smith should give attention, nevertheless, to the "joker" which the Canon has found, and curiously investigate the motive that led to the mentioning in the measure of "the International Sporting Club of Greater New York, Inc."

Whatever the virtues of that not very famous organization, there is no obvious reason why it should exercise a sort of "concurrent jurisdiction" with the Army, Navy and Civilian Board of Boxing Control. Where no obvious reasons appear, reasons not obvious usually can be discovered by search sufficiently prolonged, and reasons not obvious are apt to be bad ones.

To boxing as sport and exercise no just or sensible objection can be made, but boxing never yet has been commercialized and conducted as a business for profit without developing scandal and deserving condemnation. Some people of excellent repute do want the Governor to sign the Walker bill, but more people who have no repute at all are even more eager for him to do it, and the second group would not be apt to like a really estimable law.

America Again Discovered.

Admirers of Bolshevism and Bolsheviki must be shocked by the lack of enthusiasm for either shown by Emma Goldman in a letter sent to an American friend. She went to Russia against her will, indeed, but certainly without any prepossessions or prejudices against the economic and governmental systems she found in operation there. At any rate, before her accelerated, or assisted, departure she had often expressed warm admiration for the innovations of her friends Lenin and Trotzky, and even the severest of her critics never have accused her of insincerity.

Yet it is evident from her letter that she is not happy in Russia; that she has not received the welcome she hoped, and that the United States, viewed from a distance, has acquired in her eyes charms which she had not noticed while she was here.

Especially notable is the fact that this very Red person has formed no new friendships abroad to make her cease to lament communion with the friends left behind. She seems actually to be lonesome and homesick!

ONE IMMIGRATION DILEMMA.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The article on "Our Immigration Dilemma" in the Sunday Times of May 2 is not only interesting but unusually full of information. It states the dilemma effectively. Moreover it urges a highly important suggestion—"the organization of the labor market," a step essential to the attainment of a stable and contented social order.

Still the writer leaves the dilemma where he found it. Suppose the labor market is completely and effectively organized, what would be our attitude toward immigration? Would we then advocate its suspension, as the American Federation of Labor and the American Legion urge? Or would we seek rather to promote the largest possible immigration, as the Interracial Council urges in the hope of cutting down the high cost of living?

Is it not clear that even a well organized labor market will still leave us both needing and fearing immigration? Without any new immigration of men who are willing to do the rough manual work on roads, railroads and farms, and in subways, mines and forests, it looks as though the physical basis of our American life would crumble. A serious catastrophe threatens our entire social structure. It is becoming topheavy. Adequate food, transportation and raw materials are essential if as a nation we are to be kept prosperous, contented and busy. We certainly need immigration.

Yet, on the other hand, the danger of a mighty flood from Europe is immediately before us. None can measure it. The situation in Europe may in two or three years become such that every man and woman will want to get away and come to our shores. An immigration of two or three million a year or even more is by no means unthinkable. Could we take them in and employ them, keeping our own people happy, peaceful and occupied? Could a perfected "organization of the labor market" at all control the situation, so long as immigration is uncontrolled?

The real solution for "Our Immigration Dilemma" is to be found in the "regulation of immigration." We should admit to our shores only so many as we have reason from experience to believe we can wholesomely Americanize and steadily employ. Each people should be studied and dealt with separately. Only so many should be admitted from each separate people as our developing experience with immigrants of that people shows us is wise. On coming in, do they settle as a rule in the cities, in already congested areas? Or do they go into new regions—into the country? Do they or do they not show themselves eager and able to learn English and to enter wholesomely into our life and share in our institutions? Or do they wish to import their diverse political ideas and to upset our institutions and our government? Do they as a rule go into occupations already overcrowded and tend to force down wages and living conditions? Or do they move out into areas where they can secure American standards of wages and will adopt American ideals of life?

Different peoples respond differently to their opportunities here. In the light of our growing knowledge of their response and in the light also of our need for and of our capacity to give them steady employment on an American standard of life, should not their immigration here be regulated? These are the principles advocated by the National Committee for Constructive Immigration Legislation. It advocates neither complete suspension of immigration nor the continuance of the present policy of free immigration. It strikes a medium course and urges the regulation of immigration.

The Trucking Tie-up.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The life and business of New York City depend on its transportation services and are endangered by rash and ill-considered measures which affect its transportation. Is not the recent belligerent "challenge" of the Merchants' Association to the trucking unions just such a rash measure? If four coastwise steamship lines, moving 3 to 5 per cent. of New York City's freight, do not accept a governmental award, and so get in trouble with their men, is that difficulty to be remedied by snarling up trucking service throughout the city? I believe that to be a fair statement of the facts in this case and of the alleged "plan" of the Merchants' Association. It would be a public service if our newspapers would call attention rather to the need for dispassionate study and practical constructive solution of so important a problem.

HOPELESS.

Have you been investigated? Have you had an exposé?
Are the questionnaires arriving in your mail box day by day?
Has your past received an airing? Have you felt your vitals burn
In the limelight of inspection, or, if not, when is your turn?

If you haven't yet been questioned on the deeds that you have wrought,
If you haven't made confession of the thinks that you have thought,
If you haven't faced indictment, been suspected or accused,
Ragged by the Judiciary or by somebody abused,

If there's nobody that hates you, none that hankers for your gore,
If there's no one jealous of you, no one with a head that's sore,
If, to date, they've overlooked you, there remains one chance alone—
Bribe somebody to attack you—if it costs you all you own!

If you haven't been dissected, scalped or beaten to a pulp,
If opinion has not stung you nor consumed you at a gulp,
Either hustle for a hearing where you, too, can rant and rave,

Every cat must catch its weasel, every rat be made to squeak.
Honest men must stand the racket or get into other games.

Therefore, if there's no one waiting, no one ready with the knife,
Jump plumb into the arena—dare them to reveal your life.
If you're shy a foe it's hopeless—either conjure one, or buy—
Be exposed, investigated! If you cannot be—go die!

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 9.—Over 1,000 delegates attended the opening session of the thirty-fourth annual convention of the Independent Order of B'rith Abraham this afternoon on the Steel Pier.

Gustave Hartman, of New York, Grand Master, presided. In his annual address he recommended that a social branch be established, that the endowment and relief fund taxes be increased, and advocated the publication of a monthly fraternal journal.

Mr. Hartman urged that the convention raise a fund of from $500,000 to $1,000,000 for the relief of the Jewish war sufferers in Europe. He was responsible for a resolution forbidding gifts to the Grand Master at the end of his term. It has been customary to present $3,000 at the end of each year. Mr. Hartman is the first to serve without remuneration.

Mayor Harry Bacharach, of Atlantic City, welcomed the visitors, and in his address commended the work of the order. Justice Brandeis, of the United States Supreme Court, is expected to address the convention tomorrow. Means of aiding the Jews in Palestine to establish a permanent nation will be discussed.

Homes for the order in every big city in the United States will be advocated in connection with the discussion on an enlarged program. The order has 168,000 members, and last year the total receipts amounted to $1,068,125.58. Grand Master Hartman will be re-elected on Tuesday, and Max L. Hollander, of New York, will be re-elected Grand Secretary for his seventh term. His salary was increased today from $4,000 to $5,000 a year.

To succeed the late Leopold Moskowitz, of New York, as counsel, the candidates include Jacob Weinberger, of New York, temporarily filling the vacancy, and Adolph Stern, Isidore Scherer and William Weiss, all of New York.

EPISCOPALIANS MEET TODAY

Although it is now quite certain there will be no assistant bishop elected for a year, many other important matters will come before the 137th annual convention of the Episcopal Diocese of New York, which opens a three days' session in Synod Hall today. A number of resolutions which have been submitted and are printed on the convention calendar are expected to provide interesting discussions.

One of the resolutions asks that women be permitted to serve on vestries and as delegates to the diocesan convention. It is signed by the Rev. Dr. John R. Arkinson, rector of Christ Episcopal Church, Broadway and Seventy-first Street.

The convention's approval of the Eighteenth Amendment "as a great moral advance, a help to clean thinking and clean living, and a strong bulwark against many of the evils which society, business and politics have been heir to in the past," will be asked in a resolution signed by the Rev. Dr. James V. Chalmers, a leader in the Church Temperance Society.

Everett P. Wheeler will sponsor a resolution directed against certain church forums. The Rev. Dr. Percy Stickney Grant, pastor of the Church of the Ascension, will support one asking the convention to give careful consideration, sympathy and support to church forums.

The convention will open at 11 o'clock with a corporate celebration of the Holy Communion in the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, with Bishop Charles S. Burch officiating. The roll of those who have died during the year will be read, with the name of the late Bishop Greer at the head of the list. At 2 o'clock the convention will organize in Synod Hall, when Bishop Burch will read his annual address.

BUTLER'S STAND ON RUSSIA.

Candidate Opposes Recognition by U. S. of Soviet Government.

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, candidate for the Republican nomination for President, informed the National Civic Federation yesterday that he opposed recognition of the Soviet Government of Russia. Dr. Butler's statement was in reply to a telegram from Alton B. Parker, President of the Federation, which recently filed a protest against recognition with President Wilson.

"I beg to say that I am absolutely opposed to the recognition by the Government of the United States of the so-called Soviet Government of Russia," said Dr. Butler. "Such recognition, if based upon grounds of possible commercial advantage, would be to sell American principles for money.

"The so-called Soviet Government of Russia is a tyranny of a small well-organized minority, which happens to occupy strategic points in the political and economic life of the Russian people. Their announced principles, which includes the exploitation of a people by a class, are abhorrent to every lover of liberty and to every believer in justice.

"I stand upon the doctrine stated by Theodore Roosevelt in his message to the Congress of the United States Dec. 6, 1904:

"'It is a mere truism to say that every nation, whether in America or anywhere else, which desires to maintain its freedom, its independence, must ultimately realize that the right of such independence cannot be separated from the responsibility of making good use of it.'"

TO HEAR DANIELS TODAY.

Admiral Sims to be Recalled in Naval Inquiry, Soon Ending.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—Investigation of the Navy Department's conduct of the war, begun by a Senate sub-committee more than four months ago, will enter on its concluding phase tomorrow, when Secretary Daniels begins his reply to the charges made by Rear Admiral Sims which precipitated the inquiry. Following cross-examination of the Secretary, Chairman Hale plans to recall Admiral Sims in rebuttal and close the hearings.

Mr. Daniels has prepared an extended statement which he will begin to read to the committee tomorrow. It is expected he will take two or three days to finish this, but if his cross-examination does not take more time than is now considered probable the committee members believe that the hearings may be concluded this week and the work of drafting a report to the full naval committee will then be taken up next week.

HAYS MADE CHURCH ELDER.

Republican National Committee Head Succeeds His Late Father.

Will H. Hays, Chairman of the Republican National Committee, has been ordained an Elder in the Presbyterian Church at Sullivan, Ind. He will succeed his father, John T. Hays, who died a year ago, and who was an Elder in the same church for thirty consecutive years. When the elder Hays died the Church Session did not fill his place, but left it open for his son to accept.

Despite the pressure of his work, Mr. Hays found time to attend the Church Session yesterday and be ordained. At a meeting of the Republican National Committee in Chicago it was impossible to obtain a clergyman to perform the opening function, and Chairman Hays himself opened the meeting with prayer.

REUNION HELD BY Y. M. H. A.

Twentieth Anniversary of Erection of Building Observed by Dinner.

The erection of the Young Men's Hebrew Association Building, at Lexington Avenue and Ninety-second Street, twenty years ago, was celebrated at a reunion dinner in the institution last night. About 200 attended.

Judge Irving Lehman, President of the association, was the toastmaster. The speakers included Dr. S. Newton Leo, its founder, and Edward Lauterbach, one of its first members.

Jacob H. Schiff, who supplied the capital for the building of the association's headquarters, was unable to attend the function.

SOVIET CHIEFS FIND LABOR IS DESERTING

DENOUNCED FOR TRADING

Called Parasites by Trotzky and Profiteers by Others—Production Only a Third of Former Output.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—More captured Bolshevist documents just received in Washington, which confirm out of the mouths of Soviet leaders themselves the definite reports which had reached the Allies from independent sources as to the collapse of the Soviet industrial and economic systems were made public in Washington tonight.

The documents include reports on economic conditions inside Soviet Russia, made before a recent session of the Congress of Delegates from Councils of National Economy, trade unions and the Moscow Soviet, by Leon Trotzky, the Bolshevist Minister of War; A. Rykov, Chairman of the Supreme Council of National Economy in the Soviet Government, and by M. Tomski, Chairman of the Central Council of Trade Unions.

The reports all deal with the steady decline of industrial productivity in Soviet Russia since the rise of Bolshevist power, and on the phenomenon of a labor shortage in industry when the demand for labor is at a low mark.

These reports were among the official Soviet documents, not intended for the outside world, which have just reached Washington from Helsingfors, where they came into the possession of Gregory Alexinsky, a former Moderate Socialist member of the Russian Duma.

Trotzky in his report states that the 1,000,000 workers given by Rykov as employed in Bolshevist nationalized industry is an exaggerated figure. He says there are only 850,000 workers.

The lack of skilled labor is stated to be so acute that even establishments engaged in producing supplies and equipment for the Red Army have at times experienced the greatest difficulties in obtaining sufficient skilled workmen to enable operation to continue. Rykov characterizes the skilled labor shortage during the present industrial depression as one of the most dangerous phenomena of Russian economic life. It has attained such proportions, he says, that "we are unable to utilize certain establishments even though they are provided with raw material, only because of the lack of skilled labor."

Workers Desert Industrial Centres.

M. Tomski, in his report, commented on the labor shortage problem, as Chairman of the Central Council of Trade Unions.

"What has become of the labor forces of the industrial proletariat?" he asks in the report, and makes the following reply:

"If in capitalistic society a shortage of labor power marks the most intensive activity of industry, in our own case this has been caused by conditions which are unique and unprecedented in capitalist economic experience. Only part of our industry is at work and yet there is a shortage of labor power felt in the cities and industrial centres. We observe an exodus of laborers from industrial centres, caused by poor living conditions. Those hundreds of skilled laborers whom we are at present lacking for the most elementary and smallest requirements of industry have gone partly to the country, to labor communes, Soviet farms, producers' associations, while another part, a very considerable one, serves in the army.

"But the proletariat," continues Tomski, "also leaks away to join the ranks of petty profiteers and barter-traders, we are ashamed and sorry to confess. This fact is being observed and there is no concealing or denying it. There is also another cause which hurts the industrial life and hinders a systematic organization of work; this is the migration of workers from place to place in the search of better living conditions. All of this, again, is the result of the one fundamental cause—the very critical food situation in the cities and, in general, the hard conditions of life for the industrial proletariat."

Trotzky in his report on the same subject agrees with Tomski on what he characterizes as the "dissipation of the working classes." He says:

"Hunger, the unsettled dwelling problem and the cold are driving the workers from industrial centres to the country, and not only to the country, but also into the ranks of profiteering, into the ranks of parasites."

This view is also concurred in by Y. Kamenev, Chairman of the Moscow Soviet, who called the attention of the Congress to "the enemy whom the Moscow proletariat has felt already for some time to be present, but who has succeeded in growing up to full height and is now eating up the entire fabric of the new Socialistic economic structure."

Commenting on the industrial situation, Rykov's report states that the nationalization of industry has been quite thoroughly carried out by the Bolshevist authorities. In 1918, he says, the Soviets had nationalized 1,125 factories and mills. Toward the close of 1919 he gives the number of industrial establishments taken over by the State as about 4,000.

One-fourth of Industry Idle.

"Of these 4,000 establishments," Rykov continued, "only 3,000 are working at present. All the rest are closed and idle. The number of workers, by a rough estimate, is about 1,000,000. Thus you can see that both in point of numbers of the workmen employed as well as in point of numbers of still working establishments, the manufacturing industry is in the throes of a crisis."

Trotzky, in his report as received here, attempted to explain the industrial crisis by the destruction of technical equipment. Rykov, however, states that "the Soviet State, the workers' and peasants' power, could not utilize even those lathes, machines and factory equipment which were still at its disposal."

Out of 1,191 metallurgical plants 614 are reported as having been nationalized. These plants, according to Rykov, have only been able to fulfill 15 per cent. of the Russian metal requirements. They were supplied in 1919 with raw materials amounting to about 30 per cent. of the country's requirements, and of this amount they were only able to utilize half.

"This," according to Rykov, "is less than one-quarter of the need that must be satisfied in order to sustain a minimum of our industrial life."

It is affirmed in the reports that 30 to 40 per cent. of former production is the figure that prevails in the main branches of Russian industry, in other words, that Soviet Russia, industrially, is living only a third as well as Russia lived before the war. According to Rykov, Soviet Russia has been living on the supplies left over from pre-war Bolshevist Russia.

"But these supplies are becoming exhausted," he says. "We are daily and hourly approaching the final crisis in these branches of industry."

AMBULANCE MEN AT CHURCH

Three Hundred Delegates to Convention Attend Memorial Service.

More than 300 young men who were in the French Ambulance Service before America entered the war attended a memorial service yesterday in St. Thomas's Episcopal Church, Fifth Avenue and Fifty-third Street. They were in New York to attend a convention.

They entered the church behind the choir, carrying their banners and pennants and wearing their Croix de Guerre and other awards of honor. They were not in uniform.

MANAGERS AT SHOW AID ACTORS' EQUITY

FIDELITY PLAYERS ATTEND

All on Topheavy Program Win Applause, but Ethel Barrymore Is Cheered.

The Metropolitan Opera House was the scene last night of a great outpouring of the faithful for the benefit performance of the Actors' Equity Association. The occasion was the first public venture of the Equity since the disturbance of last August, but with the exception of Blanche Ring's singing of the Equity song of victory there was nothing to indicate this fact. Indeed, the gathering was far from all-Equity. Theatrical managers not only watched the show, but bid for the autographed photographs which Ed Wynn auctioned, and there was more than one prominent Fidelity player in the audience.

Every Equitarian within reach of New York was given an opportunity to participate, and the result was a topheavy program which continued until something after midnight.

Cheers For Ethel Barrymore.

There was, of course, applause for all. But there were cheers for Ethel Barrymore. Miss Barrymore appeared first to thank the audience for its presence, and again att he conclusion of the evening as Portia in a pageant of Shakespeare's heroines.

In some manner or other a goodly percentage of New York's prominent footlight folk were introduced to the audience. There was, of course, a rehearsal sketch by George V. Hobart, who seems to write one for every benefit. It presented Florence Moore as chief comedienne, and brought forth John Drew, Bruce McRae, Margaret Wycherly, Ernest Truex, Charles Cherry, Vincent Serrano, Grant Mitchell, and others.

There was the reminiscent song number, with Irene Franklin singing "Redhead;" Christie McDonald offering a number from "The Spring Maid," and Irene Bordoni, Adele Rowland, Peggy Wood, Tessa Kosta, Vivienne Segal, and others, going back from one to three seasons for various melodies. And through this number, albeit somewhat mysteriously, there moved the Svengali of Wilton Lackaye.

Fred Stone as Sharpshooter.

There was, too, Tom Wise's P. T. Barnum presiding over a circus which introduced Fred Stone as a sharpshooter (apparently a new accomplishment), the hilarious Charles Winninger as a lion tamer, W. C. Fields, James Barton, half of the Avon Comedy Four, and others. There was a dancing number, with the best of those from all the musical shows recruited to illustrate the art.

And, finally, there was the Shakespearean procession, with various interesting possibilities. Margalo Gillmore as Juliet, for example; Helen Ware as Lady Macbeth, Elsie Ferguson as Titania, Martha Hedman as Desdemona, and a dozen or more others—all names to conjure with.

Hassard Short was for the most part the directing genius of the entertainment, and the performance may well serve as a standard for benefits. Equity officials placed the aggregate receipts at something less than $40,000. The money will go toward the club house fund.

THREATENS DR. HALDEMAN.

Letter to Interchurch Movement Foe Warns of Attack.

In his second attack on the Interchurch World Movement, the Rev. Dr. I. M. Haldeman, pastor of the First Baptist Church, at Seventy-ninth Street and Broadway, told a large audience last night that it was the result of fear of the growing strength and solidarity of the Catholic Church on the part of Protestant Churches, who seek to unite against it. He said he had received a letter warning him that he had better be careful in his remarks if he "did not want to go home on a shutter." He congratulated the Southern Baptist Convention, which voted almost unanimously against participation in it. "All hail," said Dr. Haldeman, "to those who are unwilling to be subsidized by millionaires."

"The Interchurch World Movement," asserted the pastor, "would go out and solve the problems of the world by an intelligent application of the Golden Rule. The world is governed by selfish interest. All human history has been written by self-interest. Without it you can't overcome human inertia. And this self-interest carries a terrific peril. First comes self-interest, then competition, rivalry, and then war and hatred between nations. You've got to have a basis for the Golden Rule and that basis is the Son of God, not a religion based on ethics alone. You can't get that nature by evolution."

It was toward the end of his discourse that Dr. Haldeman said he had received several letters concerning his sermon of a week ago, among which was the one which threatened him with bodily violence.

BISHOP J. H. VINCENT DIES IN WEST AT 88

WAS A PROLIFIC WRITER

Founded Religious Publications and Long Represented Church in Europe.

CHICAGO, May 9.—The Rev. Dr. John Heyl Vincent, for many years a Bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church and notable, among other things, as the founder in 1878 of the Chautauqua Assembly in New York, died suddenly today at his home, 5,700 Blackstone Avenue, at the age of 88 years.

Bishop Vincent, who was the father of Dr. George Edgar Vincent, President of the Carnegie Foundation, made his home with his sister-in-law, Miss Caroline Dusenbury. Despite his advanced age he had the best of health until about two hours before his death, when he told Miss Dusenbury that he was not feeling well. Bishop Vincent's physician was summoned, made an examination, pronounced his heart action good and left. Soon after the Bishop collapsed and passed away. His record as minister, teacher and Bishop extended over seventy years, for he commenced to preach at the age of 18.

While no arrangements for the funeral have been announced, it is understood Bishop Vincent will be buried in Portville, N. Y., beside his wife.

The Chautauqua plan of assembly, which from an idea intended to broaden the outlook of Sunday school teachers grew into a national institution with a following running into the millions, was conceived by Bishop Vincent in 1874. Assisting the Bishop, who at his death was probably the oldest Bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church, was his coworker, the late Lewis Miller, a manufacturer of Akron, Ohio, father-in-law of Thomas A. Edison.

John Heyl Vincent was born in Tuscaloosa, Ala., on Feb. 23, 1832, and there he lived until his sixth year. At that time his parents moved to Northumberland County, Pennsylvania, and he was sent to the Milton and Lewisburg academies. Ending his courses in these institutions, he entered the preparatory department of Lewisburg University and it was while studying there that he began to reveal aspirations for the ministry. It was said that when he was barely 18 he preached his first sermon, and, developing his talent in that direction, he was licensed as an exhorter at McVeytown, Pa., in 1849. A year later he was licensed as a preacher.

In this capacity he traveled the Lucerne circuit of the Methodist Church, as mapped out at the Baltimore conference in 1851. Following this the young clergyman was assigned to duty with the Newark (N. J.) City Mission, serving there a year, in the course of which he was admitted to the New Jersey Annual Conference. In 1853 he was transferred to Illinois and successively held pastorates in Joliet, Mount Morris, Galena, Rockford and Chicago, going to the latter pulpit in 1865.

While stationed at Galena, Ill., Dr. Vincent numbered among his parishioners the man who later was to lead the union forces in the civil war, General U. S. Grant. Between them a fast friendship sprung up, and several years later when Dr. Vincent happened to be in Washington, the General introduced him to President Lincoln. "Dr. Vincent was my pastor in Galena," said Grant to Lincoln, "and I do not think that I missed one of his sermons while I lived there."

Launched Church Publications.

While officiating in Chicago, plans long cherished by Dr. Vincent began to mature. He long had held that there was a great need of Christian publications to supplement those already in the field, and with this idea in mind he launched the Northwestern Sunday School Quarterly in 1865. This publication sprang into instant favor and within a few issues attained a wide circulation through the Middle West. Encouraged by the success of his first venture, Dr. Vincent, in 1866, established the Sunday School Teacher.

With the establishment of these periodicals, devoted solely to furthering the work of the Sunday schools, there began to be emphasized in practically all of Dr. Vincent's work the importance of the instruction of the young. He went thrice to Palestine, Egypt and Europe, seeking materials with which to build still further his plans for the American schools.

Upon his return from one of these trips he found that his conference had directed him to assume charge of a congregation in Plainfield, N. J. While in Plainfield his great ambition, some sort of general assembly at which Sunday School teachers could meet and exchange ideas, began to take definite form. He talked of his project from his pulpit, and he interested prominent men in it. His idea, in his own words, was:

"The establishment of a Summer camp institute for the training of Sunday School workers; a Summer institute for thorough normal drill in the interest of the great body of earnest men and women who were in 1874 Sunday School teachers and officers representing all the various church denominations of the country."

Miller Gives His Aid.

One of the first to enlist in support of the plan was Mr. Miller. It was the intention at first to hold the first gathering in Mr. Miller's home city of Akron, but the manufacturer suggested instead that it be held in Chautauqua, which was known to them both as a camping and meeting spot. The official record of the first assembly, held from August 4 to 18, 1874, disclosed that Mr. Vincent had worked out fully a year in advance all arrangements for the affair.

In contrast to the big buildings and great system now characterising the gatherings throughout the country, the first assembly was held under the "pines and lights came only from pine fires at night." At Dr. Vincent's suggestion a program of entertainment, to relieve the monotony of the study periods, was installed, this feature being now the keystone of the Chautauqua of today.

With the success of his publishing ventures and the instant response that came to the Chautauqua, Dr. Vincent came to the forefront of his church. His counsel was invited in matters of national religious scope, and in 1888 he was made a Bishop of the Church.

Is Assigned to Europe.

Two years later he was made resident bishop abroad of the Methodist Episcopal Church, being in full charge of all European activities of that denomination. In 1904 he retired from the active episcopate, but from time to time preached at Wesleyan, Cornell, Yale and Harvard Universities.

Bishop Vincent was married to Elizabeth Dusenbury at Portville, N. Y., on Nov. 10, 1858. His wife died in the '70s.

The bishop was a prolific writer, mainly on religious themes. Among his better known books were "The Modern Sunday School," "Studies in Young Life," "Little Footprints in Bible Lands," "Earthly Footsteps of the Man of Galilee," "Family Worship for Every Day of the Year," "Outline History of England," "Outline History of Greece," and "The Church at Home."

In 1912, when past 80, Bishop Vincent preached in the South Park Avenue Church, Chicago, against the old-fashioned form of revival. The sermon roused several clergy present.

BAPTIST DRIVE GAINS.

Total Amount Subscribed to Date Is $54,353,593.

The drive of the New World Movement of Northern Baptists jumped yesterday by $4,000,000. The total of the $100,000,000 budget subscribed up to last night was $54,353,593.

New York City is past the $5,000,000 mark, and upper New York State shares with Pennsylvania the honor of having obtained more than $4,000,000. Subscriptions are coming in steadily.

It is predicted that North Dakota will complete its drive today and be the second State "over the top." The first was Arizona. Yesterday North Dakota was within $20,000 of its quota of $200,000.

The belief that hundreds of churches whose final reports are not yet in will collect millions was predicted last evening by the Rev. Dr. John Y. Aitchison, Director of the Board of Promotion of the Baptist movement.

"CHILD WELFARE," HER CRY.

Dr. Esther Pohl Lovejoy Is a Candidate for Congress.

Dr. Esther Pohl Lovejoy, who is widely known in the East, has announced herself as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress from the third district of Oregon.

Dr. Lovejoy went to France for the Red Cross, and on her return toured the country in the interest of war work. In speaking of her ambition to become a Representative from the Pacific Coast, Dr. Lovejoy said:

"The country does not need a political revolution. It does not need a new party or new parties. The principles of the two major parties are sufficient to govern this country and to lead it safely to peace and prosperity, if the two major parties would only live up to them. It is the part of the women to do what they can to make sure that these great parties live true to their principles and to the promises they make.

"I think it is a woman's job to take care of the children, her own first, if she has them. If she has none, then of the children of other mothers. I have no children of my own, but I have taken care of the children in Portland in many ways. Since I have been away, I have been doing what I could for the children of the world. I want to continue to do that.

"I am going to run for Congress. I mean to win if I can. But whether I win or not, I am going to have a fine time running."

FEDERAL PUSH FOR GRAPE.

Muscadine marmalade and the muscadine grape juice have made their appearance on the market and, according to reports from the Department of Agriculture, their popularity is assured. The muscadine was growing over the Southeastern coastal plains when the white man came and has grown there ever since, but it had never been utilized, and its present popularity is due to the work of the specialists and home demonstration agents of the Department of Agriculture and the State agricultural colleges.

The muscadine grape products are among the most delicious made from any grape. Last Christmas the dining-car superintendents of three of the largest railway systems in the South obtained a quantity of home-made muscadine grape products and the supply was exhausted in just one-third the time it was thought they would last. The superintendents telegraphed rush orders for additional supplies.

The girls and women of the States where muscadine grapes can be grown are not only utilizing the grapes already available, but are establishing and cultivating many home vineyards, with the purpose of making for home use and for market standard jellies, marmalades, juices, and the like.

BLACK RUST'S RAVAGES.

Destroyed 75,100,000 Bushels of Grain in 1919.

The combined efforts of State and Federal authorities to protect wheat against black stem rust resulted in approximately 2,000,000 common barberry bushes being dug up and destroyed during 1919. The territory in which the fight was carried on comprises Colorado, Indiana, Illinois, Ohio, Iowa, Michigan, Minnesota, Montana, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota, Wisconsin and Wyoming. For this work the Federal Government appropriated $150,000, but the individual States supplemented the Federal funds to a considerable degree. However, the combined expenditures were small in comparison with the size of the menace to wheat production by this disease.

Cereal disease experts in the Department of Agriculture estimate that the wheat crop of 1919 in the United States was reduced 53,000,000 bushels by black stem rust alone, in addition to damage by scab and other diseases. This damage by black stem rust has only been exceeded in one previous season, in 1916, when the total reduction of the wheat crop by this disease was 200,000,000 bushels.

In addition to the enormous damage to the wheat crop due to the ravages of rust last year, there was a loss of 17,400,000 bushels of oats and 4,700,000 bushels of barley due to the same cause.

CROWDS MOURN NIMKOFSKY

Delegates to Socialist Convention at Slain Editor's Funeral.

The building occupied by the Forward, a Socialist Jewish daily newspaper, was draped in black yesterday and bore across its front the legend, "We mourn our comrade, Morris Nimkofsky." Inside lay in state the body of Nimkofsky, one of the founders of the Forward and a trustee of the Forward Association, who was killed in Seward Park last Friday night by Philip Cooper, a crazed tailor. Between the hours of 8 and 10 o'clock in the morning hundreds filed sadly past the bier, humble folk and leaders of east side life being represented, while nearly every delegate to the Socialist convention now pending made his way to 173 East Broadway for a last look at the comrade whose casket was heaped high with flowers.

Seward Park and Rutgers Square were packed with mourners and Clinton and Delancey Streets and the Williamsburg Bridge plaza were so crowded police reserves from two stations were needed to keep the people in check as the automobile cortège started for Mount Sinia Cemetery at 10:15 o'clock. A hundred automobiles followed the hearse and there were fifteen coaches loaded with flowers. No service of any sort was held.

Campbell Is Campbell

By DR. BERTHOLD A. BAER

"It is hardly believable that one man can lead an organization as yours," is often heard.

Yet, the fact remains, that Mr. Frank E. Campbell is today the sole owner of The Funeral Church, Inc., Broadway at 66th Street, just as he has been these last 30 years.

He is at his desk every day in the week. His influence radiates through the entire institution. His personality is indelibly impressed upon every act.

"Campbell Service" is the result of years of thought, foresight, work, planning and doing.

A funeral conducted by a Director of this unique Institution is as much a "Campbell Funeral" as if Mr. Campbell personally were directing the arrangements. For no funeral, however small, however pretentious, leaves The Funeral Church excepting it has the personal approval of Mr. Campbell.

Reduce office overhead

THE efficiency of your office is dependent upon the comfort of your workers. Provide for their comfort and you increase the return on each dollar of salary.

Do you subscribe to this principle in winter and then limit it to your private office in the summer? You wouldn't let your workers freeze while you cozily toasted your toes behind glass partitions.

Then why, in summer, do you provide cooling comfort for the chosen few while the many swelter in the sizzling heat outside the refreshing breezes of the G-E Fans?

Obey that impulse. Send through a requisition today for a dozen G-E Fans—an investment for efficiency that pays and pays well.

HUGE CROWD SEES GIANTS SHUT OUT

GAME A THING OF GLOOM

McGrawites Display Equal Ineffectiveness at Bat and in the Field—Two Pitchers Batted from Box.

Several thousand fans were shut out of the Polo Grounds yesterday afternoon and went away with a grievance. They had counted on a big treat and hated to miss it. About 33,000 more crowded into the park before the gates were closed and they can testify that their barred brethren have nothing to grieve about. If they had come to gloat over a Giant victory, they didn't miss a thing by being kept on the outside. McGraw's men failed to provide as much as a lone run for the big Sunday crowd to yell about, taking the slim end of a 7 to 0 verdict at the hands of the Boston Braves.

If the gates had not been closed about 3 o'clock, it is likely that a new attendance record would have been established at the Harlem lot. The grand stand, both upper and lower decks, was sold out fifteen minutes before game time and the bars were put up at both the Speedway and Eighth Avenue entrances. Meanwhile, the bleachers were being filled up slowly. The congestion around the main entrance was so great that nobody seemed to know just where to go to get tickets. As a result, thousands went home after trying the two entrances to the main stand, not knowing that seats were still to be had in the bleachers. Those who remained in the hope of getting in somehow were rewarded when word was passed that the bleachers were not entirely filled.

Tail-end Giants and league-leading Braves are novelties at the Polo Grounds. Back in 1914 the Braves held the lead long enough to grab a pennant and a year later the Giants dropped to the cellar for a sorry finish. Since that time the McGrawmen have usually been up near the head of the parade and the Braves down near the last line. Yesterday the Braves found themselves on top again with the Giants in the cellar, and they about proved to the big crowd that that was just as it should be.

A Day of Gloom.

Stallings's men played with a lot of dash, crabbed now and then with the umpires and spilled pepper all around. The Giants, away to a bad start and unable to do any consecutive hitting, played with that lack of enthusiasm so often evidenced in a losing battle. It was a sad spectacle for the biggest crowd that has jammed itself into the Polo Grounds this season.

Stallings started with a Giant pitching discard and finished up with another, the pair showing the same skill in subduing their old team as many other former New Yorkers have this Spring. Holke and Hank Gowdy, another pair of the Giants' alumni, did their bit with the stick in making the trimming decisive.

Two of the veteran boxmen, from whom so much has been expected, were chased to the showers by these peppery Braves. Toney faded after some timely stickwork in the second inning which produced three runs for the visitors. He remained to the end of the inning and then gave way to a pinch hitter. Nehf took up the burden in the third and was driven off the hill in an eighth-inning batting bee which netted four more runs on five hits and an error. Nehf got support of a type that would discourage any pitcher, but there was a ring to the hits made by the Braves in the eighth inning which showed that the little left-hander is far from his best form.

After Bunny Hearn had been taken out in the second inning, to give a right-hand pitcher an opportunity to check a right-hand hitter and a Giant rally, McGraw's men were never really dangerous. Dick Rudolph, crafty as in the days when he was helping to make the Braves world's champions, had his change of pace working to perfection, and the Giants were completely tamed.

Boeckel's third-base play and catches by Statz and Kelly were features. Statz made a dazzling grab in left centre off Powell in the third inning, and Kelly made a fine catch of Boeckel's foul near the grand stand in the fourth. He followed with a throw to Lear which doubled Sullivan at third base.

The Braves started the scoring in the second inning after both sides had been retired in order in the first. Cruise opened with a pass and moved along to second base when Holke drove a single to centre. Boeckel made the big crowd groan when he hit down the alley in right centre for a triple which sent Cruise and Holke scampering over the plate. Boeckel remained on third while Doyle was throwing out Maranville and scored on a squeeze play by Gowdy, Hank being thrown out by Snyder. Rudolph's strike-out ended the inning and likewise ended Toney's activities for the day.

The Finish of Nehf.

In the eighth inning the bombardment broke out against Nehf and before two men had been retired Nehf had heard the call to the bench. Powell started the inning with a single to centre and Pick sacrificed him along to second. Mann grounded past the box and Doyle fumbled the ball. Fletcher got it as it hopped away from Larry, but his throw to first was too late to get Mann. Powell reached third on the misplay and registered on Sullivan's slam to right field. Sullivan's hit sent Mann to third and Holke chased him over with a solid smash to left. Boeckel hit to left and Burns sat on the ball after stopping it, Sullivan scoring from third while Holke moved around to third. Maranville kept up the hitting with a single off Kelly's glove and Holke raced home with the last Boston run. Nehf was taken out at this stage, Winters replacing him. Gowdy hit to Lear and into a double play.

The best opportunity the Giants encountered developed in the second inning. After Doyle had been retired on a grounder to Boeckel, Statz singled to left, Lear drew a pass, and both runners advanced on Kelly's infield out. Hearne gave Snyder his compliments to first base and filled the sacks. When McGraw sent McCarty up as a pinch hitter Rudolph replaced Hearne, and McCarty's fly to left ended the inning.

During the remainder of the game, no New York runner got as far as third base. Snyder's single and Burns's walk put two Giants on the paths in the fifth frame, but two were gone when Burns walked and Young hoisted to Powell for the third out. In the eighth the fans picked up some hope when Burns walked and Young followed with a single. Even this layout, with none gone, proved unproductive, the inning ending without Burns passing second base. An error and Smith's single put two more Giants aboard in the ninth, but again second base was the deadline.

EVERS TO JOIN GIANTS.

Former Cubs' Second Baseman to be McGraw's Assistant.

John J. Evers, former star infielder and manager of the Chicago Cubs and later with the Boston Braves, will be in a New York uniform when the Giants take the field at Cincinnati tomorrow afternoon, if he can get his release as coach of the Boston College team. Manager John J. McGraw of the Giants confirmed last night before leaving for the West the announcement sent out from Troy on Saturday night.

Evers signed with Boston College a few days ago, but it is understood that he will be allowed to better himself by taking the position of assistant manager and coach of the Giants. As a player Evers was noted for his quick thinking and aggressiveness and his presence with the Giants is expected to put some new life into the team.

The acquisition of Evers is something of a surprise locally, as it had been believed that Christy Mathewson was being groomed as McGraw's successor. McGraw said last night that he did not intend to make any changes in his team, which is taken to mean that Mathewson is to be retained.

REDS SHUT OUT CARDS.

Ruether Allows Only Two Hits and Champions Win, 5 to 0.

ST. LOUIS, May 9.—Cincinnati took the odd game of the series from St. Louis by winning 5 to 0 today. The locals were helpless before Ruether, who allowed only two hits, one a short fly behind second that Roush dropped after a hard run, and the other a single through the box. Wingo hit into the right field stands in the ninth for a home run, scoring Duncan ahead of him.

Curves and Bingles

Immediately after the game the Giants followed that famous bit of advice: "Go West, young man, go West." The East hasn't been very healthy for them this Spring.

This will be an off day at the Polo Grounds. Tomorrow the Yanks will start a series with the White Sox here while the Giants are mingling with the Reds at Cincinnati.

Both managers changed pitchers to suit pitching conditions. When Rudolph succeeded Hearn, a southpaw, Statz was taken out and Kauff substituted. When Nehf replaced Toney, Cruise gave way to Sullivan, a right hand hitter.

Boeckel got noisy over a decision at third base in the seventh and almost got his marching orders. Rabbit Maranville served notice on the third baseman at Hank O'Day's request. Boeckel promised to be a good boy and was allowed to stick.

It is a long, long time since the Boston Braves went West as league leaders, and almost as long since the Giants had such a strong lease on the cellar.

Life for Arthur Nehf this Spring has been one bombardment after another. The failure of the southpaw is one of the main reasons for the Giant's low position in the race.

Gobby Street, one-time Yankee catcher and one of three to catch a ball thrown from the Washington Monument, viewed the game from the press coop. Street, who is now managing the Suffolk, Va., team, is angling for players. He carries a flock of scars from the World War.

The Braves played the sacrifice game to the limit, four of them going out on bunts which advanced other base runners.

ROBINS AT LAST WIN EXTRA INNING AFFAIR

Overtake Phillies in Sixth, but Have to Go to Tenth Before Triumphing, 5 to 4.

The Dodgers were unable to break their habit of running into extra innings at Ebbets Field yesterday afternoon, but they did alter their usual course in these overtime skirmishes in one important particular—they won the game, and that is something they hadn't done before lately in a combat that extended beyond the regulation number of stanzas. The Phillies furnished the opposition, and took the small end of a 5 to 4 score after ten scrappy innings had passed into history.

A crowd of 20,000 took possession of the stands and rejoiced the heart of Boss Ebbets.

The game was one of those thrillers that the Dodgers have grown accustomed to in this year of grace. It was anybody's any time, and it had the big crowd on tenterhooks, if tenterhooks is the correct word.

Cadore started the game for Manager Robbie and Lee Meadows officiated for Cravath. Neither lasted to the finish. Cadore was yanked in the fifth, after the Phils had tickled his offerings for four safe hits, and Sherry Smith southpawed with considerable effectiveness for the home nine for the remainder of the matinée. Meadows's spectacles became a bit dimmed once or twice, most particularly in the fourth inning, when the Dodgers scored three runs, but he stuck to his guns until the ninth, when Manager Cravath went in to bat for him. George Smith succeeded him and was the victim of the Robins' final batting outbreak which won the decision in the tenth and gave the ex-Columbian the responsibility for losing the game.

Both teams scored their first runs in clusters, the Robins getting three in the fourth and the Phillies four in the fifth. Brooklyn tied it up in the sixth and then weathered a couple of stormy-looking situations in the ninth and tenth before putting over the winning counter.

The first three innings were unproductive. heated argument between Catcher Tragesser of the Phillies and Umpire Hart. Tragesser didn't like the way Hart was calling them for Meadows, who handed out three passes in the second and third innings, and, on the other hand, Hart found little to admire in Tragesser as a conversationalist. The last word was the umpire's as usual, and Mack Wheat caught the rest of the game for the Phils.

After Zack Wheat had flied out in the Dodgers' fourth, Myers singled to right and went to second on Konetchy's safe blow to the middle garden. Bernie Neis, who had a field day with the stick and bore a vital part in all of Brooklyn's run-getting, then came across with a stinger over Meusel's head in left. The ball hit Meusel's outstretched hands as he was running back for it and bounded out. Neis took two bases and Myers scored on the hit. Ernie Krueger, whose two hits of the afternoon were also nothing if not timely, inserted the first of them at this juncture and sent Konetchy and Neis over the platter with two more runs.

The Phils made it 4 to 3 in their half of the following frame, Cadore blowing up with a loud and lamentable detonation. The Phils batted all the way around before Sherry Smith, doing a rescue act, was able to put them out of the way of more harm. With one out, Luderus walked and scored on Ralph Miller's three-bagger to the temporary stand in left. Tragesser was safe on a schoolboy muff of his pop fly by Olson. Meadows singled past second and scored Miller, and Bancroft laid down a perfect bunt along the third base line and beat it out. This filled the bases and Williams sent in two more tallies on his two-bagger to the fence in right field. That marked the finish of Leon Cadore. Smith prevented further damage by forcing Casey Stengel to pop up a foul to Johnston, and Krueger picked up Meusel's hit in front of the plate and threw him out for the final demise.

Neis was the principal instrument in knotting the count at 4-all in the sixth. Myers singled past second. Bancroft's throw, after a clever stop, being a fraction of a second too late. Myers went to second on Koney's out and scored on Neis's rattling double between first and second.

The visitors would have won in the ninth but for the ground rules. Jack Miller tripled to the far corner in left, and the hit ordinarily would have been good for the circuit. He was held at third while Luderus was being retired by Kilduff. Ralph Miller walked and Jack Miller was caught in a runup when Tragesser hit to Cadore. Boss Cravath then came up to bat for Meadows and Smith crossed him by handing him an intentional pass. Bancroft forced R. Miller at the plate for the third out.

The Phillies filled the bases again in the tenth without being able to score. Stengel singled with one down and went to third on Meusel's double to right centre. Jack Miller was given an intentional pass, and the wisdom of the strategy was demonstrated when Luderus forced Stengel at the plate. R. Miller grounded out to Kilduff and Smith for a second time had pulled out of a hole that looked deep enough to bury him.

The winning run came quickly in the Dodgers' half of the tenth. After Konetchy had popped to Bancroft, Neis delivered his third timely blow of the fracas, a single past first. He stole second and Krueger sent him home with the run that ended it on his single that just eluded R. Miller's clutches at third.

BASEBALL MEN AT FUNERAL.

Services for Late Harry Sparrow Are Conducted by Rev. Dr. Ingham.

Funeral services for the late Harry L. Sparrow, Secretary and business manager of the New York American League Baseball Club, were conducted last night at the home, 611 West 127th Street. The Rev. Dr. H. Ingham of the Calvary Methodist Episcopal Church officiated. Floral tributes from friends of the deceased banked the walls of two rooms.

Among the prominent baseball men who attended the services were Cols. Jacob Ruppert and T. L. Huston, owners of the New York club; Harry H. Frazee of the Boston Red Sox, Edward McKeever, Vice President of the Brooklyn club, and John B. Foster, former Secretary of the New York Giants. Sport writers from every New York newspaper, and a large delegation of members of the Volney Club, of which the deceased was a member, also attended.

The funeral will be held this morning at 10 o'clock and will be private. The remains will be taken to Kensico Cemetery for interment.

JERSEY BOXMAN IS EASY FOR BUFFALO

Special to The New York Times.

BUFFALO, May 9.—Today was a bit chilly for pitchers, and that was why Rogers and Gill could not show their best wares. Both did well, however, considering the cold and dust. Rogers won his game by a score of 10 to 5, holding the Skeeters to seven bingles, although added to the hits were eight free trips to first and one hit batter. This wildness was offset, in part, by the striking out of seven Jerseymen.

The Bisons gathered all the extra base smashes, and one or two were beauties. In the second inning Rogers sent his side in front with a triple that carried to a sign on the fence which bears the pleasing information that a pair of shoes awaits the man who pelts the ball against it. Not to be outdone by any member of the pitching staff, Eddie Miller lifted the ball over the left field fence in the lucky seventh. The sphere hit the roof of an adjoining shed, but the pellet having passed outside the limit of the grounds, the big first baseman was allowed a homer. Jacobs made three singles, and Gilhooley and Strait two.

YANKS ONCE MORE BUMP MR. JOHNSON

WASHINGTON, May 9.—A band of tourists from New York, generally known as the Yankees, departed from the nation's capital this evening bearing with them a large and heavily festooned scalp plucked from the person of one Walter Johnson. This Johnson person has been widely and favorably known hereabouts and elsewhere as a pitcher, but the Yankees began their series here on Wednesday by walloping him soundly, and in the final engagement today they again took his measure, emerging from the dust-enshrouded fray this afternoon on the long end of a 5 to 3 score.

As regards the entire series, it can hardly be regarded as a New York triumph, despite this double victory over the Senators' kingpin twirler. Sandwiched between the alpha and omega games there came three dismal defeats in a row. Nevertheless, such is the prestige of Johnson as a hurler of terrific prowess that the Yankees departed this evening quite content with their stay in this venerable town.

Today's game was played before a huge crowd. Everything conspired to draw out the fans and they came in great masses. To begin with, it was such a day as May turns out when it wishes to excel its younger sister, June. Then, too, Walter Johnson was scheduled to take the mound in the effort to exact dire vengeance from the Manhattan coterie for their adudacious and successful assault upon his blazing shoots and twisters in the opening affray. The conditions, therefore, were such as tended to empty Washington homes, hotels and boarding houses and to fill to repletion the baseball park with a crowd of 20,000 fans.

Great Game for Senators.

The throng had a run for its money. In fact, it saw a very thrilling skirmish, which often made the peanuts stick in its multitudinous throats and halted the pop-bottles on their way to its myriad of parched lips.

It was a free-hitting affair, especially in the later stages, with the visitors flogging out a baker's dozen of safe bingles to ten for the cohorts of Clark Griffith. Washington scraped out a run in the second which was good for the lead until the fourth, when the Yankees equalized the tally. Then in the ensuing session the Yankees cut loose with a vivid and vicious attack which netted three runs and apparently laid the game safely away in the New York refrigerator. For some time sadness ruled the scene. In the eighth, however, the Senators tallied twice, drawing close to their guests' heels. In the ninth the Yankees added one more tally and the local men staged a thrilling rally, which was nipped in the bud by a glorious catch by Lewis. That was plenty of excitement for one afternoon.

The opening inning passed quickly, both Johnson and Quinn, who had the assignment on the mound for the Yankees, retiring the batters with ease and alacrity.

In the Senators' half of the second the first damage was done. Harris lofted a fly to right which Babe Ruth messed frightfully and Harris went to second. Ellerbe sacrificed him over to third with a bunt. Shannon rolled one to Pratt, whose throw was a bit wide, and Harris scored.

The Yankees tied it up in the fourth. With one out Pratt singled to centre and went down to second when Bodie raised a Texas Leaguer to the same region. Truck Hannah came through with a single on which Pratt scored, Bodie going to third. Pipp was thrown out at the plate an instant later trying to score on Quinn's bounder.

Yanks Get Three Runs.

In the fifth Peckinpaugh lined out a single to centre. Pipp rolled to Shannon and was safe when the latter threw low and wide to nail him at first. Ruth forced Pipp at second. Lewis singled to left and Peck trotted home. Ruth went to third and Lewis to second on the throw-in. Pratt grounded to Shannon, whose toss to Picinich failed to prevent Babe from tallying. Bodie forced Pratt and Lewis scored on the play.

A base on balls, a poor throw by Hannah, Ellerbe's single, and Shannon's double gave the Senators a brace of runs in the eighth.

After Peck had brought home the New Yorkers' final tally in the ninth, the Senators proceeded to excite the crowd by threatening a revolt. They had the bases full, with two out, when Harris slashed out a Texas Leaguer to left. Lewis galloped in to get it, but barely managed to get close enough to dive for it with his gloved hand outstretched. The ball stuck in his glove, and the disappointed crowd gave him a cheer as it began to jam its way out of the grounds.

CUBS TAKE CLOSE GAME.

Flack Steals Home with Winning Run, Pirates Losing 8-7.

CHICAGO, May 9.—Flack's steal of home in the eighth inning proved to be the run which gave Chicago an 8 to 7 victory over Pittsburgh today. The locals took an early lead on Adams and Meador, and then continued against Ponder, who was on the mound when Flack stole home. Carey was ordered out of the game by Umpire Emslie when he protested a decision at second base.

Yale Athletic Fields Used For First Time on Sunday

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 9.—For the first time in the history of Yale University the athletic grounds on Yale Field were today opened for recreation on a Sunday. The faculty allowed use of the tennis courts, track and even the baseball diamonds for unorganized practice but no competition or organized practice was allowed. Many undergraduates took advantage of the innovation, although the offer was not as generally accepted by the students as had been expected. The authorities have come to the opinion that the university facilities for pure recreation should not be allowed to stand idle on Sunday. The corporation, which passed the vote allowing the innovation, contains several noted clergymen, among them Rev. Dr. Newman Smyth of this city.

HAGEN'S GOLF WINS FOUR-BALL MATCH

The opportunity which metropolitan golf spectators have been awaiting came yesterday afternoon, and several hundred took advantage of it. These were the linksmen who instead of playing a round over their favorite links preferred to watch Walter Hagen, the national champion, in his first Northern exhibition match of the season and probably in his last before sailing for England on May 18.

Under ideal weather conditions and with the course in exceptionally good shape Hagen, helped to some extent, but not any too much by George Smith, defeated George McLean of Great Neck and Gil Nicholls over the links of the Belleclaire Golf and Country Club at Bayside, L. I., by 3 and 2 in a best ball match brim full of the brand of golf which only champions or near champions know how to display.

If Hagen finds the windy seaside course at Deal, England, as much suited to his game as Belleair it will behoove Harry Vardon, Abe Mitchell and other foreign golfers to prepare to do him all honors. Playing over a course almost entirely strange, the champion yesterday clicked off three birdies on the first four holes with no apparent effort, continued to play par golf or the next thing to it, and scored a 37 both going out and coming in for a round in 74. No other individual total was even within hailing distance. McLean had a 79 and Nicholls, who had unfortunate luck on the greens, an 80. Smith, the brother of Alec and substituting for the latter yesterday, could gather no better than an 83.

Hagen carried the victory almost alone. Of the five holes which Hagen and Smith won, the champion had winning figures on four of them and his partner on the other. The McLean-Nicholls pair won only two of the holes, the ninth and tenth, and on these it was McLean's golf which gained his decision.

The national champion lost no time in demonstrating that his sojourn in the South during March and April had brought back every bit of his last year's proficiency.

KIRKBY PICKS JERSEY TEAM.

Eighteen Leading Linksmen Named to Meet Westchester Golfers.

Oswald Kirkby, the Metropolitan golf champion, yesterday announced the makeup of his team of Jerseymen that will meet a Westchester County group on May 19 at Englewood for the long-deferred New Jersey-New York team matches, a golf event proposed annually in the past but never arranged until several weeks ago.

Backing up the champion, who will be right at ease on his home links, will be seventeen golfers of the kind that makes any opponent nervous at the start of a match. Included on the Jersey team are such brilliant players as A. K. Kammer of Baltusrol, several times Staten Island champion; Pierre A. Proal of Deal, winner of the New York A. C. title at Fox Hills last Fall; William M. Reekie, who defeated Max Marston last Spring for the Lakewood title and who invariably is seen in Lesley Cup competition; Jerry Travers, the former holder of many championships who this year is planning his golf comeback, and J. Simpson Dean, captain of the Princeton University team.

According to the summons sent out by C. P. Eddy, Secretary of the New Jersey State Golf Association, and who is acting as manager of the State team, sixteen men will constitute the team and there will be two substitutes. The extra men will join the regulars in the four-ball matches on the morning of Wednesday, May 19. The twosomes will be contested in the afternoon.

The right is reserved to Kirkby to indicate the position of each man on the team on the day of the match, but the announcement of its makeup carries them in the following order: Kirkby, H. M. Coxe of Englewood, J. S. Dean of Princeton, F. W. Dyer of Upper Montclair, C. P. Eddy of Arcola, H. B. Fenn of Baltusrol, A. K. Kammer of Baltusrol, Charles Lansing of Knickerbocker, C. L. Maxwell of Trenton, W. G. Pfeil of Yountakah, P. A. Proul of Deal, Grantland Rice of Englewood, W. M. Reekie of Upper Montclair, J. D. Travers of Upper Montclair, F. F. Turrell of Morris County and E. M. Wild of Baltusrol. The two substitutes are R. H. Gwaltney of Baltusrol and L. H. Conklin of Plainfield.

HEMINWAY CHOSEN CAPTAIN

Will Lead Yale's First 150-Pound Crew in American Henley.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 9.—Burton L. Heminway of Watertown, Conn., was today elected Captain of the first 150-pound crew ever formed at Yale. It will enter the American Henley at Philadelphia May 29. Heminway was a 'Varsity substitute last year. Coach Nichols has selected the 150-pound crew as follows:

Stroke, Heminway; No. 7, Hosmer; No. 6, Street; No. 5, Riker; No. 4, Leslie; No. 3, Chenfey; No. 2, Kitchall; bow, Galt; coxswain, Sears.

Arrangements have been made for the Yale and Harvard champion class crews to row at the Yale Spring regatta May 22. Eleven races have been scheduled.

TITLE TO MISS BLEIBTREY.

Takes the National 220-Yard Swimming Championship.

OAKLAND, Cal., May 9.—Miss Ethelda Bleibtrey of New York City won the national 220-yard swimming championship for women at Idora Park here today. Her time was 2 minutes, 57 2-5 seconds. Miss Charlotte Boyle, New York, was second, and Mrs. Frances Scroth, San Francisco, third.

RESOLUTE PUTS OUT TWICE ON FIRST DAY

Forenoon Spin Is in Light Wind, but Second Trial Is Made in Stiff Southwester.

Special to The New York Times.

BRISTOL, R. I., May 9.—Resolute was put through two tests in her new sailing rig today, making the first trial of the Spring. One was in the forenoon in a very light wind from the northwest and one in the afternoon in a stiff grayback southwester with a bit of sea and plenty of windward work.

Although the Resolute is not in true racing form at present, having been launched only a little more than a week ago, and having been fitted with a lighter and loftier rig than she wore in the days at the breaking out of the World War, there were kinks about the craft to show that she has a better all around sailing form that she had in 1915, the last time she was under canvas.

The test of the yacht, postponed from yesterday owing to the pelting rainstorm, was held under favorable conditions today, with two conditions of wind, and plenty of sunshine which brings out the best in new canvas. Hoisting a brand new mainsail of the five batten model, new aluminite gaff and club topsail yard, and a mast that is considered unmatchable in lightness, power and stability, Resolute went through the first sail-carrying test gracefully in the late forenoon and to the satisfaction of Robert W. Emmons, 2d, the managing owner; Captain Charles Francis Adams, the amateur helmsman; Secretary George A. Cormack, of the New York Yacht Club; John Parkinson and others of the Resolute staff, who were on board.

Captain Nat Herreshoff, the Resolute's designer, was not on board owing to sickness yet he had an eye on the racer as she showed speed in Narragansett Bay.

Fog came up early in the morning but soon disappeared and all hands came on deck to bend sail aboard the Resolute. The head sails went up in old time rapidity in stops and the bending of the mainsail with its patent luff lace followed. Before the work of attaching the big sail was fairly under way the Resolute was shifted from the wharf at the boat shops to an anchorage in the harbor where there was a clearer space to set taut halliard and sheet.

Leaving the anchorage under mainsail, club topsail, fore staysail, and jib, the sloop bore across the wind which was from the northwest, running steadily with the wind abeam and showing stiffer form than under the old rig. The rig gives a better balance than in 1914, but there is chance for improvement.

The only other feature which one could draw comparisons from in the six-knot breeze was the pivotal turning of the craft, both in staying and jibing over.

Because the craft is a little higher out of the water, and her underbody as smooth as oil, there is less to retard her turning manoeuvres than formerly.

Resolute met the rough seas and buffeting off Dyers Island in the afternoon in true form, standing up under a fourteen-knot wind to a marked degree in excess of the record of 1914. In running before the wind Resolute seems to have gained in speed although this is inconsiderable so far. She was tested one hour in the morning and one hour in the afternoon.

ACTIVE CAMPAIGN IS ON.

Continental Athletic Club in Drive to Complete Membership.

An Advisory Board composed of thirty-two members of the Continental Athletic Club has been appointed to supervise a campaign to assure the early building of its big city clubhouse and take active control of the club's affairs.

The promotion of the club has now reached the stage where activities looking toward the completion of its membership campaign and the starting of building operations under the direction of its members has been deemed advisable. With this goal in view a meeting of all members will be called at an early date.

The movers in the organization of the Continental Club have secured a fine site—the block front in Central Park West between Sixty-first and Sixty-second Streets—for the city clubhouse.

Robert D. Blackman, Chairman of the Advisory Board, last night said:

"We are launching a campaign to complete the membership roster and start building operations on our city club. With the active co-operation of the members of the board and all other members of the club, I can only voice the opinion that the success of the club and the erection of the clubhouse on one of the best sites in the country will become an assured fact."

MAY MEET ENGLISH TEAMS.

Princeton Invited to Track Games with Oxford and Cambridge.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., May 9.—Princeton University will probably send a track team to England this Summer to compete against Oxford and Cambridge. The news of Princeton's decisive victory over Yale in the annual dual meet of these institutions on Saturday had barely time to circulate over the campus when a statement by the Board of Athletic Control made known the contemplated trip abroad.

A formal invitation to make the trip was extended to the Princeton athletic authorities by A. B. Rudd and Colonel A. N. S. Jackson last week, when the members of the Oxford-Cambridge team that competed at the University of Pennsylvania relays came here for a brief visit. A formal answer will be cabled within the next few days.

From the present situation in regard to obtaining passage for Europe it would appear that the Princetonians will not be able to reach England in time to hold the meet until early in July. The invitation offers the Americans the following alternative: They may, according to their desire in the matter, compete against a combined Oxford-Cambridge team, or against Oxford, or against Cambridge, or against both in separate meets.

So many men, who have long known our quality, yet have indulged in the extravagance of fine tailors, are now eliminating this expense, without sacrificing either style or fit. We encourage looking.

Spring suits and overcoats.

Wearers of our *"Pedestrian," the shoe orthopedic surgeons say 85 out of every 100 men can and should wear, will be glad to find this same last in oxfords—black or tan.

Practically all this season's stiff straw hats are flexible where they touch the head. Comfort as well as style.

BEN MILLERS TAKE HONORS IN SOCCER

TEAMS TIED AT HALF-TIME

Special to The New York Times.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 9.—The Ben Millers of St. Louis, champions of the St. Louis Soccer League, today won the national championship of soccer football and the National Challenge Cup of the United States Football Association, emblematic of that title, by defeating the Fore River Football Club of Quincy, Mass., 2 goals to 1. The game was played at the old Federal League Baseball Park before 12,000 fans.

It was a triumph not only of the Middle West over the East, but of the American style of the association kicking game over the so-called "old country" style, for the Ben Millers, to a man, were born in St. Louis and not one of the Fore River players was born in the United States or learned his football here. Ten of the members of the Quincy team are of Scotch nativity and the other of English birth, and theirs was and is the close combination, short-passing game to be seen on British football pitches. The "old country" style of play did not stand up against the more aggressive, dash and shoot, long-driving game of the American-born players. The Millers displayed a slight advantage in speed and in stamina that stood them in good stead against the somewhat better technique of the Northern Massachusetts eleven.

Struggling with tigerish endurance from the first shrill of Referee Alex McKenzie's whistle until that which ended the contest, the two elevens gave what was deemed by veteran soccer officials the best exhibition of the sport that has been seen in any National Challenge Cup final since the inception of the United States Football Association in 1913.

Nine of the Ben Miller players are of Irish-American descent and it was one of these nine, Jimmy Dunn, whose vigorous toe shoved what proved to be the winning goal into the invaders' net 17 minutes after halftime. The score was tied at 1—1 at the intermission and the battle was waged at a terrific pace throughout the second half.

Favored when they entered the fray, the Ben Millers upheld their traditions and from the first minute of play to the close tore in with great aggressiveness and spirit, and in these departments at least were masters throughout.

The weather was ideal from the spectators' point of view, if somewhat warm for the players. The teams lined up at 3:44 P. M. with the Millers kicking off toward the West goal. At the commencement a slight breeze was blowing from the West, but it was not strong enough to lend any material aid. The Millers forced matters considerably. The visitors, however, soon broke up the attack and thereafter for some time as fast as the Millers carried the ball into their territory, Fore River ran it back. During the latter's early assault Dunn missed a fine chance to score, his attempt going wide by inches. Black made the first attempt at goal for the Easterners when he accepted a pass from Page and drove finely. McGarry executing a brilliant save.

Johnny Redden, whose scintillating work at right half both defensively and offensively drew considerable praise, threw a scare into the Fore Rivers when he hooked a high shot toward the net. The ball struck about an inch before the goal line and midway between the uprights, but bounded crazily over the cross-bar. Others of the Millers made tries, but these either were warded off or went awry. Al McHenry's game at outside right was a big disappointment to the local following.

After twenty-two minutes struggling, Hap Marre of the Millers broke the ice with a dazzling shot into the lower left corner of the visitors' net which gave Lambie, in goal for Fore River, no chance to save. The boot was made possible by a beautiful cross from the left corner by Potee. St. Louis continued to press, but superb defensive play of the visitors prevented further scoring.

Eight minutes before the end of the first half Kershaw broke away and from a cross by Page culminated a nicely organized attack by driving past McGarry for the equalizing goal. It was a bruising shot, made at almost the only point in the game when the Ben Miller defense was disorganized. Redoubled efforts failed to alter the score of one goal each at half time.

After the interval it was touch and go, with the Millers showing considerable superiority on attack until their efforts were crowned with success by Dunn's goal. From that point on the game was bitterly waged and both sides repeatedly threatened to score, but each defense was equal to the test each time.

SOCCER ELEVENS IN TIE.

Robins and Morse Dry Dock Teams Go Scoreless in Long Battle.

Two full halves and two extra periods of fifteen minutes each were insufficient to decide the question of supremacy in the semi-final round of the New York State Football Association's annual cup competition at Todd Field in Brooklyn yesterday, when the soccer eleven representing Morse Dry Dock played Robins Dry Dock, twice victors over Bethlehem this season, to a standstill. The game will be replayed next Sunday.

CHURCH CUP TRIALS HELD.

Selection of New York Tennis Team Depends on Tryouts.

Trial matches for the selection of the New York tennis team, to play in the Church Cup matches on May 21 and 22 against Boston and Philadelphia, were held at Forest Hills yesterday, after a week's irregular practice on the clay courts of the West Side Club. In these tryouts the work of Walter Merrill Hall has been the most impressive, and he is fairly sure to head the local team in the singles. Yesterday he played informally with Harold Taylor, and will meet Harold Throckmorton in a trial match next Wednesday. Samuel Hardy was in charge of the preliminaries to the intercity tennis, and Throckmorton also took part in the practice.

From present indications the New York team is likely to include Frederick B. Alexander, Walter Merrill Hall, Harold Throckmorton, S. Howard Voshell and Fred C. Baggs.

Horse Racing Late at Night Draws Big Crowds at Manila

MANILA, P. I., May 9.—Horse racing after dark has become popular here and draws large crowds to the electrically lighted tracks. Sometimes the last event is not finished until after 11:30 o'clock P. M. From 9 o'clock A. M. until 11 P. M. on the first Sunday of every month and on all legal holidays, except during the rainy season from June to October, racing meets are held here. The entrants are native ponies from 47 to 53 inches in height, except for a few horses imported from Australia. Some of the ponies are so small that the jockeys' legs must be strapped up to prevent their feet dragging on the ground.

"Rick," a pony that was discovered hauling a carrameta or native cab here and was purchased by his present owner for $250, is credited with having won $25,000 in purses on the track during the last year. Purses range from $125 to $1,000 for the big special races.

KRAMER OUTSPEEDS GOULLET IN NEWARK

Veteran Wins Match Race at Velodrome Before Record Crowd of Cycling Fans.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWARK, N. J., May 9.—All records for crowds were broken at the Velodrome here today when Frank Kramer defeated Alfred Goullet in two straight heats of a mile match race. It was the largest assemblage that ever witnessed a bicycle race in this city. Thousands were turned away for lack of room after the infield had been packed.

Kramer's victory was highly popular, and he still stands unbeaten this season in match race riding. Goullet has been going along all Spring defeating every one in open competition, and he was confident that he could take Kramer's measure in a match. The old master was too much for him, however.

The stands shook with applause when Orlando Piani, champion of Italy, paired with Oscar Egg, the Swiss rider, defeated Eddie Madden and Jack Magin in two out of three heats of a mile team match. Piani won the third and deciding heat and was the hero of his countrymen, who turned out by the thousands to root for him. The first heat was won by Egg, while in the second Madden came home first. All eyes were on Piani in the third, as he was looked upon as the class of the four riders. He made good by going a lap with all on and winning it.

KENNEDY IS FIRST HOME.

Special to The New York Times.

PORTCHESTER, N. Y., May 9.—Bill Kennedy, a local runner competing under the colors of the Morningside A. C., made a whirlwind finish in the fourth annual eight-mile road race held in East Portchester, Conn., this afternoon, under the auspices of the Cygnet Athletic Club, by taking the lead on the last mile and winning the race. His handicap was six minutes and thirty seconds, and his actual time was 47:30.

In the team competition Mohawk A. C. was first, with 38 points; St. Christopher Club second, with 42 points; Morningside A. C. third, with 43 points, and Cygnet A. C. fourth, with 87 points.

GEIST BETTERS OLD MARK.

Jumps 20 Feet 8 Inches in Ninety-Second Street Y. M. H. A. Games.

Kaufman Geist of the Ninety-second Street Y. M. H. A. created a new branch broad jumping record yesterday in the association's handicap track and field meet at Macomb's Dam Park. Geist, competing from scratch, jumped 20 feet 8 inches, an improvement of four inches on the best previous mark, which was made by Geist in 1916. Geist's leap, however, did not win the event for him. He finished second to L. Wilsheimer, whose handicap of two feet and an actual jump of 19 feet brought him victory.

Sam Frierich, the branch's crack distancer, scored a victory in the A. Kapper Memorial two-mile handiap race, in which he competed from scrath against sixteen rivals. Frierich gained the lead after racing one and one-quarter miles, and set the pace thereafter. He won with an advantage of thirty yards in 10:30.

Comment on Current Events in Sports.

Paul Jones's Derby.

The forty-sixth renewal of the Kentucky Derby, which was run at Churchill Downs on Saturday and won by Captain Ral Parr's Paul Jones, will undoubtedly go down in the annals of the turf as one of the greatest races ever decided over an American course. It was a record event, with the largest number of starters that was ever sent away from the barrier for a Derby, and witnessed by a remarkably large crowd, but more than that it was a highly pleasing spectacle with a satisfactory finish, for despite the unusually large field, the race was won fairly and on the merits of the winner, without the aid of racing luck that might easily have been expected to come to the aid of the victor in a test of that kind.

It was not surprising to those who had carefully followed the various candidates that a horse rather lightly regarded should be returned the winner. It was generally agreed by all shrewd horsemen that it was the most open race that had ever been run for the Derby prize. Though a certain few horses had been selected as the favored ones, the selection was at best a guess, and practically every one in the huge crowd who saw the race felt that almost any horse that filed by in the parade to the post had a chance to win. The result pointed to the futility of selecting a winner on the form of last year and attempting by that to bridge the relative improvement in horses over the Winter. Paul Jones surprised those who tried to consider him only on his races of a season back.

The victory is certain to prolong the discussion of relative merits of the entries. It does not necessarily mean by any means that Paul Jones is the best three-year-old in the country. Not all the topnotchers of the division opposed him Saturday. But he is entitled to the glory and the credit that go with such a victory until he has had a chance to prove that it was not a flash in the pan. It may be that Paul Jones will be a much better three-year-old than he was a juvenile. Such was the case with Sir Barton, winner of the Derby a year ago. He was thrust suddenly upon the turf world, but he proved he had the merit by a series of successes throughout the season.

There are those who will perhaps dispute the success of the race as a test of breeding. The Derby is supposed primarily to show the advantages of certain strains and certain methods of breeding. There were some experts who thought that at least one or two other horses in the race were better equipped from the standpoint of breeding. However, Paul Jones displayed qualities which might be expected from his family. His sire, Sea King, was a noted mud runner and this quality had most assuredly been transmitted to Paul Jones. Moreover, it is the opinion of some men well informed on breeding, that Paul Jones should accomplish great things. Through his veins courses the blood of such noted performers as Persimmon and Isonomy on the side of his sire, while through his dam he is descended from Hamburg, Ormonde and Firenze.

Navy Sportsmanship.

In view of the impressive showing made by the navy's crews against Columbia on Saturday, it is unfortunate that the sportsmanship of certain athletic officers of the Naval Academy should have proved less praiseworthy than the skill and ability of its oarsmen. When the Academy, through one of its athletic officers, is publicly and vociferously reluctant to allow the visiting coach to use one of the two launches available for more than a half hour's final drill of his three contesting crews, for the alleged reason that the navy authorities claim to want both launches to follow the entire eight crews of the Academy, its sportsmanship hardly reaches the standard of its watermanship. When the Academy, again through one of its athletic officers, refuses the courtesy of an opportunity to follow the race to the solitary New York newspaper man with the Columbia crews, and at the same time extends the privilege to an Annapolis reporter alone, it is diverging from the code of sporting ethics which obtains in most colleges. That certain of the Naval Academy athletic officers did commit these and other discourtesies is a regrettable flaw in the midshipmen's splendid victory.

Johnny Wilson Arrives.

No greater surprise has been recorded in boxing annals in the last few years than the news flashed forth from Boston last Thursday night that Johnny Wilson had been awarded a referee's decision at the end of a twelve-round bout with Mike O'Dowd and was the new middleweight champion. Few outside of the Hub knew anything about Wilson. Scarcely any one in New York recalled him as the same rugged Italian youngster who, some six years ago, was occasionally seen in preliminary bouts in this city. Outside of his relations and personal friends none recognized in the new champion Giovanni Pancia, who was born in Second Avenue in this city twenty-seven years ago.

To the boxing world he was a mystery. He still is, for that matter, except that now his black thatch and swarthy countenance are set off with the emblazoned crown of middleweight king. He must be accepted at face value until an opportunity to weigh him in the balance is further accorded fandom. But it seems the fact that he was able to strip O'Dowd of his mantle should be sufficient recommendation for Pancia, or Wilson. He must have "something," and that "something" must be a weighty portion of ability.

When O'Dowd was matched to meet Wilson in a twelve-round bout to a decision, the champion entertained no thought that his opponent would emerge from the ring with the championship draped about his muscled shoulders. O'Dowd undoubtedly regarded the bout as a mere incident in his quest for wealth via the padded mitt. But after the first few rounds the then champion must have realized with something akin to a full-grown shock that he was stacked up against a boxer of no mean ability.

Wilson is a left-handed fighter and standing, like all southpaw ringsters, with his right foot and his right hand pushed forward, he has something of an advantage, for the pose is a difficult one to solve. Unlike the average left-hander, however, it is said that Wilson is quite a clever boxer; that he uses a right jab much the same as the average boxer uses his left. Furthermore, it is reported that he has a punch to support his jab. And, lastly, those who have seen him declare that he can assimilate punishment. If these things be true Wilson should retain his title for some time in spite of the fact that twenty-seven is rather late in life, as years are measured in the ring, for a boxer to scale the pinnacle.

The Manhattan Nines.

The real test for Manhattan's two major league entries, the Giants and the Yankees, will set in tomorrow when each team will begin its first clash of the year with the teams from the West. Up to date both clubs have been big disappointments, the Giants winning only six of their seventeen starts while the Yankees were winning nine of their twenty games.

Unless the early dope was entirely wrong, which is not likely, though it fails to hold up in certain details, the strength of both major leagues inclined toward the Western ends of the circuits. In the National League the Reds, Cubs and Pirates stand out as strong combinations, and in the American League the Indians, White Sox and Tigers were picked as certain first division teams. The Tigers have disappointed but the other clubs are performing up to expectations.

The fans ask, and with reason, just what progress the Giants may expect to make against Reds, Cubs, Pirates and Cardinals away from home if they could not gain any ground against the Phillies and Braves in the East. Brooklyn was regarded from the start as a dangerous team, but the others were not, and even the present position of the Braves will not make some of the critics change their ideas. Taken collectively the Western teams may be rated as stronger than their Eastern rivals.

Exactly the same condition prevails in the American League. Every team in the West can be listed as a worthy foe of the Huggins troupe, while the three Eastern teams outside of New York are generally rated as weaker than the Yankees. Yet against this opposition the Yanks have been unable to get as much as an even break. Can they do better against the Western representatives? The answer is that they cannot unless they play a better brand of ball than they have shown to date.

Decoration Day looms up only three weeks away and neither New York team has been able to find itself. It behooves both to move a bit faster, if indeed they are strong enough to move faster, as the handicap of being left at the post often is too great to overcome. It is possible that both New York entries have been somewhat overrated, a fault that is not exactly novel among dopesters. The coming three weeks will go far in proving just how much class the teams of McGraw and Huggins really possess. It has been the rule of pennant winners in the past to show before the first of June that they belong in the top set and the time is approaching for these clubs to make a display. Up to date neither has showed itself a real contender, not to mention pennant winner, and New Yorkers looked upon both as probable contenders all the way.

Good Work at Traps.

If any doubt was extant in this broad land as to the ability of American trapshooters it must have been dispelled last week. Shooting over the traps of the New York Athletic Club at Travers Island, upward of two hundred Nimrods banged away at the blue rocks to such purpose as to prove conclusively that the United States will not want for strong representation in the Olympic Games at Antwerp. It is evident that the American shield will be well chaperoned, and if early performances can be accepted as a criterion of what the trapshots of this country are to do this season, there is reason to believe that the team which will be sent to Belgium will be every whit as strong, if not stronger, than that which so creditably disported itself at Stockholm in 1912.

While no "unknown" blossomed overnight to absorb any appreciable quantity of the calcium, the performances turned in by the veterans were extremely gratifying and satisfying. The scores recorded indicated that they had already attained midseason form and their shooting augurs well for what this country may expect when its team is pitted against the best amateurs in the world. Nothing could have been more pleasing than the victory of Jay Clark, Jr., in the national amateur championship on Saturday. In a measure the victory of the Worcester, Mass., gunner was dimmed by the inability of Frank S. Wright to compete, but it is doubtful if even the former holder of the title would have been able to sidetrack Clark, who made 197 out of a possible 200. In making this score he equalled the record for the event held jointly by J. E. Jennings of Ontario and Fred Plum of Atlantic City. Incidentally, Clark made 135 straight "kills" before he missed. Clark has been appointed captain of the American Olympic trapshooting team, and nothing could be more impressive than to have him win the national championship.

While no one has been definitely selected to make the trip to Belgium aside from Clark, it is reasonable to assume that Wright will be among those present when the team sails, and his work at Travers Island therefore is equally gratifying. He successfully defended his New York State singles championship, scoring 283 out of a possible 300 in two days' shooting, and followed up this achievement by winning the State doubles championship by breaking 78 in fifty pairs of doubles.

In spite of Wright's excellent shooting in the singles he was not the high gunner. G. A. Smith of Chicago broke 286, but, being a resident of Chicago, he was not eligible to win the New York State title. Further evidence that the gunners had their eyes on the clays was offered in the "Maplewood 100," when three of them tied for first place—G. A. Smith, H. J. Prendergast of Phoenix, N. Y., and F. A. Siebert of the New York A. C. They each broke 97 out of 100. In the shootoff Smith won by killing twenty-five straight.

The America's Cup Boats.

Judging by the advance activities there is every reason to believe that competition for the honor of defending the America's Cup will come up to the expectations of the most optimistic followers of the sport. Both yachts, the Resolute and Vantile, were launched the same day and a week later both were ready for the first trial spin. That affords the best evidence of the keen rivalry existing between the crews of the two big single-stickers. Only the enthusiastic and whole-hearted work of the crews made it possible to rig the two sloops and have them ready for the trials within a single week.

As it happened, bad weather interfered with the arrangements as regards the trials, but, notwithstanding that, the Vanitie was given her first brief though satisfactory spin under canvas on Saturday, while those who control the activities of the Bristol sloop tried their boat yesterday. The fact that the Vanitie had a shade the better of it in the matter of launching, when the Resolute was held over on her cradle for an extra tide, and also the fact that the Vanitie had her trial on Saturday as was announced she would, and that the Resolute did not, although it was announced from Bristol, R. I., that she would, are both taken as good omens by the Vanitie's crew. While that means nothing in one way, still it is an excellent thing to have a crew become enthusiastic even though the enthusiasm is based on nothing more tangible than superstition.

Applying that same theory to the Shamrock IV.'s crew, they have little to become enthusiastic about when it is known that the 23-metre Shamrock, their trial "horse," is weather-bound at Falmouth, England. That makes it seem improbable that the challenger will get the advantages of competition in her trial races off Sandy Hook for the length of time it was hoped she would, and there is no doubt that tuning up is more thoroughly accomplished in competition than alone.

In this respect the Shamrock IV. is unfortunate, which all regret, but her designer, Charles Nicholson, will soon be in this country, and the presence of that keen, clever naval architect, who has disregarded all precedents and turned out a yacht entirely unlike any other ever seen in this country, should do much toward encouraging the equally clever crew of the challenger.

American yachtsmen have been anxious to see the strange green creation in actual competition, that they might get some line on her, but it now seems as though they will have to wait indefinitely for that privilege, meaning [illegible] preparing for her activities afloat, and even those who are most desirous of seeing the comparatively defeated Resolute admit that the element of uncertainty exists this year to a greater extent than ever before.

PHILLIPSON VICTOR IN BRONX ROAD RUN

Shows Heels to Large Field in K. of C. Race—Bohland Wins Time Prize.

O. Phillipson of the Pastime A. C. showed his heels to a large field of rivals yesterday in the open handicap road race over a course of six miles in the Bronx, under the auspices of Unity Council, Knights of Columbus. The Brazilian Cross wearer, aided considerably by a handicap of 5 minutes 15 seconds, gained the lead shortly after passing the first mile, and remained at the head of the pack thereafter to the finish. Phillipson's time was 34:10. At the finish line he had an advantage of about a furlong over M. Tea, Glencoe A. C., who started off the 4:45 mark, and returned the actual time of 33:46. A. Pohring, Morningside A. C., finished third.

Max Bohland of the Paulist A. C., former national cross-country champion, impressed the large crowd which witnessed the race by a spectacular display of form. The sturdy Paulist harrier, starting from scratch in the wake of ninety-one rivals who were liberally handicapped, raced at top speed after the first mile and, cutting down his rivals consistently as the race progressed, dashed over the finish line in thirteenth position. His time, 31:11, ganed the fast time prize.

The ideal weather resulted in the unusually large number of starters. The majority of the field was sent away in the first batch of runners, who were allowed the limit handicap of 5 minutes and 30 seconds.

Harriers of the Paulist A. C. gathered in the team prize, making their third trophy conquest in as many runs. The Winged P runners returned the low winning score of 41 points, a margin of twelve lower than that of the Pastime A. C. harriers, who were second. A trophy for the first novice team to finish went to the Yorkville Catholic Club, whose runners finished last in the team competition. W. Deegan, St. Anselm's A. C., who finished eighth, gained a prize offered for the first Knights of Columbus member to finish.

Pos. Name and Club.	Handicap.	Actual Time.
1—O. Phillipson, Pastime A. C.	5:15	34:10
2—M. Tea, Glencoe A. C.	4:45	33:46

FAVORITES ADVANCE IN HARLEM TENNIS

First of Season's Singles Tourneys Gets Under Way—Allen Behr Wins Hard Battle.

Close matches marked the opening of the men's singles at the Harlem Tennis Club yesterday, the tournament constituting the formal initiation of the outdoor season so far as individual competition is concerned. Saturday's rain had not affected the enthusiasm of the contestants, and after a day's delay the majority of the 123 entries were on hand to begin the work of elimination. A full Sunday of tennis cut down the first round to reasonable proportions, with several contenders advancing to the third row of brackets, among them being the two Letsons, Fred and Ben, and N. R. Sinclair, a promising newcomer to tournament play.

Significant among the victors of the opening round were Allen Behr, who was carried through a hard three-set match by T. R. Keen of the University Heights Club; H. H. Manchester, who also required three sets to dispose of Joseph W. Fox, the Harlem Club champion; R. J. Gatcomb, who put out W. M. Fischer in two deuce sets; Fred C. Anderson, Ingo F. Hartmann, Edward Oelsner of Montclair, P. L. Kynaston and Alfred D. Hammett, whose straight-set victory over Walter J. Toussaint produced some of the best tennis of the day. All the remaining players in the first round will be expected to appear this afternoon, and absentees will be automatically defaulted.

Keen's spectacular battle against Allen Behr was one of the leading features of yesterday afternoon's play, and for a time it looked as though an upset might be staged. Behr was in trouble with his racquets from the start, a few new strings upsetting his stroke, and the resulting errors helped Keen to pull out the first set in impressive fashion at 6—4. The second was a toss up most of the way, but Behr finally managed to borrow a bat that suited him, and squared the match by a 7—5 score. Playing with new confidence, he swept through the rubber with the loss of only one game, having by this time fathomed the style of his rival.

Manchester Hard Pressed.

Manchester was also in difficulty when he dropped the opening set to Fox at 6—3. These two are old rivals, having met in the final of the Harlem tournament several years ago, on which occasion Manchester was likewise the winner. Fox has improved since then, and his steadiness is a terror to his opponents. Yesterday, however, he had little left after his great effort of the opening set. Manchester gradually increased the speed of his game, and his fast driving soon tied the count by a duplicate score. The rubber was a quick and sensational victory for the University Heights star.

Gatcomb's victory over W. M. Fischer came as something of a surprise, as the latter had made an unusually good record in the national indoor championship. The west sider had a wealth of shots, with particular strength of service, and, although he was inclined to be wild, he managed to pull through the pinches with sufficient steadiness, and won at 7—5, 11—9.

The chopping game of Hammett was just a shade too strong for Toussaint, although both sets went by the narrowest of margins. In the first set they alternated in winning on service up to 5-all, and then Hammett managed to break through and take the set, 7—5. In the second he ran up a lead of 5—1, and seemed to have the game in safe keeping when Toussaint made a splendid pull-up, tying the score. Hammett had just enough left to win on his own final service, capturing the set and match, 6—4.

Long Fred Anderson was in good form against S. V. Brubans of Hoboken in the feature match of the morning. His accurate drives, with the direction always well concealed, kept his opponent on the run and opened the way for volleys of a telling finality. Brubans did well to get a total of seven games in two sets.

First Round.

Allen Behr defeated T. R. Keene, 4—6, 7—5, 6—1; Sigmund Spaeth defeated W. Buxton, 6—4, 7—5; R. E. Roberts defeated C. H. Nannes, 6—3, 6—2; H. B. O'Boyle defeated J. E. Ackland, 6—1, 6—3; Ely Bahar won from W. De Mott, by default; H. W. Schwartz defeated R. Kuhne, 6—1, 6—2; E. Desnoes defeated J. Cuskley, 6—2, 6—2; L. W. Knox defeated J. Blecher, 6—3, 8—10, 7—5; C. B. Steward defeated L. Lefkowitz, 6—1, 6—1; R. J. Gatcomb defeated W. M. Fischer, 7—5, 11—9; H. L. Bowman won from B. H. Mardfin, by default; Edward Oelsner defeated W. B. Roberts, 6—1, 6—4; Charles Le Maire defeated W. Abels, 6—4, 8—6; L. V. Cook defeated S. Sanberg, 6—1, 3—6, 6—3; N. R. Sinclair defeated A. E. Rudolph, 10—8, 6—3; R. De Castro won from F. Mathews, by default; M. Macksoud defeated E. B. Reese, 7—5, 6—4; Augustin Healy defeated A. L. Bruneau, 1—6, 6—2, 6—3; V. Spark won from W. H. Wood, by default; Ben Letson defeated Colgate Baker, 6—3, 6—3; C. A. Sparks won from E. H. Henderson, by default; J. S. McDermott defeated R. J. Sommer, 6—2, 7—9, 6—0; H. H. Manchester defeated J. W. Fox, 3—6, 6—3, 6—1; Fred Letson defeated Herbert Buzzini, 7—5, 6—4; F. M. Loughman won from G. A. Walker, Jr., by default; P. Keresey defeated J. P. Nikonow, 6—1, 7—5; Fred C. Anderson defeated S. V. Brubans, 6—4, 6—3; Ingo F. Hartmann defeated Norman Winter, 6—0, 7—5; N. Comes defeated E. Damrau, 6—2, 0—6, 6—3; L. H. Rogers defeated W. C. Hammond, 9—7, 6—3; P. L. Kynaston defeated F. P. Adams, 6—1, 6—4; A. D. Hammett defeated W. J. Toussaint, 8—6, 6—4.

Second Round.

N. R. Sinclair defeated R. De Castro, 6—0, 6—4; Ben Letson defeated V. Spark, 6—1, 6—3; H. Selig defeated H. Wiselthier, 6—2, 6—4; Fred Letson defeated F. M. Loughman, 7—5, 6—3; P. Keresey defeated C. A. Anderson, 6—1, 4—6, 6—3.

KUMAGAE AND BINZEN WIN.

Defeat Steinkampf and Joliffe for North Side Tennis Title.

Little Ichiya Kumagae added another tennis prize to his collection when, in partnership with Elliott H. Binzen, he yesterday won the north side doubles championship at the University Heights Club, defeating J. H. Steinkampf and Carl Joliffe in the final round, 6—0, 6—2, 6—3. The Japanese star thereby duplicated his victory of last season in the same event, when he was paired with Harold Taylor. In an exhibition singles match staged after the doubles Kumagae defeated his partner in straight sets, 6—3, 6—1.

Yesterday's climax of the season's opening tournament was disappointing in its one-sidedness. The speed of Kumagae and Binzen completely baffled their opponents, and they never really got their own game started. Neither Steinkampf nor Joliffe had a sufficiently severe service to provide them with an aggressive weapon of attack, and, during the first set in particular, their deliveries were relentlessly killed off the ground, making accurate volleying a practical impossibility. Even when merely blocking the ball at the net the losers found it sailing out of court again and again by the sheer force of the impact against their racquets.

That opening session represented a perfect orgy of free hiting on the part of the Japanese-American team, and they were never in real danger of losing even a game. Both Steinkampf and Joliffe had their service broken through with monotonous regularity, while neither the left-handed offerings of Kumagae nor the twofold twisters of Binzen showed any signs of being upset.

Joliffe was handicapped most of the way by playing in an unaccustomed style of tennis shoe, and his game never reached its usual dependable level. [illegible] overhead, [illegible] consistent work.

The summary:

FINAL ROUND—Ichiya Kumagae and Elliott H. Binzen defeated J. Harry Steinkampf and Carl Joliffe, 6—0, 6—2, 6—3.

THE SIGNAL CORPS SCHOOL
Camp Alfred Vail, N. J.
April 12, 1920.

Dear Rodie,

Yes, I am in the Army now, and here at Camp Vail learning telegraph operating and telephone and telegraph repeater work. I like the life and I really believe I am fitting myself for a good paying job when my enlistment is up.

The work is laid out so that it reaches the average man and you don't have to be a high brow to understand it.

The school now has ten commissioned instructors, three consulting engineers from civil life, and twenty-six non-commissioned instructors, and they are all mighty fine fellows. I am a private myself but I can be promoted up to a hundred and five dollars a month, all practically clear money, for everything is furnished.

How are James and Hines? Give my regards to your father.

Let me hear from you some time.

Yours as ever,
Dewey

ZIONISTS OUTLINE PALESTINE'S FUTURE

With 1,500 Delegates, Notable Convention Opens in This City.

ACCLAIM BRITISH MANDATE

Industrial Program Includes Building of Cities—Nathan Straus Going There.

An extraordinary convention of the Zionist Organization of America, which brought together more than 1,500 delegates, opened yesterday afternoon at the Lexington Opera House. After expressing gratitude for the action of the Supreme Council at San Remo in conferring the Palestine mandate on Great Britain the convention began the preparation of a constructive program to carry out the aspirations of Zionists the world over. The convention was hailed as "the most important and most historic gathering of Jews ever held in America."

When the convention reassembles today at the Hotel Astor it is expected that plans will be drawn up calling for a definite immigration policy in Palestine, for a sanitation program, reclamation of swamp lands, irrigation, construction of cities along the coast and the launching of industrial and commercial enterprises fitted to the land. The convention will also give definite instructions to the American delegation which will participate in the International Zionist Conference in Carlsbad, Czechoslovakia, on July 4. It will adjourn tonight.

The first session emphasized the need for immediate and untiring attention to the physical phases of the work of making Palestine a national homeland for the Jews.

"There is no longer a question of Zionism or anti-Zionism," declared Judge Julian W. Mack, the Chairman. "San Remo has settled these controversies. We must now all join hands in the practical work that confronts us."

In line with this policy, announcement was made by Dr. Stephen S. Wise that Nathan Straus has signified his intention to contribute $100,000 to found a Medical Research and Health Service Department at the University of Jerusalem. Mr. Straus, he said, would increase this gift from time to time in order to make possible in Palestine a health and medical service "comparable to such service as the Rockefeller Foundation is rendering in many lands."

Mr. Straus announced that with Mrs. Straus he will sail for Palestine on June 12 for an extended stay. He will begin work of a non-political and nonsectarian character, he said.

Ovations were accorded Mr. Straus and United States Supreme Court Justice Louis D. Brandeis who sat on the platform. In response to the presentation of a gift of flowers in recognition of his work for the Zionist cause, Justice Brandeis said, "Fellow Jews, let us prove ourselves worthy of this great opportunity."

Greetings were read from Mr. Lloyd George, British Prime Minister; Sir Auckland Geddes, British Ambassador, and Dr. Chaim Weizman, Zionist leader, of London. Resolutions were adopted thanking President Wilson and American statesmen and the Allies for the action at San Remo.

Mr. Lloyd George's message read:

"Ratification by Supreme Council of Balfour Declaration and conferring mandate of Palestine on Great Britain great triumph for progressive Jewish cause. I have no doubt that Jews of the world will co-operate with Great Britain making Palestine not only a prosperous home for the Jews but a land of liberty and opportunity for all other inhabitants as well."

Felix Frankfurter offered a resolution of gratitude to Chaim Weizman and Nathum Sokolow, Zionist leaders, who helped in the work that led to San Remo. The resolution was adopted as was another one offered by Judge Hugo Pam of Chicago, rejoicing in the independence of Armenia.

More than $106,000 was subscribed at the night session. With the $100,000 gift of Mr. Straus the total amount that will go toward the Palestine Restoration Fund and the University of Jerusalem is more than $206,000. In lieu of a money donation the Nurses' Zionist Medical Unit volunteered to serve one year in relief work in Palestine.

"The dreamers of the ghetto must become builders now," declared Dr. Wise in an address last night. Telegrams of congratulation were read from Governor Alfred E. Smith, Dr. Charles W. Eliot, Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Secretary of War Newton D. Baker and the Governors of several States.

Announcement was made that a Zionist parade would take place at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Zionists of New York were asked to assemble at 2 P. M. at Washington Square. The celebration will close tomorrow night with a concert at the Metropolitan Opera House.

SEEK GANG IN SHIP THEFTS.

LONDON, May 9.—A dispatch to The London Times from Sydney, New South Wales, says that recent experiences have indicated that a gang of men with world-wide ramifications is engaged in stealing from cargoes on their way to Australia from English and American ports.

The cost to shipping companies and merchants, it is said, has aggregated thousands of pounds sterling annually. The pilfering has taken place prior to shipment from the points of origin during transmission and after arrival at destinations.

At Sydney £15,000 worth of goods have been stolen since Christmas time and other ports have suffered in a similar manner.

EUROPE PREPARES TO RECEIVE VISITORS

Various Reminders of the War Have Been Obliterated and Capitals Promise Gayety.

PRICES FAIRLY MODERATE

Private Houses in London Will Provide Accommodations When Hotels Are Not Available.

Major Frederick Palmer, war correspondent, author and lecturer, who lately returned from a six months' tour through England, France, Italy and other countries, says that Europe is making unusual preparations to entertain American visitors.

"In London and Paris especially," said Major Palmer, "a great influx of Americans is expected this season, and, in fact, before I left Europe many were arriving. Those who go over this year will certainly not be disappointed. They will be surprised to find how much the various reminders of the war have been obliterated, and how extensively life has again returned to normal conditions. In Paris, for instance, the boulevards, during the daytime, are filled with the usual lively throngs, and in the evening the cafés are crowded with people, just as in the pre-war days. There is every indication that the coming season in Europe will be distinguished by all the gaiety of former times.

"Contrary to what had been reported, I found that hotel rates and restaurant prices were fairly moderate abroad. Emphatic denials were recently made, through the French press, of reports circulated in this country and elsewhere, to the effect that hotel accommodations in Paris and other French cities were scarce, and that exorbitant rates were being charged. Investigation showed that between 25 and 40 per cent. of the rooms in good hotels were then unoccupied, while completely reorganized staffs and, in many instances, thoroughly renovated establishments awaited guests."

While French restaurants have increased their rates, they appeared to be quite reasonable in comparison with New York prices, according to Major Palmer. Food in France he found to be plentiful and of good quality.

"Although the Paris restaurants are charging far more than before the war," he explained, "the American traveler has a great advantage, owing to the present rates of exchange, which are decidedly in his favor. Recently, in Paris, I heard an American telling of how he had actually paid 40 francs for dinner at a first class restaurant. Forty francs sounded big, but as a matter of fact the franc is now worth less than 7 cents, so that he had probably paid less than $2.50 for his meal. That would surely not be considered extortionate for dinner at first class hotels in New York.

"The prices of many commodities abroad, I may add, such as men's clothing and women's apparel, seem remarkably low in comparison with American figures. All sorts of bargains can be found by those who know how to shop. Production in Europe is rapidly increasing, and as this improves there is naturally a scaling down in the high cost of living."

In London, which is attracting many visitors this season, Major Palmer found that there was some prospect of a great scarcity of hotel accommodation before Summer.

"The hotel situation," he said, "was complicated by the fact that during the war the British Government commandeered several of the largest establishments and turned them into offices. Some of these are now being returned to their former use, including the Grand Hotel, the Victoria and the Great Central.

"Fears were expressed in London that if thousands of visitors from overseas should meet with a chilly greeting and inadequate hotel facilities, they would return dissatisfied and Anglo-American friendship would receive a jolt. To prevent such a contingency the Red Triangle League was recently formed. This organization, which includes representatives from the Royal Colonial Institute, the Pilgrims' Association, the Anglo-American Society and the Overseas Club, has prepared a scheme whereby private households will offer furnished apartments and rooms to visitors unable to find quarters at the big hotels. A number of good suburban hotels have also been added to the list."

Those who contemplate a visit to the battlefields should bear in mind that a large part of these regions is still a desert with no accommodations for ordinary travelers.

"I thought experience was the best way to learn. Now I know that I could have profited by the experience of others. I should have arrived much sooner if I had had the substantial training that the young men of today can get. Other things being equal, I prefer university-trained men in my business."

"How I hated Latin and Greek! I wanted an education, but the only kind I was offered was a classical education. My biggest regret today is that with all my ambitions, I couldn't study the subjects I needed."

This man has subscribed to the New York University Endowment Fund because students at New York University are not limited to an academic education. They can get training in business and industrial management, as well as in medicine, law and engineering.

. . "Frankly, I couldn't afford it

"A college education would have meant a terrible sacrifice to my parents. I wanted to go; they wanted me to go—but I just couldn't afford it. I have paid over and over again for not having been able to go."

This man who was deprived of an education has subscribed, and subscribed heavily, to the New York University Endowment Fund. At New York University over 50% of the students work during the day and take their courses at night, paying their tuition from their own earnings. This man's gift will help to provide facilities for hundreds of such men who had to be turned away last fall.

NEW YORK UNIVERSITY has removed the handicaps that prevented these three men from going to college.

But she labors under the handicap of insufficient endowment to accommodate all who want her training and are qualified for it.

Everybody is agreed that the present cost of living is unbearable. We struggle under an economic burden that is slowly and inexorably crushing out the very spirit of the people. "Something must be done," we say, but relief is further away than ever. Why? Because until production once again is stabilized and everybody to a man puts his shoulder to the wheel to bring about that condition, forgetting his inconvenience, forgetting longer hours, forgetting for the moment himself, and unselfishly lending his best efforts to the task, RELIEF IS IMPOSSIBLE.

We and other good merchants are ready to do and are doing our part. DO YOURS. Two years ago we saw conditions changing and closed 3 heavily rent-burdened ground floor stores for one big 2nd floor shop which has proved a wonderful success, for in those two years we estimate that we have saved for our customers more than $200,000. Economy is the watchword. It is the salvation of our Nation. Again: Do your part.

To John Wanamaker goes the palm, the pennant and the plume for instituting the greatest single piece of constructive effort yet projected toward untying the Gordian knot that has held the people of this country in its merciless grip.

And almost simultaneously all over the country big merchants have signified their hearty endorsement of the move by making similar concessions. Probably for fear of advertising too generously the genius of their neighbor, and fearing a weakening of their own prestige in the eyes of the public by following his lead, merchants in New York and Philadelphia will hestitate to co-operate, but we, for one, are not too proud to fight and fly to the colors of an avowed and acknowledged leader.

As substantial as are the above reductions, actually they are greater than the prices indicate, for this reason: We are under nothing like the expense of retailers occupying sumptuous and enormously rent-burdened ground floor stores. Our rental is only $7,500 a year. We have no window-trimming or managerial expense, nor any losses incident to a large charge account clientele. Ours is strictly a cash business. The combined saving we thus effect exceeds $100,000 a year. That is why we can save every purchaser $5 to $20. But on top of this you are now to have an additional 20% discount WHICH WE BEAR.

Nothing is reserved. We offer you a choice of 40 famous nationally advertised brands, and a stock of 15,000 Spring and Summer Suits and Top Coats to choose from.

FOUR LIVES LOST IN TENEMENT FIRE

VICTIMS TRAPPED IN BEDS

SMOKE HINDERS FIREMEN

Fire Started in Hallway from Cause Not Ascertained—Money Loss $10,000.

Four men lost their lives when fire ran with amazing speed through the four-story tenement at 300 East Sixty-first Street yesterday morning at 3 o'clock. One was burned to death in his bed, two charred as they lay senseless from smoke and the fourth died a few hours later in a hospital.

The fire was discovered by Martin Offerman, an employe of the New York Edison Company. He had just finished putting a new bulb into a street lamp across from the tenement when he heard glass tinkle on the sidewalk. First one, then the other of the glass panels in the tenement's front door had yielded under the blast of fire, and Offerman turned toward the house just in time to see the flame leap out. He dashed to Second Avenue, where he turned in an alarm.

Back down the street he came. Starting in the hallway from a cause not ascertained, the fire had shot up the stairs. The smoke, the rush of flames and Offerman's cries in the street started the four families and their lodgers, or some of them, on their battle for escape. The electrician got in front of the house as Mrs. Mary Berteni and her daughter, Margaret, 3 years old, appeared at a second-floor window.

Offerman shouted to the woman not to stir. He ran down to his repair car, grabbed a ladder, ran it up to the window and brought the mother and child down to the street. Then three men occupants of rooms in the Berteni apartment came to safety in the same way.

Meanwhile the fire was making great headway in the building, of the old one-family-to-a-floor type. While Offerman was getting the occupants of the second floor out, his shouts roused Mrs. John Daly, her two sons, John and William, and three boarders, Thomas Long, George Joyce and Joseph Quinn, living on the third floor. The two sons got their mother out of bed and, when they found the hallway full of flames and smoke, went with her and Quinn to the fire escapes in the rear. They left the door of their apartment open and the fire swept in cutting off the escape of Long, 60 years old, and Joyce, who was 58 years old.

Long, 60 years old, and Joyce, who was Mrs. Mary Byrne, her two sons, Thomas and John, and three boarders. They were Timothy O'Connor, Thomas Butler and William Hughes. The Byrne boys took their mother down the fire escapes. Hughes also got out that way.

Battalion Chief Edward L. Cooke, responding to the alarm, heard that four men were somewhere in the building, and rushed Lieutenant Coles of Hook and Ladder Company 32 and a rescue squad into the fiery halls and up ladders. Fighting every inch of the way, the firemen finally reached the top floor. There, on a landing, they found the bodies of O'Connor and Butler, burned almost beyond recognition. They worked their way down to the floor below and into the flat of Mrs. Daly. Lying in the twisted remains of the iron bed was the body of Long, apparently rendered unconscious by smoke before he could stir.

The rescuers, seeking Joyce, also an occupant of the Daly flat, started for the front room, but were checked by a curtain of fire. Shouting to carry over the roar of their hose and the crackle and snap of the burning woodwork, the fire fighters yelled to Joyce in the front room. A faint yell convinced them that the man had caught their warning to go to the front window.

Down in the street firemen suddenly saw Joyce appear at the window. A ladder was rushed up and Fireman James Hagencamp dashed up. He was only a few feet from the window and was shouting a stream of encouragement to Joyce, when fire shot out all around the trapped man. Joyce disappeared backward, the tip of the fiery tongue brushed Hagencamp and he nearly fell. Regaining himself he crawled up, nearer and nearer, to the window, a square of tumbling flame. The fire gained, however, and he had to signal for a hose.

Water by the gallon was shot into the window and finally Fireman John Tobin of Engine 39 and George Riley of Hook and Ladder 16, replacing the exhausted Hagencamp, crawled into the room. Joyce, horribly burned, was a heap in a corner of the room, which, by a freak, had been practically untouched by the fire-burning walls and ceiling opposite. He was rushed to the Reception Hospital, where he died last evening at 6 o'clock.

The damage was estimated at $10,000.

Gas Blows Farmer 75 Feet; He Plunges to Death in Well

ROCHESTER, N. Y., May 9.—After being blown seventy-five feet into the air by the explosion of a gas pocket in a well on his farm, two miles from Geneseo, this afternoon, Myron N. Stapley, 57 years old, plunged to the bottom of the forty foot well and was instantly killed.

AMERICAN PRESS LEADS, COBB SAYS

BLAMES OUTLAW STRIKERS

Propaganda Inherited from War the Chief Foe Now to be Fought, He Says.

Frank I. Cobb, editor of The New York World, declared last night in an address at the Church of the Ascension Forum that, whatever were the faults of the American newspaper, lack of integrity was not one of them. Mr. Cobb asserted that the newspapers of America were on a higher moral plane than those of any country in the world.

"In my experience of thirty years I have never seen much news suppressed," he said. "Whenever you see a despondent newspaper man who says he had a story which was suppressed you may make sure that he did not understand his job or that he did not have much strength of character. There may be news suppressed, but with newspapers the defects are mechanical rather than moral. You can not have any idea what havoc linotypes and stereotyping machines and presses will play.

"Nor is there much truth in the popular superstition that advertisers have a great deal to do with what news is printed. The great newspaper, the successful one, prints so much advertising that one advertisement is of no importance. Nor have I ever known any advertiser who tried to control a newspaper.

Praises Integrity of Press.

"I have never known a first-class newspaper man who would not print the news if he knew it was true. In the long run the newspaper can't be much better or much worse than the community in which it circulates. On this question of integrity I believe that whatever are the faults of our newspapers they are on a higher plane of integrity than any other journalism in the world. This in spite of many difficulties that they have to contend with because of the peculiar population of New York, a population that is in no sense homogeneous. The foreign-language papers of New York exceed in circulation THE TIMES, The World and The American, the three great papers in point of circulation.

"Our papers are more free from control than any others. There are, it is true, differences in handling news, but they are essentially the same. The existence of propaganda in this country is proof of the fact that the newspapers cannot be controlled through their owners or managers."

The chief fault of our newspapers, as Mr. Cobb sees them, is cynicism, and this, he said, was largely a reflection of the moral reaction which has set in since the war ended.

"The newspapers are overworked; they are tired," Mr. Cobb said. "They are losing the greatest quality that they had through three generations—the quality of militant journalism. They are so overcrowded with matters of little importance that they can't fight for something big.

"That can be cured by the American people themselves. I have never seen the American people steeped in things so little worth while and so tied down by cynicism, materialism and selfishness. This is a reaction from the spirit that wrapped this country during the war. The papers are swamped with a mass of so-called news, most of which is of no importance, but the people seem to be interested in just that sort of thing.

"This reaction which followed the war is all the more grave because of the little realization there is of the grave problems there are to be solved.

"When you begin to wonder what is the matter with the newspapers you should ask what is the matter with yourselves."

The Struggle with Propaganda.

The newspapers today are waging an unending struggle against propaganda, Mr. Cobb declared. He said that the propaganda which began with the Germans during the war and then was developed by all countries in the war had given way to a different sort of propaganda, which is being carried on by private interests.

"The propagandists are now working on labor matters, for one thing," he said. "The closest group is the labor group. When Upton Sinclair said in relation to the coal strike that THE TIMES and The World knew that the men were going back he was mistaken. I can prove an alibi, and I suppose THE TIMES could.

"Take the case of the outlaw strike. I doubt if any one here knows what the strike was all about. The newspapers didn't know anything about it until the strike started, and when the reporters tried to learn from the strikers what their reasons were for striking they got no information. They were thrown out of the meetings. I am trying to show the difficulty of getting news under these conditions."

"I sometimes question whether the radicals are sincere when they say the newspapers which they call capitalistic are not independent and say they must own their own newspapers. Take The New York Call, a very good newspaper. Yet The Call is not prosperous and it is apparent that the very persons who are denouncing the 'so-called capitalistic press' prefer these papers to The Call."

Cost of Making a Newspaper.

"The newspapers, of course, have to figure out how much it is going to cost them to run. A paper like THE TIMES or The World has to figure $10,000,000 or $12,000,000 a year for running expenses. But it does not have to worry much about getting advertising."

Mr. Cobb, when asked during the questioning that followed the address why he supported President Wilson's policies, said:

"I know it is not fashionable to support Woodrow Wilson. I supported him consistently because I believe that he is the greatest moral force in the world for 100 years. I believe that if the world is to make any progress it must go back to the policies of Woodrow Wilson, including the Fourteen Points."

Several questions relating to the "outlaw" railroad strike were asked of Mr. Cobb. He denied assertions that the strikers had not got a square deal and declared that the reasons why they did not get any publicity was because they did not give any publicity.

"If the people have had a moral reaction, why don't the newspapers try to lead the people?" ran one question.

"I will refer the questioner to the campaign of 1917," said Mr. Cobb. "Every responsible newspaper in New York City opposed Mayor Hylan, yet he was elected by a great majority. And you talk about leading the people."

PROFITEERS ASKED TO AID WAR VICTIMS

Felix Warburg Says Every One Who Made Money During Conflict Should Contribute.

APPEALS FOR JEWISH FUND

Brooklyn Citizens Subscribe $125,000 and Pledge Borough to Raise $500,000.

With the assertion that any man who came out of the war richer than he was before, as a result of the world struggle, was a profiteer, Felix M. Warburg last night called upon those thus enriched to devote their unexpected surplus to relieving the misery that followed in the wake of the conflict.

Mr. Warburg's speech was made at a dinner given to him by Walter N. Rothschild, at which Brooklyn pledged its aid in support of the campaign for $7,500,000 for the relief of Jewish war sufferers in Central and Eastern Europe. It was applauded warmly, as was a declaration a few minutes later by Judge Otto Rosalsky, Chairman of the Fund Committee, that it was time to turn the searchlight on those who were able to subscribe to the fund and had failed to do so. Pointing out that fewer than 500 persons had given $500 or more, Judge Rosalsky said such persons should be shamed into giving.

A few more than a hundred of the leading Jews of Brooklyn attended the dinner at the Hotel Pennsylvania. Among themselves they subscribed $125,000 and at the same time pledged the borough to contribute not less than $500,000.

"Before the war," said Mr. Warburg, "the average American said that if he came out of it without the loss of a relative of friend he would be satisfied; he did not wish to enrich himself. He had no thought of making a profit out of the war.

"Now, that the war is over, those men ought to keep their promises and live up to the statements they made at its onset. I personally made no profit out of the war, and had no wish to do so, and I wish to say to you now that any man who did make money out of it, who is richer as a direct result of it, is a profiteer. It is high time he applied those gains to the relief of the woe and suffering that have followed in the wake of the conflict."

Discussing his speech later, Mr. Warburg said he did not wish his censure interpreted as applying solely to those who in one way or another had expressed themselves as not desiring to benefit by the conflict. On the contrary, he said, those who did not commit themselves as to their attitudes were just as much obligated to use their war gains for the relief of suffering.

Turning to a description of conditions in Poland, East Galicia and Ukraine Mr. Warburg gave sad details of pogroms, declared that 60,000 prisoners had died in Siberia because the Red Cross and other relief organizations once took no for an answer, and insisted that if this country now said no to the Jewish sufferers they would be shouldering the responsibility for disaster to hundreds of thousands.

Mr. Warburg criticised the Republican majority in Congress for its failure to appropriate $1,800,000 recommended by President Wilson for sanitary work in Poland. Dr. Royal S. Copeland, Health Commissioner, he said, was about to erect a first line of defense in Europe against the coming of dread typhus to this country, but just as sure as preventive work was not pressed to the fullest extent abroad the scourge would reach our shores.

Mr. Rothschild presided, and Nathan S. Jonas, one of Brooklyn's leaders in Jewish philanthropy, declared the time had come when that borough no longer could stand aloof from Manhattan when any enterprise of Jewish welfare work was afoot, but that hereafter Brooklyn would have to bear its full share of any burden for the relief of Jews here or abroad.

Efforts to raise $7,500,000 in New York will be renewed this morning with the opening of the second week of the non-sectarian campaign.

The whole country is asked to contribute $35,000,000, the amount necessary to stay the spread of famine and typhus and to put the simplest means of rehabilitation into the hands of some 6,000,000 people. New York's full quota must be got if the campaign is to succeed.

Leaders of the movement were hopeful last night that by now the dire nature of the calamities threatening or already overtaking the helpless in the Ukraine, Poland, East Galicia and elsewhere would be thoroughly understood and that at the same time the city generally would be roused to appreciation of the fact that for the first time Jews were making their appeal irrespective of race and creed. Paul Baerwald, treasurer of the campaign fund, at 389 Fifth Avenue, expected that one result of a week of educational campaigning would be a flood of checks in this morning's mail. From headquarters came a reminder last night, that the appeal was not to the wealthy alone and that small contributions were sought eagerly and welcomed gladly.

LASKI LEAVES HARVARD.

Professor Once Criticised for Radical Tendencies, in New Field.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 9.—Harold J. Laski, lecturer on history at Harvard and tutor in the division of history, government and economics, has been appointed full professor of political science at the London School of Economics and has resigned from the Harvard teaching staff to accept this appointment. Although only 26 years old, he has had an unusual record as a scholar and teacher in the fields of history and government.

Last Autumn Professor Laski was under fire for alleged radical tendencies and pressure was brought on the Governing Boards of Harvard for his removal. The Board of Overseers, however, accepted the report of the Executive Committee "that they had collected information from all available sources and were satisfied that Mr. Laski's opinions had been misunderstood and misinterpreted, and that no further action should be taken."

Postmen, Telegraph and Telephone Workers in France Ready to Strike

PARIS, May 9.—The Federation of Telegraph, Telephone and Post Office Workers, at a mass meeting held today for the purpose of discussing means to support the workers now on strike, adopted an order of the day declaring their readiness to respond to a strike order in sympathy with the railroad men if the Federation of Labor should request their co-operation.

The Labor Federation in a statement tonight declared all indications showed that the new unions called out were inspired with as strong a determination as those already on strike, and urgently appealed to the strikers not to allow themselves to be distracted by other aims, such as more pay and less work, which would only belittle the movement and scatter its strength.

The statement concluded by warning the strikers to take no orders except from the Federation and to abstain from demonstrations.

REDS BLAME LEAGUE FOR POLES' ATTACK

ACCEPTS PRINCIPLE OF VISIT

Rumania and Other Nations Reported Preparing to Join War on Soviet Russia.

LONDON, May 9.—The Central Soviet, a Moscow wireless message says, announces that, in view of the fact that certain members of the League of Nations are actively supporting Poland, and the Ukraine warring on Russia, it cannot, by reason of military considerations, admit into Russia any delegation which includes representatives of those nations, although the Soviet supports the principle of the league's decision to send an investigating delegation into Russia.

The statement complains that the league has failed to protest against Poland's action, declares that the Soviet is ready to admit all newspaper representatives giving guarantees that they will not abuse the hospitality of the Russian people, and will afford facilities to the British trade union delegation as guests of the Russian trade unions.

It concludes by stating that a committee has been appointed, comprising Comrades Kamenev, Lutovinov (Litvinov?) and Mursky, who, jointly with Tchitcherin, the Foreign Minister, are authorized to admit at the proper time the League of Nations delegation without convoking a meeting of the All-Russian Central Executive Committee.

BERLIN, May 9.—The Independent Socialists are planning to hold a great demonstration on Tuesday of this week in favor of Soviet Russia. In a manifesto printed in the party organ, the Freiheit, it is declared that all signs point to the intention of the allied powers again to draw a circle around Soviet Russia.

"The forces for the attack are to be increased," adds the newspaper, "and it is probable that Hungary, Serbia and Rumania will be participants."

Rumania Prepares to Join Poles.

COPENHAGEN, May 9.—The Politiken publishes a report from Budapest that feverish military preparations are proceeding in Rumania.

Berlin newspapers say that the Rumanian Premier has gone to Warsaw to negotiate with General Pilsudski, the head of the Polish State, for an alliance against Russia.

BOMB HURLED AT CAR OF EGYPTIAN MINISTER

CAIRO, May 9.—A bomb was thrown at Hussein Darwiche, the Minister of Works, as he was motoring homeward from his office Saturday evening.

The bomb struck the gasoline tank of the motor car, slightly injuring the chauffeur. The Minister, however, was unhurt.

A university student standing near the scene was mortally wounded by the explosion and died this morning. Two other students were slightly injured and were placed under arrest.

The student who received the mortal hurts was supposed to have been concerned in the outrage, but before he died he declared that he had been an innocent bystander.

ATTEMPT TO KILL TURKISH GRAND VIZIER

Three Shots Fired at Damad Ferid Pasha, but He Escapes Injury.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 8 (Associated Press).—An attempt was made last night upon the life of Damad Ferid Pasha, the Grand Vizier, at his home.

Three shots were fired at him, none of which took effect.

NEW BREMEN CONSTITUTION

German City Has a Diet Now as Well as a Senate.

BREMEN, May 9 (Associated Press).—The General Assembly of Bremen has adopted a new Constitution for the "Free Hanseatic City of Bremen," which will take effect on June 6. The new Government will be elected by popular vote, the legislative bodies being a Diet and a Senate, any differences between which will be decided by a plebiscite.

The harbors, under the new fundamental law, are to be controlled by a publicly incorporated body under State supervision. Various commercial chambers are instituted, with the right to vote on local ordinances.

Under its old Constitution, the free City of Bremen was governed by a Senate only.

POLES ENTER KIEV; MET NO RESISTANCE

FIGHTING IN THE OUTSKIRTS

Struggle for Two Days with Infantry and Then Artillery was Brought Up.

WARSAW, May 8 (Associated Press).—Polish cavalry entered the city of Kiev on Saturday morning on the heels of the retreating Bolsheviki.

The city has been evacuated by the Bolsheviki. The Polish infantry kept up its advance toward Kiev during the day, cavalry detachments keeping contact with the infantry forces.

Kiev was entered by the cavalrymen from the west.

There was little fighting, according to reports reaching Polish headquarters in Warsaw, the cavalry going into the city all day as the infantry advanced in a great semicircle. A few machine gun shots were fired in the early morning as the cavalry appeared, but this was quickly silenced, and reports say that the evacuation of Kiev began soon afterward, or as soon as the advancing troops appeared in force.

The stiffest fighting engaged in by the Poles before they reached the outskirts of Kiev was along the Irpen River, just west of that city. The Bolsheviki well intrenched, defended the strip between the Irpen and the Dnieper until they were literally blasted from their positions.

The Poles first crossed the Irpen northwest of Kiev, near the Dnieper, early on Saturday after a three-day fight before the city's gates. Soon afterward the passage of the river was effected in force at various points over emergency bridges, some of which were built under the fire of the Bolshevist machine guns. The Malin-Kiev Railroad bridge across the Irpen, which was destroyed by the retreating enemy, is being repaired by soldiers, aided by the local population.

For two days the struggle was for the most part an infantry battle. By the end of that time, however, the retreating defenders had recovered sufficiently from their confusion to bring up artillery and put it into play. Meanwhile the Poles also had brought up guns, but the progress of the artillery to the battlefront was much hampered by the rough country, the dynamited highways and bridges and various obstacles placed by the Bolsheviki to handicap the advancing Poles.

It was early on Friday that the Soviet troops began gradually to give way before the Polish cannon fire on all sides. The defenders fell back upon Kiev, where the only available crossing of the Dnieper was to be found. Modern armored trains from the south on the Polish side aided the infantry in their fight for the ancient Russian capital, but the advance along the railroad from Fastova was made under the greatest difficulties, because of the railroad being under fire from the Bolshevist guns in their positions along the chain of hills encircling Kiev.

Armored trains were brought up by way of Malin also, and these will move into Kiev as soon as the bridge over the Irpen is repaired, and will stand by with the reinforcements to be sent into the city, in preparation for holding Kiev against counterattacks.

An offensive was begun to the north on Saturday by the Poles, according to the latest communiqué, which announced that the military commanders had decided that an attack was necessary to offset the Bolshevist concentration in the region beyond Mozir. The first day's fighting resulted in the capture of Choinski, east of Mozir, and the railroad town of Wasilewicze, northeast of Mozir. Much material, the statement adds, was taken by the Poles.

LONDON, May 9.—A Bolshevist communication says that in the Kiev region, after fighting a rear guard engagement near a crossing of the Dnieper, the Bolshevist troops are concentrating on the left bank.

DEFENDS FRENCH AID TO POLES

Copyright, 1920, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, May 9.—The Manchester Guardian, which on Saturday contained an editorial article strongly criticising the activities of the French in Poland and blaming them and the Poles for "hurling their composite forces on men who plead vainly for a settlement," is taken to task by the leading article in the Temps tonight. The Temps declares that the French are far from "pursuing a vain dream of building up Poland as a client State of France, hemming in France's great enemy on the eastern front," as the English paper puts it; that Poland is France's ally and that France is trying to insure Poland's independence no less than her own.

The Temps does not specifically deny the charge of French wirepulling. The Guardian claims "there are hundreds of picked French officers in Poland." The Temps tartly admits it, but argues they are working for the good of Poland and of all allies, England not the least.

New York Salesman Killed in Fall.

COLUMBUS, May 9.—Siegman Hartheimer, a traveling salesman from New York, was instantly killed here late today when he leaped or fell from the eleventh floor of a hotel to the street. He had been released Thursday from a sanitarium here, police say.

HUNGARY IS NOW DEMANDING FIUME

Spa Conference Must Face Her Determination to Reject Treaty as Drawn.

SOVIETS' TONE IS MILDER

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Monday, May 10.—According to The Daily Chronicle's diplomatic correspondent, Hungary's attitude toward the Peace Treaty is likely to receive careful consideration at Spa.

"It has been known in Allied diplomatic circles for some time," he writes, "that the Hungarians are bitterly opposed to the treaty as it stands. An unofficial message from Berlin now states that the Budapest Government has decided to refuse to sign the terms, and this is quite probably true.

"Among the large number of counterclaims which the Hungarians put forward, one of the most interesting is that for the town of Fiume. It is claimed that this port, which was Hungary's chief or only seaport when the war began, owes its development to Hungary, which is its natural hinterland. There are thus three nations eager for the possession of this North Adriatic seaport.

"Another matter likely to be discussed at Spa is the relation between the Allies and Russia. The recent unexpectedly conciliatory reply from Tchitcherin, the Bolshevist Commisary for Foreign Affairs, to the Allied request that the Soviet Government should refrain from pursuing its advantage over the remains of the White army in the Crimea to the extent of annihilation has promoted a better feeling.

"Now the way may be said to be open for the coming conference in London, at which I understand M. Krisko will represent the Soviet Government. This conference will discuss, besides the reopening of trade between Russia and the rest of Europe, the general question of future relationships, and if the milder mood continues to hold sway in Moscow a way may be found towards some sort of modus vivendi."

LONDON, May 9 (Associated Press).—The reports that Hungary is setting herself against acceptance of the Peace Treaty have been confirmed in Rome by Gezea Herozeg, Hungarian Councillor of State, who is now in that city, says an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Rome today. It quotes the Councillor as declaring that Hungary will not sign the treaty without modifications, including provisions for holding of plébiscites in disputed territory.

BERLIN, May 9.—The reduction of the German army to a total of 200,000 men will be completed by May 15, according to an official statement issued last night. The discharge of numbers of officers will be effective from that date.

The report that Germany has asked for a postponement of the conference at Spa between German and allied representatives is denied by the Tageblatt in an article today. It declares that the report had its origin in French quarters desirous of obtaining such a delay.

Germans Would Upset Treaty.

By LEONARD SPRAY.

Copyright, 1920, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, May 8.—Dr. Wirth, Minister of Finance, has now made it clear that the German Government is going to Spa with the intention of challenging the whole Peace Treaty. Speaking in Dresden, in a passage having special reference to the forthcoming conference, he made the following sensational declaration:

"The German people could be forced to sign a Treaty of Versailles ten times over, but the Peace of Versailles is proving itself a death judgment for the financial and economic life of Europe."

He went on to say that according to the French newspapers Germany was expected to pay yearly 3,000,000,000 marks, nominally $750,000,000, and he added: "That is absolutely impossible." In fact, according to another version of the speech the Minister even suggested that Germany could not pay anything—or at least he left it to be so inferred from his assertion that Germany had no gold, no grain, no raw material, no coal.

Notwithstanding this statement of affairs, Dr. Wirth said he would show the door to any one who, while he was in his present office, advised him to declare national bankruptcy, even though Germany's national debt amounts to 200,000,000,000 marks—say $50,000,000,000—and, according to the experts, likely to be soon increased further by one-fourth of that sum.

Besides making the above illuminating statements, the outspoken German Finance Minister gave a very plain clue to the game which the Government may be expected to try to play at Spa. He said:

"The only thing that can help is the solidarity of the whole of Europe. The fate of the German mark is also the fate of the French franc. At Spa we will openly explain our position, for we have nothing to hide."

FEARS A JUNKER RISING.

Freiheit Sees Menace in Erhardt's Disappearance from Muenster.

BERLIN, May 8.—The disappearance from the Münster camp of General Erhardt, commander of the Baltic Brigade, which took part in the invasion of Berlin at the time of the Kapp coup, is regarded by the Independent Socialist newspaper, the Freiheit, as a menacing sign indicative of plans for another reactionary outbreak. The newspaper also connects the reported presence in Berlin of General Ludendorff with the contingency which it fears.

EIGHT DEAD IN TRAIN CRASH.

Thirty-eight Men Are Injured in Head-on Collision in Oregon.

PORTLAND, Ore., May 9.—Eight persons were killed and thirty-eight injured eight miles north of here today when two electric trains of the West Side line of the Southern Pacific Company collided head-on.

Railroad officials said disregard of orders by the crew of the Portland-bound train led to the disaster.

Manitoba to Finance Rural Credits.

WINNIPEG, Man., May 9.—The Provincial Government is going into the banking business to provide finances for rural credits, it was unofficially announced here tonight. This will be the first time in Canada that a Province has undertaken such a step. It results from the disagreement between the Government and the banks, which asked for a higher interest rate than the Government would allow without the consent of the rural credits societies. Banking offices will be opened throughout the Province, it was said, and the rate of interest will be 4 per cent. on short term deposits and 4½ per cent. on deposits over three months.

To Auction $30,000,000 Furs.

ST. LOUIS, May 9.—More than 6,000,000 raw pelts, valued in excess of $30,000,000, will be placed on the market here tomorrow at the opening of the Spring auction of the International Fur Exchange. The number of offerings establishes a new record for a single market, according to officers of the exchange. Buyers from all parts of the world are here for the sale, which is expected to last about three weeks.

26 Reds Caught in Raids Face Trial in Chicago Today

CHICAGO, May 9.—Twenty-six alleged members of the Communist Labor Party will go on trial before Judge Oscar Hebel tomorrow, charged with conspiracy to advocate the overthrow of the Government by force. Thirty-nine were indicted, but not all will appear, for several are reported to have fled to Mexico and Europe, and one, John Reed, author and first Bolshevist envoy to the United States, is now in jail at Abo, Finland, accused of smuggling from Bolshevist Russia.

The thirty-nine defendants, with three women, have also been indicted separately under the Illinois law against criminal syndicalism. Their arrests resulted from the nation-wide round up of suspected radicals last January.

DR. STRATON ASSAILS UNDRESS ON STAGE

WANTS SOUTH KEPT MORAL

Opera Star, Hearing of Criticism, May Refuse to Sing Again in Atlanta.

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTA, May 9.—Geraldine Farrar, Metropolitan star, was denounced in a sermon here this afternoon by the Rev. Dr. John Roach Straton, the pastor of Cavalry Baptist Church, New York, for the manner in which she presented "Zaza" during the recent season of Grand Opera in Atlanta.

Dr. Straton's denunciation of Mme. Farrar came after he had told the great congregation of the alleged "iniquities" of New York. Chief of these iniquities, he said, were the modern dance, the scanty dress affected by women, and the "prostitution of art." After describing what he termed degrading scenes in New York theatres, he spoke of Mme. Farrar's presentation of "Zaza" in Atlanta, saying:

"I am told that you were given some touches of this nature during the Grand Opera week here recently. The South ought to shut out women who appear upon the stage in indecent undress, regardless of their art and of their fine voices.

"There are some things more important and beautiful than art, and one of them is female virtue. When a woman, even in grand opera, comes upon a stage with her dress cut below her breast and sprays perfume over herself, every decent man and woman, to say nothing of church members, ought to get up and go out. The South ought to guard herself against the abominations that are perpetrated under the name and camouflage of art, and that have already debauched some of our Northern cities."

Mme. Farrar's "Zaza" has been the subject of criticism here. She heard of the criticism, and it is said she declared she would never sing in Atlanta again. The assertion is made that she asked Colonel William Lawson Peel, head of the Atlanta Music Association, how far she should go in "Zaza," and that he told her to "go the limit."

SOVIET CONCLUDES PEACE WITH GEORGIA

Persons and Forces Hostile to Bolshevism Are to Be Turned Over to the Reds.

LONDON, May 9.—A peace treaty has been concluded between Soviet Russia and the Republic of Georgia, according to a wireless message from Moscow. The treaty provides that Russia shall recognize the independence of Georgia and undertake not to interfere in Georgia's internal affairs.

That republic shall comprise the following territory: The Tiflis, Kutais and Batum Governments and also the districts of Zakataly and Sukhum and a portion of the Black Sea Governments.

Georgia is to disarm all its military forces, groups and persons hostile to the Soviet Government and intern them in concentration camps, to be handed over subsequently to Soviet Russia, whose Government undertakes to spare their lives. All their military supplies, valuables and funds, however, will be confiscated without compensation.

Georgia undertakes to relieve from punishment and from further prosecution all those at the present time under prosecution for acts committed in favor of Soviet Russia.

SPURS FAR EAST FINANCE.

Copyright, 1920, by The Chicago Tribune Co.

TOKIO, May 9.—Frank A. Vanderlip, in a statement here regarding economic readjustments in the Far East, particularly in China and Siberia, says he personally doubts the wisdom of lending for purely governmental uses, such as the military, while economic loans must be helpful, first, and gainful, second.

"The East must remember that American capital is demanded at home and in Europe. Therefore the East must offer good security and attractive profits," the American banker explained.

"Security exists only where the Government is honest, strong and intelligent, with methods of friendly neighborhood co-operation. China must establish a Government commanding respect, laying aside national prejudices. Siberia cannot expect aid while offering no security.

"The war's great loss will be more than compensated if the East is organized industrially. If America could succeed in breaking down the existing distrust and prejudices, it would be rendering the greatest service to the world—greater than mere financial co-operation."

AIRMEN HURT IN PLANE DROP

Machine Falls 150 Feet with Two Army Fliers at Columbus.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 9.—Lieutenant Ernest W. Dickman, New York, and Lieutenant Leslie Morse, Boston, army aviators at McCook Field, Dayton, were injured here late today when an airplane in which they had started for Dayton went into a tail spin and fell 150 feet to earth.

Both are in University Hospital and are expected to recover.

SEIZE LABOR CHIEFS STARTING TO SPEAK

Duquesne Authorities Arrest Six Attempting to Hold Meeting Without Permit.

TEST OF BAN IS PLANNED

Unions Protest on Mayor's Refusing to Allow Assemblages "Against Public Welfare."

SEVEN SPECTATORS HELD

Men Present Are Charged with Obstructing Streets—Photographer's Plates Are Taken.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURGH, May 9.—Six organizers for steel and iron workers were arrested in Duquesne this afternoon for attempting to hold a meeting without a permit. Seven other men were arrested charged with obstructing the streets. One was a photographer who attempted to take pictures of the gathering while the police, aided by State Constabulary and fifty special mill policemen, were breaking it up. Another photographer from a news agency was forced to give up all his plates to the police.

The meeting was attempted by representatives of the National Civil Liberties Union, headquarters of which is in New York, and the American Federation of Labor. Requests for a permit to hold a meeting either in a hall or in the streets, the leaders said, have been ignored for more than a month, so a test of the city ordnance prohibiting meetings "detrimental to the public interest" was finally decided on. In accordance with their plan, all the organizers chose jail rather than give bail.

William M. Finck, formerly a Presbyterian minister and new head of Brooke Woods School, Katonah, N. Y., who was to be the principal speaker, was the first arrested. His address was the longest of the six attempted.

"Gentlemen," he began, "I am here under the auspices of the American Federation of Labor to test our Constitutional rights——"

At this point he was dragged down and hurried to jail. Five other speakers stood up one after the other in the speakers' automobile, about which a crowd of 1,000 pressed, but each had only said a few words when he too was arrested. They were J. L. Beaghen, John Olshom and R. W. Riley, organizers for the steel workers; Baza Danich, of the United Mine Workers, and James Sause, of the National Committee for Organizing Steel Workers.

Mayor Crawford, who is also Magistrate, Commissioner of Police and President of the Duquesne Bank, forbade all assemblage last year, and since then organizers have fought in vain for a foothold.

Crawford refused to see newspapermen after the incident.

Dr. Harry A. Ward was to have been a speaker, but was unable to appear.

EASTERN SIBERIA TO HOLD ELECTION

VLADIVOSTOK, May 6.—The Provisional Government has announced that elections shortly will be held for a Far Eastern Provincial Parliament.

The declaration announcing the elections lays stress on the friendly relations between the people and the great powers, based on international law and existing treaties, and calls for the development of the national resources and industries with Russian and foreign capital, and maximum freedom for Russian and foreign enterprise.

The Government is organizing an international Board of Trade, consisting of Russian, Chinese, American and Japanese business men.

The Japanese have installed a complete telephone system, both military and industrial. There is a marked shortage in foodstuffs in the maritime districts contiguous to Manchuria.

AMERICAN WOMAN GOES WITH FLAG OF TRUCE

Risks Her Life in Effort to Stop Fighting and Save Armenian Orphans.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 6.—The story of how Miss Edith Cold, a worker in the American Commission for Relief in the Near East, whose home is Cleveland, Ohio, attempted to save Armenian orphans entrusted to her and tried to effect a compromise between the Turks and the Armenians by risking her own life under a flag of truce, is told in a dispatch just received in Constantinople from Angora, sent by Halide Edib Hanem, a prominent woman leader in the Mustapha Kemal Pasha Government. The message originally was written by Togan, Nationalist commander at Hadjin, which has been besieged for many weeks. It says:

"Miss Edith Cold, head mistress of the American school, who, under the special protection of the Nationalists, without being asked, and prompted by humanitarian motives, proposed to go to Hadjin and try to effect a reconciliation. Although I knew the Armenians would insist upon continuing their attack upon the Moslems, I wanted to let an American try for peace. Therefore I proclaimed a seven-hour truce, during which time the head mistress with a white flag started at 3 o'clock in the morning. She returned at dark, declaring that the Armenians refused to quit attacking."

WANTS WOMEN ORDAINED.

Miss Southard to Urge Case in Methodist General Conference.

DES MOINES, Ia., May 9.—The matter of permitting women to enter the Methodist ministry will be brought to the floor of the Methodist General Conference tomorrow. A memorial to this effect has been prepared, and is sponsored by Miss Madaline Southard of the Southwest Kansas Conference.

Miss Southard has been engaged in Evangelistic work for some time, and is planning to open an active campaign in favor of her plan.

OPERA PLANS TOLD BY GATTI-CASAZZA

Impresario, on Eve of Sailing, Discloses Future Productions and Artists Engaged.

FARRAR TO SING "LOUISE"

"Tristan," "Lohengrin" and "The Polish Jew" in English—Bori, Martin and Ten New Stars.

General Manager Giulio Gatti-Casazza of the Metropolitan Opera Company will leave for Italy tomorrow on the steamship Presidente Wilson after having virtually completed his program for the coming opera season of 1920-1921. Mr. Gatti will return about the end of September. Yesterday he told briefly his plans.

"Before leaving America for the Summer I desire, above all," he said, "to thank the public of New York for its extraordinary support during the season just closed—a support which has established a veritable 'record.'

"In the second place, I want to thank all my co-workers, whether of the artistic or of the administrative element of the opera company, who together form an organization so compact, homogeneous and disciplined as to offer an example to all other institutions of its kind.

"The Metropolitan's repertory, which has included and continues to include works the most ancient and most modern of all schools, and in almost every language, will be still further enriched by novelties and 'revivals,' for no one is more convinced than myself that the vitality of the theatre consists in the variety of its productions."

Mr. Gatti said that, encouraged by the success of the splendid experiment achieved in the presentation of "Parsifal" in English, he had decided to produce two other masterpieces of Wagner in English—"Lohengrin" and "Tristan and Isolde."

A Czechoslovak Opera.

"Also with English text we are going to present a work altogether a novelty here—'The Polish Jew,'" he continued. "The music is by the Czechoslovak composer, Karl Weiss, the libretto having as authors Victor Leon and Richard Batka.

"'Louise,' by Gustave Charpentier, will be given for the first time by this company, with Geraldine Farrar as the heroine. 'Don Carlos,' by Verdi, never has been performed in New York. 'Andrea Chenier,' Giordano's four-act opera of the French Revolution, will be presented, with Mr. Caruso.

"It is probable that there will be a revival either of 'Tales of Hoffman' or 'Lakme.' Boito's 'Mefistofele,' which has not been heard for a long time, also will be presented. 'Cleopatra's Night,' last season's new American opera by Henry Hadley, will remain in the repertoire. There is also a new ballet, 'The Magic Carillon,' by Pick-Mangiagalli."

Mr. Gatti announced that he had appointed Edward Ziegler of the Metropolitan staff to be his assistant manager. As to the artistic personnel of the company, he said that Mme. Destinn will be with the company during the first part of the season, while Lucrezia Bori, who has just ended her season at Monte Carlo in good health, will be at the Metropolitan during the Spring of 1921.

Eight American artists, new to his company, were announced by Mr. Gatti. These include Cora Chase, a coloratura soprano, who has been singing at Madrid; Alice Miriam, soprano, who has made an Italian career; Frances Peralta, dramatic soprano, formerly of the Boston and Chicago companies; Sue Harvard, soprano, known here in concerts; Anne Roselle, soprano; Elvira Leveroni, mezzo-soprano of the Boston Opera; Mario Chamlee, tenor, and William Gustafson, bass. Carl Edwards, assistant conductor, is also an American.

Two European singers also added to the company are Benjamin Gigli, tenor, from the Scala of Milan and the Monte Carlo Opera, and Giuseppe Danise, baritone, from the Scala and the Teatro Colon of Buenos Aires. Samuel Thewman, stage director of the Prague Opera, has been engaged in a similar capacity here.

Easton, Elsa; Matzenauer, Isolde.

Mme. Easton will be heard as Elsa in "Lohengrin," and Mme. Matzenauer will sing Isolde in "Tristan," Mr. Gatti said. The title rôle of "Don Carlos" will be given to Mr. Martinelli. Mmes. Alda and Easton and M. Gigli will be in the cast of "Mefistofele."

Besides the stars already mentioned, some other artists who have been reengaged are Mmes. Axman, Dalossy, Egener, Ellis, Farnam, Fornia, Garrison, Muzio, Mellish, Morgana, Peterson, Ponselle, Rappold, Romaine, Scotney, Sparkes, Sundelius, Tiffany and Kellogg, sopranos; Mmes. Arden, Berat, Claussen, Delaunois, Gordon, Ingram, Howard, Lazzari, Mattfeld, Perini and Robeson, contraltos.

Also re-engaged are Messrs. Althouse, Audisio, Bada, Crimi, Diaz, Dua, Hackett, Harrold, Kingston, Martin, Paltrinieri, Sembach, tenors—the last named having taken out his first citizenship papers—Messrs. Amato, Chalmers, Couzinou, d'Angelo, De Luca, Laurenti, Leonhardt, Picco, Reschiglian, Schlegel, Scotti, Whitehill, Werrenrath and Zanelli, baritones, and Ananian, Didur, Malatesta, Mardones, Martino, Rothier and de Segurola, basses.

The conductors are Arthur Bodanzky, Richard Hageman, Roberto Moranzoni, Gennaro Papi, Albert Wolff; assistant conductors, Giuseppe Bamboschek, Riccardo Dellera, Paul Eisler, Wilfrid Pelletier, Alessandro Scuri; chorus master, Giulio Setti; technical director, Edward Siedle; stage manager, Armando Agnini; dancers, Galli, Rudolph, Ogden and Bonfiglio, and ballet master for "Coq d'Or," Adolph Bolm.

While not officially announced, it is understood that William J. Guard will return as the company's publicity representative and Earl Lewis will remain as treasurer in charge of the box office subscription. The advance sale now is fast exceeding last season for which the reported receipts were $1,800,000 for the company's 207 performances.

FOCH PRAISES AMERICANS.

Lauds Valor of Our Soldiers and Services of Women Nurses.

PARIS, May 9—Marshal Foch, speaking today at the celebration of "Mothers' Day" at the Inter-Allied Union, touched on the valor of the American soldier and his great services during the World War, and also referred to American women, who, as nurses, had cared for French and Allied soldiers with so much devotion.

Many Americans were present at the conference, which was organized by Count de Beaumont and Count de Fels on behalf of the Inter-Allied Union.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

George White's "Scandals of 1920" will open in Washington on May 23, and will come to New York during the week of June 7. The company will include Mr. White, Ann Pennington, La Sylphe, Ethel Delmar, Lou Holtz, Lester Allen, George Bickel, Lloyd Garrett, Jack Rose and James Miller.

W. C. Fields, the juggler, will return to the Ziegfeld "Follies" this season.

This will be the final week of the Hippodrome show, and there will be various additions to the entertainment in honor of that event. Bert Levy, the cartoonist, who has been at the Hippodrome all season, will begin an engagement at the Palladium in London on June 9.

Frank Moulan of the Society of American Singers will succeed Percival Vivian in "Lassie" next Monday night. The American Singers will end their season at the Park this week.

"High and Dry," a musical comedy by Augustin MacHugh and Douglas Leavitt, with music by the late Manuel Klein, will have its first performance in Atlantic City tonight. The piece will go to Chicago for a Summer run.

"Paddy the Next Best Thing," which Peggy O'Neil is now acting in London, will be produced in New York next season by Robert Courtneidge, who is presenting it abroad.

THE SCREEN

The new feature at the Capitol Theatre this week is Rex Beach's "famous story," "The Silver Horde." The name of Mr. Beach, who set out to make pictures along ideas of his own, has been connected with several more noteworthy films than this one. There was a time when Mr. Beach's ideas on pictures were refreshing and highly commendable, but this new film is evidence that he is finding the field too big for him. It is beginning to swallow him—whole.

For "The Silver Horde" is nothing if not conventional film stuff, conventionally done. The hero is a business failure who loves the daughter of a man of millions, and who goes into the great open spaces—there are generally some open spaces somewhere in every picture—to make good. Of course, he elects to fight the father in his own line of work—salmon fishing, with Alaska the scene of the combat. His unscrupulous rivals make it hard for him, but he wins out. With him in the fight is Mr. Beach's "Cherry Malotte," girl of the woods, and in the end, of course, it is Cherry whom he loves, and not the heiress.

It is the kind of story that the films showed in the nickel days, and not much better done. The most interesting parts are the views of the salmon and the method of handling them, and these looked suspiciously as though they had been clipped from a convenient news reel. Every once in a while, also, in this strictly businesslike story, one runs into a caption something like this: "Laughter is the key that unlocks the chamber of despair. It frees the imprisoned soul," &c., &c. Curtis Cooksey, Myrtle Stedman, and Robert McKim play the leading rôles.

Marjorie Rambeau, after a considerable absence from the screen, returns to the fold at the Broadway this week in "The Fortune Teller," in which she was seen at the Republic Theatre about a year ago. It is a rôle which gives good opportunities to the actress. The Rivoli is offering the second and final instalment of Shackleton's highly interesting adventures in search of the south pole, and, as the feature film, Dorothy Dalton in "The Dark Mirror." At the Rialto Theatre that good old farce, "Mrs. Temple's Telegram," finally reaches the screen, with Bryant Washburn as its hero. The Strand offers Harold McGrath's Saturday Evening Post story, "The Yellow Typhoon," with Anita Stewart as its star. The Criterion begins its third week as a home of runs with "Why Change Your Wife?" still as the attraction.

Play 'The Dance of Death' Privately.

The Theatre Guild, as the final production of its second season of existence, last night offered Strindberg's "The Dance of Death" at the Garrick—the first of two private performances. In the cast were Helen Westley, Dudley Digges, Albert Perry, Pauline Polk, Robert Donaldson, Walter Geer, Valerie Stevens and others. The second performance will be next Sunday night. The guild will continue to offer "Jane Clegg" as its regular program.

"His Chinese Wife" Next Week.

"His Chinese Wife," an Oriental-American play by Forrest Halsey and Clara Beranger, will be presented at the Belmont Theatre a week from tonight. Forrest Winant and Madeline Delmar will head the cast. The play has been acted on the road for several months, part of the time under the title of "The Unwanted One."

"An Innocent Idea" Opens May 24.

"An Innocent Idea," a farce by Martin Brown, will be presented at the Fulton Theatre on Monday night, May 24, by Charles Emerson Cook. Robert Emmett Keane and Claire Whitney will head the cast, which will also include Russell Fillmore, Miriam Doyle, Helen Barnes and others.

ALFONSO TO AID FAN SHOW.

Spanish Grandees Send Treasures of Art in Priceless Trifles.

MADRID, May 9—King Alfonso has announced his intention of being present Monday at the inauguration of the exposition of Spanish and other fans, organized by the Society of Friends of Spanish Art. Nearly every aristocratic family in Spain has sent exhibits for the event. Among them are hand painted fans by leading artists of the past century, containing historical pictures of political and other events. Many of the fans bear jewels and precious stones of immense value.

Japan and other nations are participating, while from the royal palaces the exhibits include fans of the era of Isabella II. Pictures to be exhibited comprise works by Goya, Fortuny and other famous painters.

Mischa Elman's Farewell.

Before an enormous audience that filled the whole Hippodrome last evening, including as many chairs as the stage would hold, Mischa Elman gave his last recital in New York before his retirement, which will be for several years. He had the assistance of a string orchestra in his first number, Bach's concerto in E, which he conducted himself, and of Frank Sealey as pianist. In Beethoven's "Kreutzer" sonata, which followed, his sister, Miss Liza Elman, played the piano part. It may be said that the Hippodrome is a most unsuitable place in which to play this sonata, and little impression of the work itself or of the playing of the two could be derived from the performance. He played after this Paganini's concerto in D and a group of five short pieces. After Bach's concerto he added as an encore the arrangement for violin solo (accompanied by the string orchestra) of the air from Bach's orchestra suite in D.

To Wear Uniforms Memorial Day.

Resolutions favoring the wearing of the uniform by all ex-service men on Memorial Day were adopted unanimously at a recent meeting of the Beaumont Club, consisting of former members of the 200th-201st Aero Squadrons, formerly stationed at Beaumont Barracks, Tours, France.

Announcement was made at the meeting of the formation of another chapter of the club in Buffalo. The organization already has chapters in Boston and Philadelphia, in addition to the parent club in New York.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—There has been a general fall in pressure with the principal centre of disturbance over Colorado and another over the Canadian northwest. These disturbances have resulted in local showers and thunderstorms in the plains States, New Mexico, Colorado and the extreme northwest, and there were also rains mostly during Saturday night in New England and light local rains along the coast to the southward. Elsewhere the weather was fair.

Temperatures are generally higher except over the extreme north and extreme northwest and the districts west of the Rocky Mountains.

With the exception of showers Tuesday in the northern Upper Lake Region, Indiana, the lower Ohio Valley, Tennessee and the East Gulf States, fair weather will prevail Monday and Tuesday over this forecast district.

Temperatures will be somewhat higher Monday in the Lake Region, the Middle Atlantic States and New England.

FORECAST.

Eastern Pennsylvania—Fair, warmer Monday; Tuesday fair.

TAMMANY PATRIOTIC RALLY.

Many Societies to be Represented at Columbian Order Meeting.

The Society of Tammany, Columbian Order, will hold a patriotic rally at Fraunces's Tavern on May 12. The exercises are designed to revive patriotic sentiment and to dispel the propaganda and principles of Bolshevism and to carry into effect the resolution adopted at the patriotic meeting of the Tammany Society in Cooper Union on Washington's Birthday.

Such institutions as the Sons of the Revolution, Huguenot Society, St. Nicholas Society, the Law and Order Union, New York Society for New York City, Bronx Republican County Committee, Hungarian Democratic Club, the American Legion, the United Catholic Societies and the Elks are expected to be represented.

John R. Voorhis, Grand Sachem of the Tammany Society, will preside. Warhope Lynn, Willis Holly, Congressman Thomas F. Smith, Dr. Thomas R. Killilea and A. Willis Stump are the committee in charge.

FINANCIAL SITUATION

Bankers and Railroad Men Differ on Means for Financing Immediate Needs.

As the improvement of railroad facilities is one of the most important subjects before the public today, last week's events at Washington are worthy of close attention. For one thing it was made clear at the hearing before the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee that railway managers and railway bankers were not in complete accord in respect to methods of financing immediate needs of the carriers. Representative railroad executives stressed the necessity, as it appeared to them, of having the Government carry the burden until such time as increased revenue rehabilitated railroad credit, whereas the bankers held that the stronger roads could sell sufficient securities, at a price, to carry them along. Instead of adding to the railroad revolving fund of $300,000,000 a special credit of $500,000,000 for the purchase of equipment, the bankers thought that the original appropriation by Congress would be enough to care for the "weaker" roads, the others to look after themselves through sales of their paper. It was estimated that the investment market could absorb from $125,000,000 to $250,000,000 notes and bonds this year, of the calibre, presumably, of recent sales by the Pennsylvania, Delaware & Hudson and others. There is more than passing interest in these points of view, outside of the direct application to the railroad problem. The bankers, presumably, maintain that it would be better for the country if the major transportation system were rejuvenated and expanded slowly, provided that the means used prevented a further expansion of the already burdensome taxation program. A great increase in the demand on the Treasury would certainly result from a growth of loans to the railways. Either taxes would have to be increased or the Treasury would be forced to sell more securities. If it was decided to issue new notes or bonds with Government indorsement, the effect upon the investment market would be to contract the field where the well-intrenched railroads have been successful in disposing of about $175,000,000 of securities in the last three months. The railroads are not alone in need of much new capital, for unless a business depression of wide scope is at hand, industrial corporations and municipalities will be in the market for investors' funds from time to time. The bankers consider the outlook in terms dealing with fundamentals, comprising a desire to conserve the investment market, a belief that heavier taxation would tend to restrain industrial activity and the thought that the conservative use of funds by the carriers would promote more efficient handling of existing equipment and terminal facilities. Railroad operating men, quite naturally, are impatient to forge ahead. Chairman E. N. Brown of the St. Louis & San Francisco estimates that there is a present shortage of 226,000 freight cars and 3,190 locomotives, the purchase of which, together with more than 9,000 passenger cars, would entail an outlay of $1,600,000,000. The current great congestion of goods and grain in warehouses bears ample testimony to insufficient railroad equipment. And the easiest and quickest way for raising money which could be put to work immediately is through Government channels. The question to be decided is whether the banking or railroad point of view will be the more beneficial for the "long pull, and that is what the Washington hearings are to decide.

There seems slight chance that increased freight rates made possible by the Transportation act will be worked out before the early Autumn. In the meantime the railroads, or the great majority of them which signed the agreement, will receive the prescribed return under the railroad law. Daniel Willard, speaking for the railway executives, asks the Interstate Commerce Commission for increases which will expand revenue more than $1,000,000,000 over the net return of last year. Should the commission's decision make possible an increase approximating this total, it is conceivable that general railroad credit will bear an aspect by next September quite different from what it is now. Probably railroad workers will be quick to ask for a great share of whatever increase new freight schedules provide. Again the trend of commodity prices and of the volume of national business may have a material effect in restraining wage demands before the Summer is over. An element of importance equal to the size of the revenue permitted the railroads will be the attitude of the commission in establishing a basis for calculating rates, whether a more liberal attitude will prevail than in past years.

Last week's irregularity of stock market quotations, with decidedly strong spots here and there, stood in marked contrast with the weak tone of the preceding fortnight. Relative ease of call money rates, which moved from 9 down to 7 per cent. in contrast with a maximum of 15 per cent. the week before, presumably helped to stabilize the market and urged a considerable volume of short covering. An additional factor toward a steady price list was contained in news on Friday that about $6,000,000 sixty and ninety day money had appeared and been placed immediately at 8½ per cent. These events were, however, only superficial signs of money easement and the broader aspect of the credit field continued to show a tense situation, especially in the West and South. It is evident that the credit shortage is impelling banks to shorten lines of credit, and this in turn would have a result contrary to all past experience if it did not hasten the liquidation of goods held for speculation.

Everywhere high prices are a primary subject of conversation and complaint. Cut-price sales are a growing feature of the clothing and other markets and bankers report that large stocks of merchandise, contracted for at stiff prices, are subjects of concern in merchandise circles. Still, with all the signs of positive price reactions, it is to be said that industrial and banking leaders are guarded in predictions that the movement will go far without periods of recovery, which would tend to let quotations down gradually over a period of months. Certain widely advertised reduced price sales by retailers have brought a great influx of buyers who were repelled by costs a month ago and yet are anxious to buy as soon as lower levels appear. The price situation can hardly be measured by the experience of a week or a fortnight, for the invisible demand for all sorts of goods, in short supply for two years, cannot be estimated.

GASOLINE AND KEROSENE

Though gasoline has experienced reduction in price several times during the past five years, the total net change has been upward. The situation at present indicates a straight jump to very much higher levels.

The fact that the price of kerosene is steadily mounting is in part due to the same cause that has tended to keep down gasoline prices, that is, the development of "cracking" process. As new methods have increased the amount of gasoline which can be distilled from any given quantity of crude oil, they have done so at the expense of the kerosene yield, those less volatile portions of the crude that formerly entered into the kerosene being combined under the new processes in the gasoline.

BELGIAN ENVOY HERE ON A BOND MISSION

Emile Franqui, Minister of State, Seeks to Postpone Maturity of $50,000,000 Issue.

ROBERT PEEL IN ESCAPADES

Bridegroom Son of Noted Briton Startles Ship with Acrobatics and an Axe.

Emile Franqui, Belgian Minister of State, and F. Hankar, President of the National Bank of Belgium, were passengers on the Red Star liner Finland which docked here yesterday. They were met at the pier by Baron de Cartier, Belgian Ambassador, and Alexander J. Hemphill, the banker.

M. Franqui, who is head of the Societe General Belgique, the largest banking institution in Belgium, said that he and his associate were here to try to postpone the maturity of $50,000,000 of bonds issued subsequent to the armistice.

Speaking of conditions in Belgium, M. Franqui said the labor situation was most satisfactory. He believed there were fewer disturbances in Belgium than in any other country in Europe or the United States. Unemployment existed to some extent, M. Franqui admitted, but that was due to lack of materials.

Production of coal, which he said was the basic industry of Belgium, this year equaled the 1913 output. Production generally in industry was from 35 to 60 per cent. of the output seven years ago, M. Franqui said.

Food Outlook Is Good.

Regarding the food outlook, he described it as "rather good." Belgium was compelled to buy cereals in Canada, the United States and South America because the grain stocks of Southern Europe were low. M. Franqui believed it would be two years before Belgium would be normal.

Officers of the Finland said that half of the first cabin passengers were Hollanders, Swiss and Scandinavians who had grown rich out of the war and were here to spend some of their profits, and that not a few of the travelers spent consequential sums trying to "drink the ship dry." Fred Codham, steward of the smoking room, said he and his men had not had more than four hours' sleep on any one day, so heavy were the demands of the thirsty.

The exploits on shipboard of Robert Peel, son of Sir Robert Peel, who arrived here with his bride, the former Beatrice Lillie, a London musical comedy favorite, formed the chief topic of conversation among passengers. Peel attracted attention in the smoking room the first day out by the lavish way he played the host. On Wednesday, according to the passengers, he startled the ship by climbing up the stanchions on the outside of the vessel as far as the boat deck, where he was prevented by Captain T. W. Barman from mounting the wireless pole. As the ship was rolling heavily, it was feared he would fall into the sea.

Smashes Windows with Fire Axe.

Late Saturday night, it was said, Peel got a fire axe and before passengers could interfere, he began to smash windows and electric light globes. Running down a companionway, which he hacked, he was seized by a sailor who wrested the axe from him.

Peel, whose greatgrandfather organized the Irish Constabulary and was Prime Minister of England, admitted that he had had "a good time" on the trip, but was reluctant to discuss his exploits. It was learned that he had agreed to pay for the damage he had done.

"Were you ever arrested?" he was asked.

"No; we invented the police, you know," he answered with a smile.

Peel is 22 years old and stands six feet five. He was married in January while he was a student at Harrow. On his father's death, he will inherit the title and family estates, including a valuable collection of art.

A. H. TITUS GETS NEW PLACE

Is Elected President of the First Federal Foreign Association.

Arthur H. Titus, Vice President of the National City Bank, has been elected President of the First Federal Foreign Banking Association, the institution now in process of formation under the auspices of a group of American banks and manufacturing interests for the purpose of extending credits in furtherance of American export business. It is said to be the first large company to be formed under the Edge law.

Mr. Titus has been associated with the National City Bank since 1898, and for the last five years has taken a leading part in the establishment and management of its South American branches. He was elected a Vice President of the bank in 1919.

Second Examination of Experts Set for Next Month.

Irving T. Brush, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York, has announced that the second examination for those wishing to qualify as experts in commercce will be held between June 17 and 29 at the Chamber of Commerce, 65 Liberty Street. Applications must be filed before May 15.

Prof. R. C. McCrea of Columbia University, in charge of the examination plan, formulated last year by A. Barton Hepburn, says:

"Wide interest is being displayed, not only by young men and women who are eager to increase their knowledge of trade requirements, but also by big downtown corporations which are looking for the proper material to carry on their businesses in foreign fields. There is a growing demand for those skilled in this work, and in order to place the right person with the right firm we have organized an employment registry.

"The examinations should not be difficult for those who have studied in high school or college, foreign language, commercial law, international banking, foreign exchange, insurance, economics, business forms and procedure and business methods in foreign trade. Those passing the junior or senior examinations will be helped to place themselves in some firm in which there will be real prospect of advancement."

8% Sinking Fund Redemption Preferred Stock (par $100)	$4,000,000	$1,250,000
8% Preferred Stock, old issue created in 1895 (par $100). Now being exchanged for new Preferred Stock	1,000,000	1,000,000
Common Stock (par value $100)	5,000,000	1,000,000

The following salient features are summarized from the President's letter, copy of which may be had upon request:

Business The business of the company and its subsidiaries comprehends (1) the purchase of raw silk and silk waste in the Far East and in Europe, (2) the sale of raw material or its manufacture into silk thread or spun silk thread and its subsequent sale, and (3) the manufacture of raw material belonging to others on a commission basis.

Properties The Klots Throwing Company, which was established in 1895, is one of the largest throwsters and importers of raw silk in the world, and owns and operates 15 mills containing approximately 1,000,000 square feet of floor space; also offices and warehouses in Japan and China, and agencies in France and Italy.

A reasonable valuation of the properties would show over $5,500,000. At present cost prices they could not be replaced for twice this amount.

Sales Net sales increased from $13,000,000 in 1916 to $32,000,000 in 1919.

Fiscal Year	1919	1918	1917	1916
Net Available for Dividends	$1,834,934	$732,636	$878,929	$810,100

For the four years shown above earnings averaged over six times the annual dividend requirements. For fiscal year 1919, over ten times this requirement. For 1920, net profits based on earnings for first 6 months, over 15 times.

Assets Net quick assets amount to over $180 per share, and net tangible assets to over $297 per share, as shown by September 30th, 1919, balance sheet.

The present security value is approximately $500 per share to all Preferred Stock now to be outstanding, based upon a reasonable replacement valuation of the properties and adding the earnings of the past six months; about $250 per share being in net quick assets and $250 per share in fixed assets.

Maintenance of Assets $200 per share of net tangible assets of which $110 in net quick is to be maintained.

No Additional Issues No mortgage or other lien (except purchase money mortgages) can be issued without consent of two-thirds of Preferred Stock outstanding, nor can any additional Preferred Stock be issued unless for the preceding twelve months net earnings shall have equalled twice the annual dividend requirements, including the stock proposed to be issued.

Annual Sinking Fund Beginning October 1, 1921, an annual sinking fund of 3% or more of the maximum amount of Preferred Stock outstanding is provided for the retirement of Preferred Stock by purchase or redemption at not exceeding 110 and accrued dividend.

We offer this stock for subscription, when received by us, and subject to the approval of Ralph W Rymer, Attorney, Scranton, Pa., and Gould & Wilkie, Attorneys, New York City.

CONGRESS TAKES UP CAR SHORTAGE SOON

WILL DRAFT BILLS AT ONCE

Opinions Differ as to Best Way to Provide $600,000,000 for Equipment.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—Prompt consideration is to be given by Congress to the proposition to relieve the existing car shortage by providing means for assisting the railroads in the financing of new requirements, it was announced today. Drafting of legislation along that line will begin this week, according to leaders who deal with railroad legislation, in the hope of completing it before Congress takes a recess for the political conventions.

Chairman Cummins of the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee said tonight that he planned to confer either tomorrow or Tuesday with Chairman Esch of the House Interstate Commerce Committee and with members of the Interstate Commerce Commission relative to what relief should be provided. A special meeting of the Senate committee is planned for later in the week.

Hearings were conducted last week before the Senate committee, but these virtually have been closed. Among those appearing were representatives of grain dealers and shippers from the Middle Western and Southwestern States, officials of the Association of Railway Executives and members of prominent financial institutions in New York.

Representatives of the railway executievs took exception today to what they said had been a widespread impression created by published reports of the Senate Committee hearings that the railroads went before Congress on their own initiative to ask for an additional appropriation of $500,000,000, from which the Government would make loans to the carriers for financing new equipment. The recently enacted Transportation act provided a revolving fund of $300,000,000, of which about $125,000,000 would be available for that purpose.

Their views are substantiated by Senator Cummins, who said the car shortage situation was brought to the attention of the committee by Western shippers and that the executives were called to ascertain what was being done to meet the situation.

"The committee," said Senator Cummins, "then deemed it advisable to get the views of tne banking interests of this country upon the subject of financing the needs of the railroads, and representatives of large New York financial institutions were asked to appear. The railroad executives appeared at my request because the committee thought it should hear from them regarding their plans. Some of them thought an additional appropriation necessary, while others were of a different mind."

To bring the supply up to the point it ordinarily would have been had normal increases been made while the roads were under Governmental control, the carriers' officials estimated that 100,000 freight and 4,000 passenger cars, with 2,000 locomotives, would be required, at an aggregate cost of approximately $610,000,000.

The suggestion was made that the Interstate Commerce Commission might find it possible to devote perhaps $125,000,000 of the $300,000,000 provided in the transportation act for making loans to the railroads. As this would be insufficient, however, officials recommend that in view of the present state of the financial markets it might be wise for Congress to appropriate about $500,000,000 from which to make loans.

Second Liberty Loan Coupons.

The Federal Reserve Bank announces that in its capacity as fiscal agent for the United States, it is prepared to receive, in advance of the payment date, coupons due next Saturday, May 15, detached from Second Liberty Loan 4 and 4¼ per cent. bonds. Checks in payment of coupons thus deposited in advance will be ready for delivery at 10 o'clock on the morning of May 15, or member banks, if they so desire, may have the proceeds credited to their reserve accounts.

CRITICISES GERMAN SALE.

Vorwaerts Says General Electric Labor Will Pay Tribute to America.

BERLIN, May 8.—Commenting on the announcement that a prominent group of American financiers had purchased a 36,000,000-mark block of new shares of the German General Electric Company, Vorwärts observes that, as the payment for the shares is to be in dollars, it is plain that the General Electric Company desires to pay for its American raw materials with shares. The shares bought by the Americans, which were part of the 100,000,000-mark increase in the capital stock, could have easily been placed here, says the Majority Socialist newspaper.

"The Americans, however," continues Vorwärts, "evidently do not desire German paper nor General Electric products and are taking dividend-bearing shares instead. Thus the German workers are permanently made to pay tribute to foreign capital, for it is their labor that earns the dividends.

"If the General Electric Company's raw materials had been obtained by exchange against German potash and other wares, this liability would have been spared us."

DECREASE MICHIGAN CROPS.

Farm production in Michigan will be seriously reduced in 1920, according to a survey made by the Michigan State Farm Bureau. The cause is attributed chiefly to the inability of farmers to obtain competent labor, high costs and the attraction of high wages in cities.

According to the bureau a survey shows that the farming sections of Michigan lack 24,900 farm hands this year; that there are approximately 11,537 farms in the State that will not be worked this Summer; that the percentage of decrease in cultivated lands in 1920 from 1919 is 15.8. Many acres are being seeded down, and in practically every section crops are being planted that entail the least amount of work to harvest. Not a county reported any increase in dairy cows, and dairymen are reducing their herds. Dairy production in Michigan in the last year has decreased 11.3 per cent.

Safeguarding the Investor

Number Two of a Series

In this advertisement we will mention a few of the safeguards which long established and conservative investment banking houses offer to investors.

A safe investment requires much more experience and technical knowledge than is realized by the average investor. Before purchasing securities and offering them to the public, the Investment Banker assures himself by rigid investigation that stringent requirements for safety have been met.

Such investigation involves in many instances reports by well-known engineers, audits by recognized Certified Public Accountants, analyses of business and trade conditions affecting the property in question and expert legal opinion as to the validity of the issue to be offered; to say nothing of the careful scrutiny of the character and ability of the management.

Therefore, it may be readily perceived that the average investor does not possess the detailed information necessary to cope with the problems which arise in determining the safety of an investment.

The best measure of protection available to the investor is the character and ability of the Investment Banker upon whom he relies for assistance in the selection of his securities.

By securing the services of a house of high standing, you are assured a full measure of its service to safeguard your interest.

PLAN IRIS GARDEN FOR BRONX PARK

2,500 Varieties Will Make a Pleasing Display Among the Floral Exhibits.

SOCIETY IS ORGANIZED

Together with the Co-operation of the New York Botanical Garden Authorities.

The constantly growing interest in the cultivation of iris, leading to the formation of the Iris Society, and the still more recent plans for the making of an iris garden in Bronx Park, where thousands of varieties may be studied and enjoyed by the public, was recently discussed by Professor H. A. Gleason, Acting Director of the New York Botanical Garden.

"There are 2,500 known varieties of iris," said Dr. Gleason. "There is the well-known fleur de lis or bearded iris, which, before the war, was called the German iris, and many other species, such as the Japanese, the Siberian, the Spanish, as well as native American irises.

"Intterest in the cultivation of the iris has been constantly growing for some years. Suggestions for the formation of an iris society were made from time to time, but no active steps were taken until the Autumn of 1919. In January of this year the American Iris Society was formally organized, at a meeting at the New York Botanical Garden on Jan. 29. This meeting brought together over sixty iris enthusiasts from all parts of the United States. The President, John C. Wister of Germantown, Pa., and the Secretary, R. S. Sturtevant of Wellesley Farms, Mass., are both well known growers and breeders of iris.

"In two months' time the membership had increased to 400, which would seem to sufficiently demonstrate the need that existed for such an organization. The Iris Society plans to carefully observe and study the 2,500 varieties of iris in cultivation, with a view to determining the nature of their various diseases and finding remedies therefor. Best methods of cultivation, adaptability of different varieties to different sections of the country and the general desirability of the irises as components of the garden will be carefully considered.

"In discussing the pursuit of research into all these matters regarding the iris, it soon became obvious that it would be practically necessary to have an iris garden, where as many varieties as possible, growing under exactly similar conditions and in one locality, could be brought together and submitted to intensive study by experts.

"The American Iris Society and the New York Botanical Garden have entered into a sort of co-operative agreement regarding the Iris Garden. The Botanical Garden provides the ground and the Iris Society provides the plants. Workmen have already begun laying out the paths and grading the ground for the new garden. The plants will be put in in July and August, and the Spring of 1922 should witness a remarkable display of iris in bloom. The Iris Garden is situated on a gently sloping hillside. An automobile drive runs at its foot. The designers have planned an 'outlook' on the hillside from which the entire garden may be viewed. A system of paths has been carefully designed to give access to every variety of iris in the garden. There will also be two small ponds and a brook, where the aquatic species will find congenial quarters.

"The great beauty of the iris flower, its wonderful variability in color, the attractive blending of charming and delicate shades are well known. It is expected that the huge collection at the Botanical Garden will contain over 1,000 varieties, with from three to one hundred plants for each variety. This collection will not only be of the greatest importance to science and horticulture, but will be a distinct and valuable addition to the many attractions of the Botanical Garden.

"The thousands who now visit the Dahlia Show in the Autumn will be rivaled by similar thousands who will find the Iris Garden attractive, beginning with the flowering of the early sorts in late April, culminating with hundreds of varieties of bearded iris in early June and the display ending with the tall showy Japanese iris in July.

"It is well known to students of plant life that most of our cultivated varieties are the result of hybridization of different but closely related parent species. This accounts largely for the hundreds of varieties now cultivated among iris, as well as the large number of roses, dahlias, gladioli and other well-known plants.

"The exact parentage of many varieties of iris is unknown, and this will be made the subject of study by the Iris Society, who will endeavor to ascertain the history of the varieties, as far as possible. Among the 2,500 varieties, too, there has arisen much confusion in the matter of names. Different names have been applied by different growers to the same variety, while, on the other hand, in some cases, the same names have been applied to different varieties.

OVERWHELMED BY THANKS.

Col. Partridge's Efforts Received Cumulative Appreciation.

When Colonel John N. Partridge, who died on April 8, was Commissioner of Police, he was invited to address a woman's uplift organization at the New York Academy of Medicine on some subject relating to civic betterment. On the afternoon of the meeting a severe storm was raging and only sixteen persons were present, including Colonel Partridge and a reporter.

At the conclusion of his address the speaker left the platform and took a seat beside the writer, while the Chairman made the usual appropriate remarks incidental to such a meeting. She was followed by a woman who said:

"It was very good of Commissioner Partridge to come here in all this storm. I am sure we all appreciate his splendid address and regret that so few were present to hear it. I move, therefore, that we give him a vote of thanks."

The motion went through the customary routine, and the thanks were duly presented. Colonel Partridge arose and bowed. Then a woman got up.

"I have the misfortune to be very deaf," she said, "and I couldn't hear a word the Commissioner said, but I am sure it was a very fine address, and it was just awfully good of him to come out in all this storm. I move, therefore, that we give him a vote of thanks."

This motion was seconded and again went through the usual routine before presentation. Colonel Partridge arose and bowed with great dignity.

At this juncture the door flew open and an excited and breathless woman rushed into the room and advanced to the platform.

"I see-it's-all-o-over," she gasped. "I'm-sorry-I'm late. I'm-s-sure Commissioner Par-Partridge's address-mu-must-have been-f-fine. It was-per-perfectly sp-splendid of him-to c-come out in all this s-storm. I move, the-therefore, that we g-give him-a-v-vote-of thinks."

Once more Colonel Partridge received the thanks of the meeting. He mopped the perspiration from his brow, arose and bowed very profoundly indeed.

"Heavens! Isn't this awful!" he murmured as he sat down.

Pershing Visits Virgin Islands.

ST. THOMAS, Virgin Islands, May 8.—Gen. John J. Pershing arrived here on Friday on board the United States transport Northern Pacific from the Isthmus of Panama. The General's stop was a brief one, the transport, after a two hours' stay, proceeding to Porto Rico.

NEWS DURING VACATION.

It is not necessary to be out of touch with affairs of the world during a vacation period. The New York Times will be mailed to any address for 35 cents one week; 70 cents two weeks.—Advt.

Colonel Marinus Willett

This noted military hero was an outstanding figure among the staunch old Americans who founded the Bank of the Manhattan Company. Like many another founder of the Bank, he was distinguished both in War and in civil life. He fought gallantly in the French War and, as a leader of the Sons of Liberty just prior to the Revolution, prevented the sending of arms from the New York Arsenal to the British troops in Boston Harbor. During the Revolution Colonel Willett served under Washington at the battle of Monmouth, and later commanded the Continental forces in the Mohawk Valley. At the instance of the Governor of New York, he superintended the erection, in 1801, of enlarged fortifications for the defence of the country. In 1807 he succeeded DeWitt Clinton as Mayor of New York, and as late as 1812 presided over a meeting to forward military preparations against the British. During all of his ninety years, Colonel Willett was prominent in the affairs of New York. His name appears on the rosters of the Bank of the Manhattan Company and the Merchants' Bank as one of their earliest stockholders.

PONCHELET CLAIMS NEW CURRENCY IDEA

Inter-Ally Issue as Basis of Exchange Suggested by Steamship Man, He Says.

TELLS DETAILS OF PLAN

It Would Work Out Commercially and Socially, He Says, as Step Toward League of Nations.

The idea of an inter-ally currency note as a basis of exchange was claimed yesterday by E. Ponchelet, chief of the commercial service of the French Line, who said that he had advanced the suggestion two years ago when he was interned in Switzerland, and had written several pamphlets upon the subject in addition to books on international finance. The cable dispatches from Paris gave credit for the idea to Walter Behrens, formerly President of the British Chamber of Commerce in the French capital.

In his statement yesterday Mr. Ponchelet said:

"The questions of exchange and fluctuations in prices are analogous to a great extent since, as a matter of fact, they both compose and are composed of each other. In the case of exchange, it is the purchasing power of money which has declined due to the disparity between importations and exportations. As has been the case in the increase in prices, the depreciation of the exchange has caused and is still causing anxiety to certain Governments who are threatened, should the present condition persist, with the obligation of paying two or three times more than formerly for the raw materials which they will absolutely need.

"This is one of the greatest problems confronting these Governments for the rehabilitation and commercial future of their countries, since, in order to cause an advance in the exchange, they will be constrained not only to restrict their purchases from their creditors, but also to reimburse them as quickly as possible.

"At the same time, they must stimulate, most intensively, their national production in order to export to their suppliers. The task is a heavy one, as can be readily seen, particularly for the nations whose vital forces will have greatly suffered during the war and whose territories will have been devastated by the enemy.

"But this will afford opportunity to certain of the Entente nations to give to their less fortunate sisters a proof of solidarity and of gratitude The phenomenon of the exchange is, after all, purely a question of confidence. And since, in the face of danger, the allied nations have appreciated the necessity of uniting themselves and trusting one another, why should this marvelous union be dissolved with the coming of peace instead of continuing its beautiful rôle? Why should the more favored nations cease granting their confidence to their former brothers-in-arms, knowing that they are more in need of it than ever? Will they permit them to drag a useless millstone around their necks, which will hinder their recovery?

"No! The generous American nations will not forget the valiant European States who so nobly sacrificed themselves for the two most beautiful causes of humanity: liberty and justice. They will be proud to help such peoples to restore their hearths and to soothe their wounds. One of the best means by which they might manifest their confidence and their desire to participate in the rehabilitation of these countries would be to renounce the present conception of exchange and to propose to all the nations of the Entente that they base their external commercial operations on monetary agreement, and this by adopting an inter-ally currency.

"The introduction of such currency shortly after the cessation of hostilities would create no difficulties for the States in question. At the present hour, these latter have gathered in their coffers the largest part of the gold and silver which had been in circulation throughout the country. An inter-allied committee, entirely independent of each of the Governments of which is is constituted, would verify the initial reserve of these precious metals and would continue to do so at fixed intervals. Each State would have the faculty of issuing inter-ally notes for a certain amount, largely calculated according to the relations existing between the gold and silver supply of the country and the external extension of its trade and financial operations (loans, debts, freights, moneys left in the country by tourists, interest on capital, &c.) in a word, the real trade balance.

"By the creation of a Central Board of Compensation (clearing house), the final trade balance of all these States would be reduced to its simplest form of expression and would be to the debit or the credit, as the case might be, of the individual countries, so that the question of trust would be confined to this transfer, which, as we have seen, would be guaranteed by the supply of precious metals which the different States possess.

"The inter-ally notes, strictly restricted to the external commerce between the nations of the Entente, could hav no circulation as national currency and could only be negotiated through an inter-ally bank, officially appointed for that purpose. They might resemble American 'travelers' checks' on which are indicated the values of different foreign moneys; this would facilitate trade development and would be very useful to tourists. Each State would preserve for its internal trade its proper money which could retain its present form. The increase in the use of checks or of transfer for the settlement of accounts should be urged, however, in the interest of certain of the nations.

"This is what could be the great outline of such an institution which gives promise of great improvement. The secondary facts would adjust themselves.

"What relief, what redoubling of energy and confidence would such a solution insure to certain allied nations, knowing that they can cheerfully proceed to the reconstruction of their devastated territory and to the restoration of their trade, wihout being constantly haunted by the thought that they are paying more than within reason for materials and foodstuffs of prime necessity which they import. And this is precisely what may happen if the present conditions of exchange remain in force.

"The Entente nations will grasp the importance of this question, which will require a solution in one of their early economic sittings. After the trials of the present war they will owe each other mutual trust and mutual assistance. The trade development resulting therefrom for all will largely compensate those among them who will have made sacrifices and the social relations between these countries will develop in the most amicable and sincere manner.

"The friendly neutral nations could be invited to participate in this monetary agreement. It would be a great step toward the realization of the League of Nations."

DENIES MONOPOLY IN DYES.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 9.—Herbert Levinstein, managing director of the British Dyestuffs Corporation, formerly known as Messrs. Levinstein, when interviewed regarding the statement made in the United States Senate that his firm was concerned with an American firm in a world monopoly of dyestuffs, said today that, although the statement as reported from Washington was partly correct, it was somewhat garbled.

"It is well known that there is an agreement between the two companies named," he said, "bu the assertion that this is for the purpose of sharing a world monopoly of dyestuffs is merely a wild statement on the part of the Senator referred to. The agreement has as its object merely the interchange of information."

'STOP DEATH DANCE,' CREDIT MEN PLEAD

People Urged to End "Rampage of Extravagance" Before They "Have to Pay the Piper."

POINT WAY TO LOWER PRICES

In an appeal for thrift and industry, that currency deflation may be ended and prices gradually may recede, the National Association of Credit Men yesterday called upon the people of America to "cease their dance of industrial death before they have to pay the piper."

The appeal is embodied in a letter to members of the association by J. H. Tregoe, its Secretary, which describes the extravagance of the Nation since Armistice Day as "one of those psychological phenomena to which man is subjected," and continues:

"During the war period we sacrificed gladly, but with the cessation of hostilities the restrained feelings broke loose and we went on a rampage of extravagance such as never has been exhibited in this land.

Nation Fundamentally Sound.

"This nation is sound fundamentally, and this soundness will continue if people will give up their folly, will become diligent, will work as human beings should work during a time of stress and strain, and thus help to bring about a gradual deflation in currency so that prices may steadily recede and that we may eventually be brought to a condition of industrial and financial health.

"Thrift is, in our opinion, the expression of real patriotism in these days just as it was in the period of the war. The people whos pend recklessly are losing sight of the nation's traditions; indeed, they encourage the overthrow of our institutions which some low spirits we are harboring among us are secretly plotting to destroy.

"We should practice and preach constantly, declaring thta for ourselves we shall do our best to stop this insanity and bring to a close the melodrama of extravagance that is casting fear into the hearts of the people and producing results that are immoral and destructive.

"Just as we have expected—the big middle- class of our people with fixed income, that least organized portion of our citizens, is feeling seriously the grinding process of the upper and the nether millstones.

Middle Class Unable to Strike.

"Prices have reached a peak where this class is finding it difficult to live with even a moderate degree of comfort, yet its resentment and complaints cannot be expressed in strikes, though they are suffering under present economic stress more than any other class.

"Denim and calico, together with the lunch-box, make the most vivid way in which these people who largely make up the most substantial elements in our national life can express their feelings toward the grinding process. Those directly engaged in production, whether on the labor or capital side, must heed this complaint and do their level best to lower commodity prices. Princes can be lowered by economies practised all along the line if labor as well as capital will do its part.

"Watch the price! has been our warning for months. Here has been the chief danger point in our situation, and we welcome anything that will keep prices from soaring to a point from which violent reaction would inevitably bring on a sudden collapse in our structure. May this insurrection without physical force, but prompted by resentful hearts, help in the righting of things."

MEETINGS AND ELECTIONS.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT A Special Meeting of the Stockholders of the ADOLF PHILIPP FILM CORPORATION will be held at 11 East 14th Street, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on the 1st day of June, 1920, at 10 o'clock A. M.

(1) For the purpose of considering and voting upon a proposition to increase the number of shares into which the capital stock shall be divided, without increasing the amount of such capital stock, so that hereafter such capital stock shall be divided into forty thousand shares of the par value of $10 each; and

(2) To act upon a proposition to classify into common and preferred stock the capital stock of said company, amounting to $400,000, so that $300,000,000 thereof shal be common stock, and $100,000 thereof shall be preferred stock. Said preferred stock to be entitled to a preference and priority over the common stock as follows:

(a) That the owners of the preferred stock shall be entitled out of any surplus or net profits, whenever ascertained to receive cumulative dividends at the rate of and not exceeding eight per cent. (8%) per annum in the year beginning on the 1st day of June, 1920, and in each and every year thereafter, payable in quarterly installments, in preference and priority to any payment of any dividend on the common stock for such quarter.

(b) Upon any dissolution, liquidation or other distribution of the assets of the company, the owners of the preferred stock shall be entitled to be paid in full at par before any amount shall be paid to the owners of the common stock.

Dated, New York City, N. Y., May 7, 1920.

Livingston Petroleum Corporation

NEW YORK, May 6, 1920.

To the Stockholders of

LIVINGSTON OIL CORPORATION and LIVINGSTON REFINERS CORPORATION

Since the incorporation of your companies, opportunities have been presented for acquisition of additional leases, on attractive terms. Purchases of such leases and development of the business have resulted in the accumulation of a considerable floating debt.

Earnings, while gratifying, emphasize the advisability of securing additional capital to liquidate this floating debt and provide funds for aggressive development of your properties.

A plan has been arranged, in conjunction with Messrs. Hayden, Stone & Co., of New York, for permanently financing the floating debt, and for supplying working capital for future development.

All legal matters in connection with the new issue of shares have been supervised by Messrs. McAdoo, Cotton & Franklin, attorneys for the Corporation.

In accordance with this plan, Livingston Petroleum Corporation, of Delaware, has been formed, with an authorized capitalization of 1,000,000 shares, without par value, and has set aside certain shares for issuance in exchange for the shares of Livingston Oil Corporation and Livingston Refiners Corporation, on the following basis:

	Shares
For 3,000,000 shares outstanding Livingston Oil Corporation... (In the ratio of 1 for 10)	300,000	Livingston Petroleum Corporation
For 43,060 shares outstanding Livingston Refiners Cop. Pfd.... (In the ratio of 1 for 1)	43,060
For 10,890 shares outstanding Livingston Refiners Corp. Com.... (In the ratio of 1 for 2)	5,445
Total	348,505

Livingston Petroleum Corporation has already issued 30,010 shares for cash and the holders of a majority of the outstanding shares of Livingston Oil Corporation (of Delaware) have already deposited their holdings for exchange upon the above basis. As the Oil Corporation owns over 95% of the outstanding Common Stock of Livingston Refiners Corporation, the assent to the plan of the controlling interests, in both the Oil Corporation and the Refiners Corporation, is therefore assured.

Livingston Petroleum Corporation hereby offers to the remaining stockholders of Livingston Oil Corporation (of Delaware) and Livingston Refiners Corporation the right to exchange their shares on the same basis, and further offers to holders of the outstanding shares of Livingston Petroleum Corporation and to holders of the shares to be issued on such exchange, the right to subscribe on or before May 29, 1920, to additional shares of Livingston Petroleum Corporation, as follows:

1 additional share at $10
1 share of Livingston Petroleum at $10
1 share of Livingston Petroleum at $10
1 share of Livingston Petroleum at $10

The sale of 190,000 shares, approximately the number of shares offered, as stated above, has been underwritten by Messrs. Hayden, Stone & Co.

The above plan will provide Livingston Petroleum Corporation with funds to pay the entire outstanding floating indebtedness and in addition will provide approximately $600,000 in cash.

Upon completion of the above plan, assuming an exchange of the entire outstanding stock of Livingston Oil Corporation (of Delaware) and Livingston Refiners Corporation, Livingston Petroleum Corporation will have outstanding 568,515 shares.

Stock certificates should be forwarded to Guaranty Trust Company of New York, 140 Broadway, New York City, properly endorsed in blank, for transfer. Guaranty Trust Company will deliver the shares of Livingston Petroleum Corporation in exchange and will issue warrants entitling holders to subscribe before 12 o'clock noon on May 29, 1920, for shares of Livingston Petroleum Corporation, in accordance with the above plan. Scrip for fractional shares will be issued upon exchanges where necessary, but subscriptions for additional shares may be made only for whole shares, so that warrants evidencing a fractional subscription privilege should be adjusted by purchase or sale in the open market.

Payment on subscriptions must be made by certified check or bank draft drawn against New York funds and payable to the order of "Guaranty Trust Company of New York, for account of Livingston Petroleum Corporation."

Warrants evidencing the subscription privilege and all stock certificates representing shares of Livingston Petroleum Corporation will be issued in the respective names of registered holders of shares surrendered for exchange. Fractional warrants evidencing the subscription privilege as to fractional shares will be issued to bearer.

The right is reserved to make such further regulations regarding the consummation of the plan as may be deemed necessary by the Board of Directors of Livingston Petroleum Corporation.

Your officers and directors, believing the plan to be for the interests of all stockholders, have exchanged their own shares and strongly recommend to stockholders that they immediately exchange their shares iu accordance with the plan.

Your very truly,
By J. K. LIVINGSTON,
President.

The following report of the American Oil Engineering Corporation to Hayden, Stone & Co. is also presented for stockholders' information:

The oil producing properties afford a most attractive opportunity for further development; the unproven acreage is unusually well selected; the recently completed refinery will operate under very advantageous conditions. Pipe lines, storage facilities, tank cars and other equipment owned are adequate for present needs. The oil leases owned by the Corporation comprise approximately 30,000 acres in Oklahoma, Texas and Louisiana.

The Corporation's net share from 109 producing wells, after deducting royalties, is estimated at about 1,400 barrels daily. This estimate is based upon production observed by our representatives at the time of their recent inspection, when a number of wells were shut down for cleaning and repairs. This production, considering the fields in which it is located, is classed as settled, and can be substantially increased at moderate cost.

The principal producing properties include an approximate 5/6ths interest in 18 producing leases in Oklahoma, which embrace about 1,850 acres of land situated in the counties of Tulsa, Wagoner, Creek, Muskogee and Okmulgee, and on which there are 59 producing wells with settled production. A new pool has been opened in Wagoner County, extending the noted Stonebluff Field. Oil from this pool is of a superior grade and commands a substantial premium above the posted price of $3.50 per barrel. The Corporation's discovery well indicates the probability of a very prolific pool. In this section of Oklahoma, the Corporation owns considerable acreage.

The Corporation owns, in the Northwest Extension of the Burkburnett Field, interests in 182 acres of leases on which there are 50 producing wells. All of these wells have been producing for at least four months, and the majority were brought in during the summer and fall of 1919, and consequently may be considered as reasonably settled production for this district. These leases are better equipped and more efficiently operated than the majority of leases in this field. Most of the wells are electrically equipped and all the leases are interconnected with the Corporation's own pipe line system and served by their own telephone and telegraph lines. These properties have also been much less intensely drilled than the majority of the leases in this pool, and several of the properties still have good locations for additional wells in the centers of the tracts. Two additional wells are now being drilled in this field, which should prove good producers.

Two wells are being drilled in the recently discovered western extension of the Cushing Field, one well in the Walters Field, three wells in the Coweta Field, and one well in the Stonebluff Field—all in Oklahoma. These are all favorably located in territory considered proven.

The unproven acreage consists largely of leases in the close vicinity of drilling activities, and comprises well selected properties. Properties in Wagoner, Tulsa and Creek Counties, Oklahoma, all have an additional speculative value for sands at lower depths than the present producing strata. This probability has been recently demonstrated by tests in several nearby localities.

The Corporation owns, through its subsidiary the Livingston Refiners Corp., a refinery having a daily capacity of 3,000 barrels at Walters, Oklahoma, recently completed. It is of modern construction, well designed, and should prove economical. The refinery has the benefit of controlling a sufficient supply of crude, without the necessity of purchasing production in the open market from others than the partners of the Livingston Oil Corporation.

A 4-inch pipe line, owned by the Corporation, extends from the Burkburnett Field to the refinery at Walters, with pumping plant, and steel storage for over 150,000 barrels of oil, located at Walters and Devol, Okla., where the Corporation also owns loading racks. Other property owned by the Corporation includes: An absorption plant near Bixby, Okla., having a capacity of approximately 1,000 gallons of gasoline per day, which is operated on gas produced by the Corporation; 107 new tank cars; a total of approximately fifty miles of 4-inch pipe lines, including the Burkburnett-Walters line, above mentioned; an entire city block in Tulsa, Okla., on which is situated the main warehouse; warehouses at Wichita Falls, Walters and Devol; and an ample stock of tools, casing, automobiles, trucks and miscellaneous oil well supplies.

The leases are adequately equipped and well maintained, and the operating officials are experienced and competent.

The Corporation reports gross earnings for six months ended March 31, 1920, of $850,018. This does not include the refinery at Walters, recently completed and which should add substantially to present earnings.

The existing properties afford an unusually attractive opportunity for further development and if the Corporation is provided with working capital as contemplated under the plan for its refinancing, earnings should be very materially increased.

LUCK
IN ADVERTISING

There is no advertising genii that will bring success at the rubbing of the lamp.

The rabbit's foot and four-leaf clover have no place in the practice of successful advertising. "Luck" in advertising is the fruit of market-knowledge and selling skill combined with truth irresistibly presented.

Superficial brilliancy may have a passing fascination, but mature wisdom garnered in the fields of experience knows that an atom of fact is worth a mountain of fine-spun theory.

Advertising is, after all, the essence of common sense skilfully applied by masters in the science of selling.

Sinking Fund Purchase of INTERNATIONAL AGRICULTURAL CORPORATION

First Mortgage and Collateral Trust Gold Bonds.

Notice is hereby given that Bankers Trust Company, corporate Trustee under the First Mortgage of International Agricultural Corporation dated May 1, 1912, to Bankers Trust Company and Frank N. B. Close, as Trustees, securing the First Mortgage and Collateral Trust Five Per Cent. Twenty Year Sinking Fund Gold Bonds of said International Agricultural Corporation will purchase for the Sinking Fund bonds issued under said mortgage to an amount sufficient to exhaust as nearly as may be the sum of $325,389.52, now held by said corporate Trustee in said sinking fund, and said corporate Trustee hereby invites sealed offers to be submitted to it on or before 12 o'clock noon, May 13, 1920, at its Corporate Trust Department, 16 Wall Street, Manhattan, New York City, for the sale to it of such bonds, at prices to be named in such offers, which offers shall be for all or any part of the bonds so offered, provided, however, that no offers will be accepted which shall be for a sum in excess of one hundred and three per centum (103%) of the principal amount of such bonds, and accrued interest. Notice of acceptance of offers will be mailed on or before May 14, 1920, to the makers of such thereof as are accepted, at the addresses designated by them, respectively. Delivery of bonds accepted with all unmatured coupons attached should be made at the office of said corporate Trustee on or before 3 o'clock P. M., May 17, 1920, after which date interest on accepted bonds will cease. United States Treasury decisions require that Federal Income Tax ownership certificates for amount of accrued interest must accompany such bonds when presented for payment.

Dated at New York, this 4th day of May, 1920.

LABOR MINISTER IN OFFICE.

First in Spain's Cabinet Begins His Duties Today.

MADRID, May 8.—A large number of provincial officials and Captain Generals of the provinces paid official visits to the new Cabinet Ministers today.

Carlos Canal, Spain's first Minister of Labor, will take up his post officially on Monday. On the same day a royal decree will appear establishing the new Ministry. The decree will point out that Spanish laws with reference to labor are among the most complete of the kind in any country and will announce it as the Labor Minister's duties to see they are properly applied.

The Labor Minister will have an Under Secretary and will receive the same emolument as the other Cabinet Ministers.

Governmental reports on the strike situation in the various districts of Spain indicate there is tranquillity everywhere, with the strikers returning to the factories and fields. Normal conditions, the reports say, will soon be resumed in every part of the country.

The general strike at Valencia has been declared off, according to advices received here. The tie-up was so complete that troops had to be employed to transport coal to the gas works to maintain the lighting service.

A telegram from Murcia said that the bakers there had declared a general strike, beginning Monday, to continue until the strikers who were arrested at Valencia had been released.

"The Loveliest Cotton Frocks of the Season"

—That is the opinion of one of the foremost buyers of the country. Rosebud Frocks have an individuality of style, a beauty of fabric and a fine sense of color harmony very rare to find in a line priced as low as ours.

One of the advantages of buying at Rosebud is that our frocks and skirts look far more expensive than they are.

PLAN TO BREAK JAM IN TIMES SQUARE

UPTOWN VEHICLES TO EAST

Downtown Stream Sticks to West Side Between 44th and 39th Throughout Evening.

By confining uptown traffic to the east side of Times Square and downtown traffic to the west side, from 7:30 until 11:30 P. M., the Broadway Association hopes to solve the congestion at this point, which is now the most difficult of all parts of the city, both for vehicles and pedestrians, before and after theatre hours.

Under the plan of the Broadway Association, which has been submitted to Dr. John A. Harriss, Special Deputy Police Commissioner in charge of traffic, an automobile coming downtown on Broadway into Times Square would be required to stick to the west side, moving into Seventh Avenue at Forty-fourth Street and continuing down Seventh Avenue to West Fortieth Sttreet or West Thirty-ninth Street, which would be one-way streets by which they could turn back into Broadway. The Seventh Avenue side of Times Square would thus be a one-way street for southbound automobiles from Forty-fourth Street to Thirty-ninth Street.

Vehicles moving uptown on Broadway would be required to stick to the east side of Times Square, moving along Broadway to Forty-second Street and then along Seventh Avenue to Forty-eighth Street, which would be a one-way street by which they could turn back into Broadway. Broadway from Thirty-ninth to Forty-fourth and Seventh Avenue from Forty-fourth to Forty-eighth would thus be a continuous one-way street for uptown traffic only.

This plan to create two main streams of traffic in Times Square instead of four, as at present, is further supplemented by the proposal to make the cross streets one-way streets leading into Times Square from Sixth Avenue and Eighth Avenue from 7:30 to 9:30 while automobiles are carrying crowds to the theatres and make them one-way streets leading out of Times Square from 9:30 to 11:30, when the theatre crowds are being carried home. A statement of the Broadway Association further describing the plan says:

"The only exceptions to these rules would be at Forty-second Street and Seventh Avenue, where the street would be a two-way thoroughfare east and a one-way street between Seventh and Eighth Avenues confined to westbound traffic only. Also Thirty-ninth and Fortieth Streets would be one-way streets from Eighth Avenue east to Sixth Avenue confined to eastbound traffic only. This is done in order to take care of the enormous Metropolitan Opera House traffic.

"Major Opdycke would have signal stations, controlled by one man, to regulate crosstown and through traffic, similar to those that have proved so successful on Fifth Avenue.

"If this plan was adopted he contends that all people bound for theatres to the west of Broadway would turn naturally, without any delay to their destination, while those bound for theatres on the east side would simply edge to the easterly side of the thoroughfare and wait for the crosstown "clear traffic" signal.

"For vehicles coming north on Broadway and Seventh Avenue the process could be reversed, that is, all vehicles bound for theatres east of Broadway or Seventh Avenue could turn east on reaching the street their theatre was located on, without any delay, and those bound for theatres west of Broadway or Seventh Avenue could simply have to wait for the crosstown "clear traffic" signal.

"The careful control of the main Broadway traffic, interrupted only for the minimum time required to allow crosstown traffic to pass would go a long way toward relieving this nightly congestion of vehicles."

PASTOR DEFENDS NEW YORK.

Its the Best City, and the Worst, Says Rev. C. W. Petty.

Taking as his subject "Is New York a Modern Gomorrah?" the Rev. C. Wallace Petty, pastor of the Mount Morris Baptist Church, Fifth Avenue, near 127th Street, in his sermon yesterday morning declared that people were tired of hearing the ejaculations of a muck-raking prophet at a time when constructive leadership was needed.

"Is New York a modern Gomorrah? Yes. Is it the best city on earth? Yes. It all depends on the point of view," Mr. Petty said. "You can go among the demi-monde, the criminals and the vicious types and make the claim it is the worst city in the world. But if you visit the hospitals, institutions and thousands of homes you will find it the best. In fact, in this great cosmopolitan city you can find almost anything."

One method used by the critics of conditions in the city was to point out what they termed the insincerity of church members, he said. No man who did not understand New Yorkers had a right to censure, Mr. Petty declared. Alleging degeneracy of home life, he said, was a slander which needed no answer.

MARK HOME'S ANNIVERSARY.

Exercises Are Held at Hebrew Infants' Institution in Bronx.

The older children at the Home for Hebrew Infants, as well as their grown-up friends and benefactors, celebrated yesterday afternoon the founding of the institution by Mrs. Esther Wallenstein, twenty-five years ago. The home has grown from a small frame dwelling on Mott Avenue, where five infants were first cared for, to the four large buildings on five acres of ground at University Avenue and Kingsbridge Road, the Bronx, where the exercises were held.

Dr. George E. Vincent, President of the Rockefeller Foundation, said the home was doing more than caring for 400 children, as it was becoming a center for research, he declared, and has already attracted students from as far West as Minnesota.

Aaron E. Norman, President of the home, gave a résumé of its history and announced contributions amounting to $8,000 towards the paying-off of a $77,500 mortgage.

LUSK MEASURES CRITICISED.

Dr. Finley and Dean Robbins Discuss Americanism.

Dr. John H. Finley, State Commissioner of Education, spoke on Americanism at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine yesterday afternoon. Dr. Finley emphasized the need for paying high enough salaries to get the best talent in America for the instruction of immigrants and children. In referring to the State's attitude on educational matters, Dr. Finley spoke of the Lusk secret police and loyalty certificate laws which are now before the Governor awaiting his approval. He said that he did not care to do work better fitted to the duties of policemen.

Dean Robbins of the Cathedral likened the Lusk measures to the Russian secret police and said that nothing like them could be found in Anglo-Saxon history for the last hundred years.

HONOR 'GOLD STAR' MOTHERS

Central Park Commemoration Exercises Witnessed by 248.

Forty-eight "gold star" mothers, whose sons had died fighting in the Marine Corps in France, were the guests of honor at the Mothers' Day commemorative exercises yesterday afternoon at the Mall in Central Park. There were present also 200 other gold star mothers of sons who lost their lives in the service with other military units, but the mothers of the Marines were the special objects of attention.

Seats had been provided for 15,000 persons. All were occupied and other thousands of spectators stood throughout the ceremony, which included a concert by a Marine Corps band and community singing, led by Harry Barnhart.

A group of marines presented to each of the forty-eight gold star mothers a floral offering. Then twelve of the mothers planted a memorial tree. The forty-eight mothers of marines were taken in buses to the Astor for luncheon as the guests of Mrs. Noble McConnell, Chairman of the Mothers' Reception Committee.

In the evening Lieutenant H. W. Miller, in charge of marine recruiting here, and sixty marines, all traveling actors for the recruiting service, gave their performance in the Republic Theatre, under the auspices of S. Rankin Drew Post of the American Legion. In many of the churches Mothers' Day was observed by special services.

DEFIES GREEKS IN THRACE.

Turkish Commandant of Adrianople Challenges Them to Take Country.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 8 (Associated Press).—A large number of Bulgarians, as well as Turks, attended a big anti-Greek meeting held in Adrianople on May 5, advices from that city report. The meeting was addressed by Col. Jafar Tayar, the commandant at Adrianople, who declared that Thrace was Turkish and that the Turks challenged the Greeks to take it.

Col. Jafar Tayar addressed himself particularly to the Bulgarians, alluding to them as hereditary enemies of the Greeks, who would shed their blood to prevent Thrace from suffering the fate of Smyrna.

MUNICIPAL CARE OF TREES.

As Much a Function of Civic Control as Lighting, Says a Writer.

Simple and practical information with which the ideal of "the city beautiful" may be brought nearer realization is contained in a recently published bulletin, "Street Trees," prepared by a horticulturist of the United States Department of Agriculture. With very few exceptions, the bulletin points out, the tree growth of the streets of the average American town or city is ragged and unkempt.

That of the suburb or small village is not much better unless it has been under adequate municipal control, and the plantings on a given street have been confined to a single kind of a tree. Those modern necessities, the telephone, telegraph, electric light and trolley car, each have shared in the mutilation and destruction of good trees. Too few municipalities realize, however, that these modern facilities can be provided without impairing the beauty of shade trees, says the writer. One means of preventing injury is more general use of alleys for public utility wires. Faulty pruning has also caused much deformity.

Providing shade on city streets is as much a municipal function as providing lights on sidewalks, says the publication, and therefore should be undertaken by public officials. Negative control by requiring permits for planting, pruning and removal is a little better than no control. Probably the most satisfactory supervision is through an unpaid commission of three or five members—men who should be appointed to long terms, since it takes two to three years for a commissioner to realize the needs and scope of the work, according to the bulletin.

Even a good board charged with the care of street trees can accomplish little without liberal funds. These may be provided by appropriation from the general tax fund or direct assessment against the property owners, collectible with their taxes. In any event, the minimum appropriation provided should be sufficient to carry on properly the work already begun.

SEA HATCHERIES' OUTPUT.

Most Effective Work in 1919 Was with Flounders, Says Bureau.

Marine fish culture, conducted at the three New England stations—Boothbay Harbor, Me.; Gloucester, Mass., and Woods Hole, Mass.—was very successful during the year 1919, according to the United States Bureau of Fisheries. The most effective branch of this work is that addressed to the Winter flounder, a species that within a few years has assumed great commercial value in Massachusetts and is now rapidly growing in importance in Maine, giving employment to many persons and yielding good returns at a time when there is little else for a fisherman to do.

The bureau reports that at Boothbay Harbor egg collections from local waters, especially Linekins Bay, aggregated 1,326,408,000, from which 1,279,255,000 fry were hatched and planted, which is a very high percentage. At Gloucester, where the catch of gravid flounders was below the average for the past three years, 152,020,000 eggs were taken and 138,990,000 fry were obtained therefrom, the percentage of hatch being about 91.5. The flounder work at Woods Hole was the most extensive in the history of the station. Most of the eggs, aggregating 1,453,613,000, were obtained from Waquoit Bay fish, but other points in Vineyard Sound and Buzzards Bay yielded considerable numbers, while at a field station established at Wickford, R. I., on Narragansett Bay, 323,238,000 eggs were obtained and were sent to Woods Hole for incubation. The output was 1,098,130,000 fry and 137,816,000 eyed eggs which later had to be planted because of the crowded condition of the hatchery.

The hatching of eggs of the shore cod was on such a small scale as to be practically a failure at all stations. There was a fairly large collection of eggs for the Gloucester hatchery, but the low density of the water produced a heavy mortality among the eggs undergoing incubation and made undesirable the sending of other eggs which, to the number of several hundred million, were in consequence deposited on the spawning grounds. A force of spawn takers working among the Gloucester haddock and pollock fishermen took large numbers of eggs from fish that had been caught for market. Upward of 1,110,470,000 pollock eggs were collected and 702,250,000 fry were hatched and planted.

An experimental shipment of pollock eggs from Gloucester to Boothbay Harbor was intended to prepare the way for regular consignments on occasions when the Gloucester hatchery is overflowing. The pollock eggs, arranged on trays surrounded by snow and rockweed, and packed in a field shipping case, arrived in good conition after a twelve-hour railway trip and hatched with normal loss. Haddock eggs to the number of 332,740,000 were obtained; 127,190,000 of these had to be planted owing to the low density of the hatchery water, the remainder producing 120,400 000 fry.

The possibility of saving enormous numbers of eggs of marine fishes by placing spawn takers on fishing vessels was experimentally tested during 1919. These spawn takers were detailed to accompany fishing craft to Georges Bank, with instructions to take eggs from any ripe cod and haddock that might be caught, fertilize, measure, and plant them overboard. As a result of seven trips 73,200,000 haddock eggs and 58,950,000 cod eggs were thus treated. Two men made four trips on trawl-line vessels and took 32,600,000 haddock eggs and 26,280,000 cod eggs during forty-six days. One man spent thirty days on three trips on an otter trawler, and during that time obtained, fertilized and planted 40 000,000 haddock eggs and 32,570 000 cod eggs.

The value of work of this nature would seem to depend on the active co-operation of the fishing vessels, the bureau says, and asserts that if the operations are to be of a magnitude that will make them worth while, a man or several men on each fishing vessel should be assigned the task of fertilizing the eggs of the ripe fish brought aboard the vessel.

ACTIVE BUILDING ERA AWAITS CLEAR RAILS

GENERAL PRICE ADVANCES

Supply of Materials Now Seems Sole Bar to General Revival of Building Work Here.

Building material price advances have probably never been as general as those that appear in the New York current trade list when the market closed Saturday.

Items affected included Portland cement, which moved from $3.80 to $4.50 a barrel, delivered, with 25-cent instead of 15-cent bag rebates; plate glass, certain items in iron and structural steel, practically all the lists of lime items, finishing plaster, plaster blocks, which show a heavy advance over former prices, and some lumber items.

Hudson River common brick, which is temporarily in better supply here than at any time in half a year, remains at $25 a thousand, wholesale, dock, New York, with the usual additional charges for handling and hauling and 15 per cent.

The stocks are large because manufacturers sent in barges that their scanty supply of brickyard help has loaded in recent rainy weather, and it has lain here in the city without a market except for speculative purposes, because there has been no cement with which to lay them. In this department the brick barge Captains are now talking of striking for an advance in wages. There were rumors that ultimatums would be forthcoming some time this week.

In view of the already heavy charges for holding brick here and the extreme shortage of help on brick yards this year, once these barges unload and are returned to the up-river plants it is extremely unlikely that they can be promptly reloaded, no matter what the current market demand may be, because manufacturers are already using what men they have available to prepare the yards for brickmaking.

The best possible analysis of the current building market is obtained from the instructions going out to the trade from various associations and from other factors in the building industry. The current trade letter from The Standard Paint Company, as a fair example of the general tenor of instructions to salesmen, reads, in part, as follows:

"We have continually urged our customers not to obligate themselves to fill any orders unless they either had the goods on hand or knew that their order, in turn, had been accepted. We have consistently refused to accept orders from new accounts."

The National Association of Building Trades Employers communicate to their members this clause to go on all lump-sum contracts:

"The above proposition is based upon the cost of labor and materials as of this date. If increase or decrease in cost of labor or materials occurs on this work, the owner will be charged or credited for such increase over or under prices which existed at date of contract."

The recommendation also includes the provision that "any work done at any other time than the regular working day of eight hours the extra expense incurred by the contractor doing such work be added to the original sum stipulated in the contract."

Overtime work is condemned as detrimental to the best interests of the building industry, that all contractors combine to encourage young men to enter the building trades to make up for the present dearth of labor and further condemns the use of the word "minimum" in connection with the agreed wage scales in the building trades.

The next four weeks should show a marked change for the better in the entire building material and construction markets, if present indications count for anything, says The Dow Service Daily Building Reports today. Within that time the railroads expect to again have the rails cleared of stalled freight. Some roads are becoming cleared now.

The latest wage adjustments for the building trades give more solidity to promised peace in the entire local industry than has characterized this market in many years. This is especially assured by the provision that the wage scales may be reopened for adjustment in August, if the cost of living continues to advance.

Tightening of finance and the campaign against high retail prices by big merchants combine to give ground for the expectation that the index figures covering the cost of living have reached their highest point. If the trend is downward it will go a long way toward attracting labor to the building trades with the present wage schedules.

Further adjustments in the new building trades wage scales supplementing the trades announced last week as having received the voluntary $1 increase include the cement and concrete masons, who will receive $6.50 a day, portable hoisting engineers, who will receive $52.25 a week, engineers on combination machines $59.25 a week, engineers on steam rollers and foundation work $56, engineers on excavating work $48, and engineers on steam shovels and dredges $250 a month.

The question of demand and supply of building materials, therefore, now appears to be the last item to be met with in the long program of readjustment in the building industry. It is in this department, however, that the greatest problems are found. For example, the plate glass industry turns out approximately 100,000,000 feet of this material in a year. In normal times the building trades take 75,000,000 of it.

The remainder is taken up by furniture, showcase mirror, and automobile requirements. A clear idea is at once obtained regarding the extent of the disruption the automobile trade has made in the building industry when it is stated that the automobile trade alone has already contracted for 40,000,000 feet of plate glass and wants more.

The entire local building industry is patiently awaiting the lifting of freight embargoes, for the belief is growing that behind that heavy curtain is the promised building movement and another two to four weeks will mark the long expected change.

HENRY TRIAL BEGINS TODAY.

Case of Inspector Charged with Neglect of Duty May Take Weeks.

The trial of Inspector Dominick Henry, charged with neglect of duty in permitting seventy-three alleged disorderly places to be maintained in the Fourth Inspection District, is set for today before Judge Malone in General Sessions.

Inasmuch as James E. Smith, Assistant District Attorney, who is prosecuting the case, will attempt to prove that scores of disorderly places operated with Inspector Henry's knowledge, the trial is likely to last for weeks. The second trial of Augustus Drum Porter, former Third Deputy Police Commissioner, on the charge of neglect of duty, has been ordered to go on immediately after the conclusion of the Henry trial.

Opposes Draft in Peace Time.

The American Union Against Militarism is lining up opposition to the Army Reorganization bill, particularly with respect to Section 73, which, it contends, provides for putting the draft laws into effect whenever the President shall declare "a national emergency" to exist. Post cards sent out by the union ask members to write and wire their Congressmen and Senators to act to defeat the measure, which has passed the Senate.

The protesting statement bears the signatures of Oswald Garrison Villard, Chairman; Amos R. E. Pinchot, Vice Chairman, and Charles T. Hallinan, Secretary of the union.

OPPOSES ADVISING TENANTS

Real Estate Board's Secretary Criticises Assistant Corporation Counsel.

On behalf of the Real Estate Board of New York, Richard O. Chittick, its Secretary, in a statement yesterday, attacked Assistant Corporation Counsel James D. O'Sullivan for advice he is alleged to have given tenants applying to the Mayor's Committee on Rent Profiteering. The reported statement of Mr. O'Sullivan, according to Mr. Chittick, was:

"All a tenant need do is to notify the landlord in writing, give him a reasonable time to do the work—say five days—and then, if it is not done by him, have it done; get the bill and pay it, charge it to the landlord and deduct it from the next month's rent. The landlord must have notice of it—to tell the janitor is like keeping it to one's self."

"Such statements," said Mr. Chittick, "are apt to encourage the sort of behavior that leads to attempts at 'soviet government in tenements' which the Mayor has recently found it necessary to deprecate. They tend to aggravate a situation which those in authority should be striving to modify.

"They are particularly dangerous because they appeal to those not in a position to afford the luxury of law suits likely to result from acting on the free advice so given.

"The more well-to-do apartment dwellers will, of course, pay no attention to this advice. But the poorer classes might be misled by a pronouncement which, under the circumstances, they would be excused for believing to be authoritative as coming from a representative of the Legal Department of the city of New York.

"The indiscriminate ordering and executing of repairs, at the whim of the tenant, with the idea of lightly passing the expense over to the landlord by the simple process of deducting it from the rent, would bring many tenants into serious legal and financial trouble. This new form of indoor sport would undoubtedly be greatly overdone."

After stating that the Law Department of the city is intended to conduct the legal business of the city and advise the city officials, the statement continues:

"It is, however, getting to be the fashion for employes under the Corporation Counsel to devote a lot of their time to championing the cause of some of the citizens against others; and just now it is thought to be quite the thing to take sides with the tenant and to try to direct him how to get the better of the landlord.

"This may be spectacular and a means of keeping in the public eye. But it is an undignified abuse of authority, or rather a usurpation of authority, not contemplated by the Charter.

"The impropriety of this course on the part of his subordinates has been called to the attention of Corporation Counsel O'Brien and its continuance will be brought to the attention of the Mayor."

JOBS FOR FORMER SOLDIERS.

Several Thousand Disabled Men to be Employed in War Department.

Partially disabled ex-service men are to be chosen for several thousand civil positions in the War Department, according to an announcement made yesterday by the Service and Information Branch of the General Staff. Although the applicants are not exempt from Civil Service examinations, they will have the preference in appointment and will be required to maintain an average of only 65 in the examinations, while others must make at least 70.

The War Department, the Federal Board for Vocational Education and the Civil Service Commission will co-operate in the plan.

The following defects, according to a War Department statement, will not bar veterans from examination, but may prevent appointment to a particular position: Paralysis or epilepsy, not serious in degree; loss of both arms or both legs; loss of arm and leg; badly crippled or deformed hands, arms, feet or legs; locomotor ataxia, cancer, Bright's disease, diabetes, defective hearing.

BRONX HOSPITAL OPENED.

Exercises, Including Addresses and Music, Held on Grounds.

The Bronx Hospital, at 169th Street and Fulton Avenue, was formally opened with exercises on the hospital grounds yesterday afternoon. The speakers were George McAneny; Dr. John W. Brannan, President of the Bellevue Hospital; Dr. A. A. Berg, chief surgeon at Mount Sinai Hospital, and the Chairman, Samuel C. Lamport. Miss Cecil Arden of the Metropolitan Opera Company sang, and the Hebrew Orphan Asylum Band played "The Star-Spangled Banner."

Funds for the hospital were raised by subscription. It will accommodate 100 patients. The chief surgeons are Drs. Albert A. Berg and Martin Rehling, and the Superintendent is Dr. Emil Kuper. The hospital will be ready for use in about two weeks.

RECTORY FOR DR. STIRES.

Twentieth Anniversary Marked by New Home for Clergyman.

In celebration of the entrance of the Rev. Dr. Ernest M. Stires on the twentieth year of his rectorship of St. Thomas's Episcopal Church, Fifth Avenue and Fifty-third Street, the vestry will build a rectory on the site of the present building, 3 West Fifty-third Street, which adjoins the church.

The rectory will cost $100,000, and its front will match the stone of the church and parish house. It will be an American basement house, smaller than the old dwelling. The lot is 100 feet deep and 25 feet front. The work of razing the old rectory will begin today.

Luna Park Tickets to Aid Legion.

The city organization of the American Legion announced yesterday plans for financing the establishment of post clubhouses by the sale of Luna Park tickets for the period covered by May 15 to May 29. The tickets are furnished at cost by the park management. They will be sold for $1.10, 10 cents going for war tax, 50 cents to the Legion and 50 cents to the park. They are good for admission to the ten best shows in the park during the period covered.

ELBE, STRIKERS KEEP OUR FOOD FROM CZECHS

Thousands of Carloads of American Flour Held Up by Boatmen's Tieup.

BERLIN, May 9.—The strike of the boatmen on the River Elbe is holding up thousands of carloads of American flour for the Czechoslovak Government, and this is causing the food situation in the industrial region of South Bohemia to become acute, according to a dispatch from Prague, received today. The Government at Prague has opened negotiations with the strike leaders with a view to obtaining the release of the flour shipments, says the message, similar negotiations which had been conducted with Berlin having proved fruitless.

The Government of Saxony has caused the stalled craft within its territory to be guarded by Reichswehr.

At Breslau, strikers armed with rifles and grenades are holding the locks on the Oder, and traffic on that river also has ceased.

HAMBURG BANK ACTIVE.

Doubled Turnover in 1919 and Pays 10 Per Cent. Dividend.

The turnover of the North German Bank of Hamburg practically doubled in 1919, rising from 35,450,000,000 to 70,220,000,000 marks, according to a summary of its annual report found in the Frankfurter Zeitung of March 30. This enormous turnover is attributed to the intense activity displayed by the Hamburg business men in the work of revictualing the Fatherland and forwarding raw materials, as well as to the general advance in prices.

The bank's net profits totaled 6,814,631, against 7,280,574 in 1918, but by not adding anything to its 20,000,000-mark reserve, the interest rate was raised 2 per cent. to 10 per cent. on its capitalization of 60,000,000 marks. In referring to its foreign business the bank's report pointed out that the Brazilian Bank for Germany had received a new charter for ten years and was expected to do well, despite increased competition. The Bank for Chile and Germany was active again, following the lifting of the black list. The German-African Bank had been able to maintain its business during the war, but only time could tell what the future would mean to its activities.

MYERS SAYS 'NICKY' IS HIDING NEAR CITY

Attorney for Bonding Companies Confident Arnstein Will Be Caught Soon.

MORE FACTS LOOKED FOR

Gluck and "Big Ed" Furey Expected to Reveal Important Information About Carrigan.

Great hopes for the capture of "Nicky" Arnstein, in spite of the disappointment on scores of occasions in the past, were entertained yesterday by Saul S. Myers, lawyer for the Associated Bonding Companies, who has been engaged with Assistant District Attorney John T. Dooling in tracing bonds worth $2,500,000 alleged to have been stolen by Arnstein and his confederates.

"I think I know where Arnstein is, and it is only a question of time when we will get him," said Mr. Myers at the Hotel Knickerbocker yesterday. He said he had obtained important information regarding Arnstein and other big factors in the bond thefts. Arnstein, who has been reported at one time or another in nearly every State in the Union as well as in Canada, is now near New York, according to the lawyer. He is not expected to fulfill the promises to surrender, with which he has amused the police and District Attorney's office, but those who want him are encouraged to expect a raid on his hiding place and his arrest.

Mr. Myers said that he expected to get much more valuable information from Joseph Gluck, "Big Ed" Furey and others who are under indictment. Mr. Myers said that Furey was a "pal" of "Count" Carrigan, who is wanted almost as badly as "Nicky" himself. He said that James Keane, the detective now under arrest, would probably give information of much value after he had had time to think the matter over. Mr. Myers expressed the opinion that Keane knows more than he has told about the other missing bonds than those he spoke about in his examination Saturday night and Sunday morning.

Assistant District Attorney John T. Dooling said yesterday that the arrest of A. C. Acremont in Chicago with the bond thefts might prove important. He said that Ecremont might aid in clearing up the disposition of several hundred thousand dollars' worth of bonds still unaccounted for. Mr. Myers said that the immediate charge against Ecremont concerned the attempt to steal bonds of $125,000 from Michael Connolly in Montreal.

ECREMENT UNDER ARREST.

Says He Doesn't Know Arnstein, but Met Cohen.

CHICAGO, May 9.—A. C. Ecrement, said by the police to be wanted in New York in connection with the negotiating of some of the $2,500,000 securities alleged to have been stolen by "Nicky" Arnstein and "Nick" Cohen, was under arrest here today. Ecrement, who had been living here under the name of C. E. Arthur, also was said to be wanted in Montreal and Buffalo in connection with an alleged $125,000 wire tapping swindle.

William Carter of the Canadian police said he would return to Canada to learn if the Canadian authorities desired to ask extradition papers for Ecrement.

The man admitted his name was Ecrement, the police said, and that he was a friend of Philip Kastel, another man said to be wanted in the Arnstein case. Ecrement denied that he knew Arnstein, but was said to have identified a picture of Cohen as that of a man he met not long ago in Chicago.

Michael Connelly, a wealthy contractor of Montreal, was said to have lost $125,000 in a wire tapping scheme in which Ecrement was alleged to be involved. Ecrement said he had $10,000 on deposit in a Buffalo bank as evidence of his good faith in the affair.

Ecrement said he was the youngest member of the Canadian Parliament, and that after leaving Canada he went to New York. Here he declared he lost $60,000 in a stock plan to build a substitute for the Welland Canal.

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 9.—Arthur Ecrement, said to have been a former member of the Canadian Parliament, was arrested here in April, 1919, charged with participation in an alleged wire-tapping swindle through which Captain Michael Connelly of Montreal, said he lost $125,000. After a hearing in City Court, Ecrement was held for the Grand Jury, but no indictment was returned against him and he was released.

MONTREAL, May 9.—Arthur Ecrement, under arrest in Chicago, is a former member of the Canadian Parliament. He was arrested here in January, 1919, on a charge of conspiracy to rob, made by Michael Connelly, in connection with alleged racing frauds at pool rooms in Buffalo and other places. After much evidence had been taken, the trial was interrupted by a writ of prohibition granted on the ground that the alleged conspiracy having occurred in a foreign country, the case could not be tried in Canada. The Superior Court quashed the writ.

Ecrement is under bail of $10,000.

Campaign for Fund for Statue Pedestal Is Started at Fete.

Le Lyceum, a society of French women in New York City, celebrated the coming canonization of Joan of Arc with a fete and a program of tableaux and music at the Waldorf yesterday afternoon. A campaign was started to raise funds for the pedestal of the statue of Joan of Arc to be erected in Washington.

The statue, which is now in course of construction in the Paris Ateliers of the ministry of Beaux Arts, is a duplicate of Paul Dubois's "Jeanne d'Arc," an equestrian figure which stands before the ruins of Rheims Cathedral and was untouched throughout the war.

Threaten Strike for Profit-Sharing.

GENEVA, May 7.—Miners in the Zwickau district, in Saxony, threaten a strike, according to a Dresden dispatch, to enforce their demands for a six-hour day, free coal, medical attendance, a percentage of the profits and the construction of homes to be rented at low prices.

The word Ostermoor

It isn't in the dictionary—but it might well be. Everybody knows the word. For as long as many people can remember it has meant a better-made mattress that gives lasting service and the maximum of sleep comfort.

If you've never slept on an Ostermoor, you can't realize what a difference there can be in degrees of mattress comfort.

If you need a new mattress—if your present mattress is lumpy and sags—if you feel you deserve the best sleep you can get, then try an Ostermoor.

Ostermoor comfort is BUILT in—not stuffed in. Pure Ostermoor sheets hand-laid in a tailor-made tick.

See the Ostermoor quality for yourself at our big showrooms. Or send a postal for samples of our ticking, and free catalog, "The Test of Time."

TWENTY-THREE CITIES DOUBLE POPULATION

Census Returns Show Gains Ranging Up to 712.5 Per Cent. in Decade.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—Eight cities of 25,000 or more population, out of more than sixty whose census for 1920 thus far has been announced, have more than doubled their population within the last ten years. Two have shown a decrease. Kenmore, Ohio, a city of 12,683, has shown an increase of 712.5 per cent.; Dormont, Pa., a city of 6,455, increased 478.9 per cent., while of the cities having 25,000 or more population Gary, Ind., has shown 229.4 per cent.

Akron, Ohio, is the largest city which has more than doubled in population, its rapid growth of 201.8 per cent. to a population of 208,435 changing its rank from eighty-first city of the country in 1910 to a position probably between thirtieth and fortieth rank. It has passed Syracuse, N. Y.; Memphis, Tenn.; Dayton, Ohio; Nashville, Tenn.; Albany, N. Y., and Kansas City, Kan., cities having more than 100,000, as well as several smaller cities ranking above it in 1910.

Cities of 25,000 or more in 1920 which have more than doubled their population during the last decade, arranged in their percentage of growth, are:

City.	Population.	Inc., P. C.
Gary, Ind.	55,344	229.4
Cicero, Ill.	44,905	200.1
Akron, Ohio	208,435	201.8
Warren, Ohio	27,050	144.1
Flint, Mich.	91,599	137.6
Knoxville, Tenn.	77,818	114.1
Winston-Salem, N. C.	48,395	113.2
Oak Park, Ill.	39,830	104.8
Cities of 10,000 to 25,000 Population.
Kenmore, Ohio	12,683	712.5
Eldorado, Kan.	10,995	251.4
Venice, Cal.	10,385	233.0
Port Arthur, Texas	22,251	190.4
Richmond, Cal.	16,853	147.6
Gastonia, N. C.	12,871	123.5
Cities Under 10,000 Population.
Dormont, Pa.	6,455	478.9
Muskegon Heights, Mich.	9,514	463.0
Scotts Bluff, Neb.	6,912	295.9
Bremerton, Wash.	8,918	198.0
Alma, Mich.	7,542	173.6
Brighton, Ala.	3,665	144.0
Chico, Cal.	8,722	132.6
Winnetka, Ill.	6,694	111.3
Idabel, Okla.	3,067	105.4

The two cities of 25,000 population which have shown decreases are Newport, Ky., with a decline of 3.3 per cent. to 29,317, and Kingston, N. Y., with a decline of 0.1 per cent. to 25,884. Thirty other places have shown decreases ranging up to 24.2 per cent., shown by Stillwater, Minn.

BRITAIN'S H. C. L. INDEX.

Percentages of Increase in Five Groups Are Accurately Figured.

In explaining the calculations by which its cost of living index is reached, the British Ministry of Labor considers five main groups. These are food, rent, clothing, fuel and lights, and "other items." The relative importance of the various groups is worked out on the average expenditure shown in 1,944 urban working class family budgets collected by the Board of Trade in 1904. Their "weight" in determining the cost of living as a whole is as follows: Food, 7½; rent, including taxes, 2; clothing, 1½; fuel and light, 1; other items included, one-half.

The foodstuffs included are beef, mutton, bacon, fish, flour, bread, potatoes, tea, sugar, milk, butter, margarine, cheese and eggs. These normally account for three-fourths of the entire family expenditure on food in the United Kingdom. Six hundred and thirty towns and villages in the United Kingdom are reported from, the sources of information being principally multiple stores, provision retailers and co-operative shops in industrial communities. Separate tabulations for towns having a population over 50,000 are made, and the average price of each article is arrived at separately for large and small towns. The final calculation is made as a percentage increase in the price of each article, as indicating the average price on the current figures in relation to the pre-war average. The percentage for the United Kingdom as a whole is obtained by taking the arithmetical mean between the large and small towns.

The compilation of statistics relating to rent contemplates information receive at stated intervals from the town clerks of 100 of the principal towns and is based upon rentals on unfurnished houses of the character habitually rented to wage-earning families.

Average increases in the price of clothing are ascertained by computing a separate percentage increase for each quotation, supplied by representative outfitters, drapers, and boot sellers in all the large towns of Great Britain, to tabulate these percentages by articles, and take the simple arithmetical average. The resulting figures are combined into groups of similar kinds of articles, by averaging, and these group figures are then averaged to give the general figure for clothing.

Statements from correspondents in thirty of the principal towns for coal and twenty-six for gas, supplemented by occasional reports from other sources, are used to get fuel and light statistics. In the list of "other items" are included such things as soap and soda, hardware, brushware and pottery, tobacco and cigarettes, fares and newspapers.

In order to arrive at a single figure representing the cost of living index or increase since July, 1914, the average percentage increase under each of the main groups of expenditure is multiplied by its relative "weight," the results are added together, and the total is divided by 12½, which is the sum of the multipliers or "weights." The effect is to obtain the average percentage increase in the cost of maintaining the pre-war standard of living. With the necessary amendments this system is adaptable to sliding-scale manipulation for adjusting wages to the cost of living in lesser political groups, municipal departments, and large industrial undertakings.

Easy Come—Easy Go!

How to guard the money you leave against the "Easy Go" Fate

"Experience teaches that a large number of beneficiaries, after death claims are paid in lump, are cheated out of their money, lose it by unfortunate investments or are tempted to spend it faster than they can afford. These temptations and calamities are real and wreck countless lives."

To prevent a similar fate for the money you leave, we bring to your attention

for safeguarding the money you leave

The plan is as follows: It can, if you wish, be made operative during your life.

1. A Columbia Trust Fund is simply money set aside under the protection of the Columbia Trust Company and invested to provide periodical income for definite objects.
2. All investments of Columbia Trust Funds are made under the special supervision of the permanent Investment Committee appointed by our Board of Directors.
3. Life insurance or any other money may be used to form the Trust Fund. We are bound by written agreement to carry out your wishes definitely and absolutely.
4. We will make investments of the Trust Fund for you in such securities as are lawful for Trustees, or, if you prefer, you can give us definite instructions to follow.
5. Income from the Trust Fund will be paid in installments to whom you wish and when you wish and in the amount you wish.

The fees for such service are moderate and fixed by law.

The following officers will welcome the opportunity to give you further details—without obligation, of course. At our downtown office, Mr. Warren, Vice-President, or Mr. Judd, Trust Officer. At our Fifth Avenue office, Mr. Dunn, Vice-President. At our Bronx office, Mr. Berry, Manager. At our Harlem office, Mr. Baker, Manager.
